FOREWORD

Ray Greene Huling began at an early age to collect genealogical data about his ancestral lines, including Huling. By 1878 he was writing to many who bore the Huling name. In a letter written 13 February 1878 to Edmund James Huling, of Saratoga Springs, New York, he indicated that he had traced back only to Alexander Huling, speculating that Alexander might have come from Holland or Germany. By May of that year the two men were discussing the publication of a Huling genealogy. Ray Greene wrote, "How nearly ready my material will be ... I cannot tell, but many gaps exist now," and he suggested a small pamphlet before publishing "an extended volume, to cost say $5.—, containing biographical sketches, engravings of prominent Hulings, copies of early documents relating to them and also genealogical lists." He named the six points he wanted about each person and added, "The same six points about each child would then be needed. The children of female members of the family must I suppose be omitted from the genealogical list, but are of great service in getting information about ancestors and would be mentioned, if of special prominence, in a foot note."

Ray Greene Huling wrote on 24 March 1879 to Bruce Huling, of Ohio, "Concerning records: those in Rhode Island were partially destroyed by fire in 1870. I had previously copied all that related to our name." It was not until 1884 that he discovered the grave of "James Huling Sen^{r}" at Newport and information about his other sons. A letter of 11 April 1894 reads: "But I cannot trace our family beyond 1680 when our ancestor James and his son John were taxed in Newport."

Edmund James Huling in 1889 published a booklet "Edmund James Huling, His Ancestors and Descendants." His interest in the subject was passed on to his daughters Maria and Carrie. The latter, Caroline Alden Huling, gathered material on the later generations of this branch and encouraged others to look for Huling data. Her papers were bequeathed to her grand-nephew, E. Huling Woodworth, who was both second cousin and husband of the compiler, who is herself a grand-niece of Caroline A. Huling. E. H. Woodworth, busy with his accumulating of Alden descendants, left it to his wife to work on the Huling family. From these beginnings, forty years of labor has expanded the scope of the genealogy to try to include all descendants of James Huling through the fifth generation and all those bearing the Huling name to date.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book was made possible by the labor of the people named in the dedication and was made much better by the several persons whom we gratefully acknowledge here.

Ray Greene Huling III graciously let me see and copy from the several surviving notebooks of his grandfather. These contained some information copied from town records and much unrecorded data which was given to Ray Greene Huling by his contemporaries and would have been lost but for his notes.

Mary Eliza (Kenyon) Huling (Mrs. Edwin W.), of North Kingstown, a Huling descendant herself, copied many Rhode Island records, collected clippings, and recorded other information. Mrs. Huling loaned me her Huling scrapbooks, which were the foundation for my research of the later generations in Rhode Island.

Mrs. Myrtle Stevens Hyde did specific research at Salt Lake City and found the baptism of James Huling in Suffolk County, England. Mr. Brian Frith, F.S.G., researched in Gloucestershire, and Mrs. M. E. Allen, M.A., did exhaustive research in Suffolk County.

Miss Violet E. Kettelle, not a Huling descendant but one interested in East Greenwich, R.I., history and families, generously read the first five generations, added material, and made suggestions.

Theodora (Kaufholz) Huling (Mrs. Francis S.), of Cleveland, Ohio, kept in touch with many descendants of Walton[4] Hulin[g] and compiled information on this branch.

Special thanks go to the several persons who compiled data on their own lines and beyond and cordially sent it to me. They include: A. Clyde Young, Tulsa, Oklahoma, on the descendants of Edwin Seymour[6] Hulin; Mrs. Amey M. (Huling) Latimer (Mrs. Harold L.), of Warwick, R.I., of Christopher Brown Harris[7] Huling; Beulah (Orchard) (Lackner) Bell (Mrs. J. C.), of Houston, Texas, of Samuel Spink[7] Huling; Edward Eleazer Huling, Jr. of San Antonio, Texas, for Eleazer Slocum[7] Huling; Floyd Dean Huling, of Dodge City, Iowa, from John Byron[7] Huling; C. Wayne Huling, Forks, Washington, for George Washington[7] Huling; and Patricia J. (Hutchinson) Huling (Mrs. Kenneth J.), for descendants of Aldrich J.[8] Huling.

Information has also been contributed by the late Cora (Talcott) Huling (Mrs. Bruce Wyckoff), Grayce (Harper) Alsterda (Mrs. John R.), John D. Austin, Jr., Herbert P. Fullerton, Edward Alan Huling, Rev. Orville E. Huling, Jerry Mattison, Mary Rice (Mrs. Chester A.), Miss Jean Rumsey, Ruth Wilder Sherman (Mrs. Robert M.), Edwin C. Whitford, and the late Cyrus Huling Woodbury.

Edward Alan Huling and Avery Mack Henderson provided help with the photographs used in the book, and David W. Dumas supplied the rubbing of the gravestone of Alexander Huling.

Thanks goes to scores of librarians, town clerks, and their assistants who have facilitated my research. Particular mention should be made of the Rhode Island Historical Society Library and the town offices of North Kingstown, East Greenwich, and Exeter, R.I. I am grateful to all of the following for their help: the DAR Library, Washington, D.C., Clemson University Library, North Kingstown Free Library, East Greenwich Public Library, Mrs. Dorothy B. Alsdorf, Town Historian of Milton, N.Y., Mrs. Michael E. Sweeney, City Historian of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Virginia M. Barons, County Historian of Genesee County, N.Y., the Newport Historical Society, Newport, R.I., Onondaga Historical Society and Onondaga County Library, Syracuse, N.Y., the Montgomery County Department of History and Archives, Fonda, N.Y., Rundell Library, Rochester, N.Y., the Adriance Library, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., the Newburgh, N.Y. Library, Saratoga Springs Public Library, Ballston Spa Historical Society, New York State Library and Archives, Connecticut State Library, and to the Atlanta, Georgia Federal Records Office for censuses.

Finally, my thanks to Jane Fletcher Fiske, who went beyond her editorial duties and with whom through our association a warm friendship has developed.

EXPLANATION OF NUMBERING SYSTEM

A number has been assigned to each person known to have had children who has been carried forward. An individual's number appears in three places: (1) in front of his or her name in the list of children on the parent's page, and (2) in bold face, in front of his or her own write-up. It is shown again, (3) in brackets following the name, when that same person is listed as parent of his or her own children.

Individuals not known to have had children have not been carried forward, and are listed only with roman numerals on the page of the parent. When referred to elsewhere in the text, they are given the number of the parent with a dash followed by the roman numeral.

The number in superscript following a name indicates the generation from James and Margaret Huling. For those bearing the Huling name, the number follows the given name; for those who do not, it is placed at the end of the surname.

PROBABLE ENGLISH BACKGROUND OF JAMES HULING

Although at this writing positive proof has not been found, it seems a strong probability that James Huling, founder of the Huling family in Rhode Island, was the child of that name baptized 25 September 1636 at St. Nicholas Church, Ipswich, County Suffolk, England, son of James Hewling and his wife Susan Pettaugh who were married there 8 February 1634/5. No other possible James Huling has been discovered in English records, and the Ipswich location is particularly consistent with the fact that James of Rhode Island was a mariner. When the latter died, 6 March 1686/7, his gravestone was inscribed that he was aged 52 years. James of Ipswich, if baptized at the usual age of a few days to a week, would at that date have been only about halfway through his 52nd year. This is a pretty close match, however, especially when one takes into consideration that death records of all kinds frequently confuse the year of age completed with that in progress at time of death.

A search by Mrs. Marion E. Allen, Suffolk County researcher, in the records of Ipswich and surrounding parishes has revealed no burial record for the James born in 1636. No marriage record for him has been found, but he may have married in one of the two Ipswich parishes whose registers have not survived for the period concerned. Moreover, since he was a mariner, his marriage may have occurred some distance from his place of birth.

There was a Hewling family in Ipswich as early as 1549, when Ann Hewling, daughter of John, was baptized in the parish of St. Mary Tower. It was probably another child in the family of John Hewling, older than Ann, who was the John Huling who had sons Robert, baptized 1564 at St. Lawrence, Ipswich, and Francis, baptized 1565 at St. Nicholas. From that time on there are records of the name in several Ipswich parishes, and it seems likely that the Hulings having children in the next generation also belonged to the family of the older John Hewling.

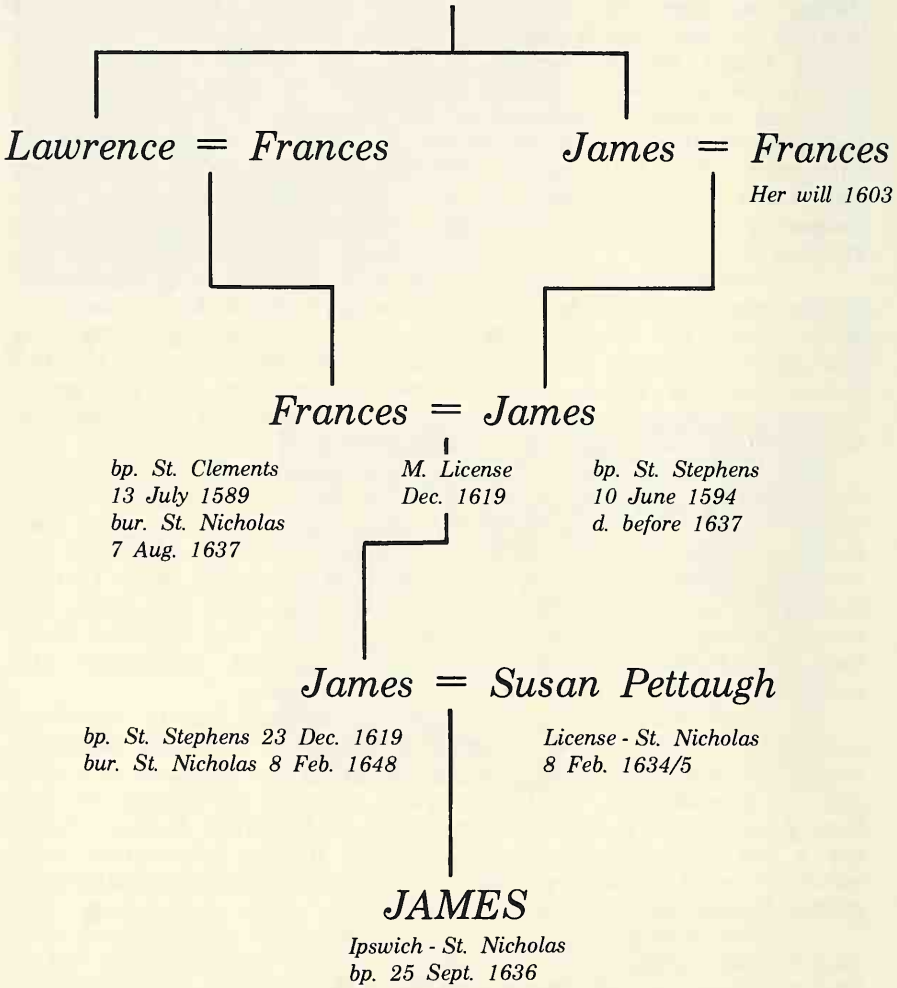
Ipswich Borough Records, in the Suffolk County Archives, show that one Robert Houlie was taxed in 1580 on a house, warehouse, and quay in the parish of St. Mary Quay, in the dock area of Ipswich. A tax list of 1583 includes the names of John Huling senior and junior, Thomas Hullen, and William Hullen. There are a few probate records which provide further information. The name is found in several variations, including Hewling, Hewlinge, Hullin, Huling, and Houlie.

James Huling baptized in 1636 was the grandson of first cousins and therefore had two Huling lines, which are given below. On the basis of the research done in Suffolk, it is possible to arrange tentative family groupings. Available records are sparse, however, and some omissions and errors in the following account are likely. Direct ancestors of James are shown in bold face print.

John Hewlinge

Hullin, Hulin, Hewling,

Hullen and Huling



JOHN HEWLING or HULING was probably the John Huling senior taxed 4 shillings in the parish of St. Stephens, Ipswich, in 1583 (Ipswich Borough Records, Suffolk County Archives). He was probably father of the following children:

i. JOHN, b. ca. 1543; taxed, as John Huling junior, for 4s in the parish of St. Mary Quay in 1583 (ibid.). He was probably the John Huling who had Robert, bapt. 18 Sept. 1564, St. Lawrence, and Francis, bapt. 17 Dec. 1565, St. Nicholas.

ii. ANNE, bapt. ("dau. John Hewling") 9 May 1549 at St. Mary Tower, Ipswich.

\+ iii. LAWRENCE; m. Frances ———.

\+ iv. JAMES; m. Frances ———.

v. THOMAS, perhaps the Thomas Hullen taxed 2s in 1583 in the parish of St. Peter; m. at St. Clement's, Ipswich, 23 May 1592, Anne Bailie, who was buried at St. Nicholas, Ipswich, 26 Dec. 1621. Thomas was named as kinsman in the 1603 will of Frances Huling, widow of James, who left to him a "rowseband of cambrigg" and to his wife Ann a felt hat lined with velvet (see below). Thomas and Anne had children, baptized at St. Clement's, Ipswich:
Thomas, bapt. 25 Feb. 1594; buried 21 May 1594.
Thomas, bapt. 2 Aug. 1595.
Isabella, bapt. 7 June 1601.

vi. WILLIAM; called William Hullen when he m. at St. Clements, Ipswich, 13 Sept. 1574, Margaret Peace. William evidently d. before 13 Feb. 1586/7 when Margaret married, second, Matthew Wind, at St. Clements. William had children, baptized St. Clements, Ipswich:
Margaret, bapt. 25 Aug. 1575; d.y.
William, bapt. 18 Feb. 1581/2.
Matthew (twin), bapt. 7 Feb. 1584/5.
Margaret (twin), bapt. 7 Feb. 1584/5.

LAWRENCE HEWLINGE, probable son of John, baptism not found, evidently married, ca. 1573, FRANCES ———. He was named as kinsman Lawrence Huling in the 1603 will of Frances Hulinge, widow of [?his brother] James, who left to him a "rowseband of cambrigg" and to his wife "my best apron" (see below).

Children:

i. THOMASINE, bapt. 4 Aug. 1574, St. Mary Quay, Ipswich.

ii. JAMES, bapt. 4 Sept. 1586, St. Nicholas, Ipswich.

\+ iii. FRANCES, bapt. 13 July 1589, St. Clements, Ipswich; m. her cousin, James Huling, son of James and Frances.

iv. THOMAS, bapt. 2 Feb. 1592, St. Clements, buried there 3 June 1592.

v. WILLIAM, bapt. 18 Nov. 1593, St. Clements.

vi. ROBERT, bapt. 2 Oct. 1597, St. Clements.

vii. EDWARD, bapt. 19 Jan. 1605/6 at St. Stephens, Ipswich.

JAMES HULING, probable son of John, baptism not found, died before 1603, when his widow, FRANCES, made her will.

Frances Hulinge of Ipswich, widow, in her will dated 1603 left to her son John her "best bedstead now being in my house in Brook Street ... also feather bed, bolster, coverlet or blanket being upon the bedstead in the chamber where I now do lie ... also two pairs of the best sheets, feather pillows and pillow cases ... two dozen table napkins ... And the ring which was his father's.... to son James, the other bedstead in Brook Street, a feather bed, bolster, coverlet and blanket ... two pairs of sheets, feather pillows and pillow case ... two dozen table napkins, and a ring of gold....

"... to daughter Frances, a new posted bedstead, feather bed, feather bolster, woollen coverlet, blanket, pillow and pillowcase, two pair of best sheets, two dozen table napkins, half the linen and clothes, half the bed and child-christening linen and a gold ring....

"... to servant Margaret, a linen coiffe and a piece of linen called a quartler.

"... to widow Fayth Booth, a green petticoat ... to kinsman Thomas Hulinge's wife Ann, a felt hat lined with velvet, and to kinsman Thomas Huling, a rowseband of cambrigg ... to kinsman Lawrence Huling, a rowseband of cambrigg, and to his wife my best apron ... to Alice Bobbet, two pewter dishes and a pair of sheets."

The rest of the estate was to be sold and the money to go to son James. The children were to receive their inheritances when they reached the age of twenty-one. (MS, Suffolk Co. Archives Ref. 1C/AA1/39/24).

Children:

+ i. JAMES, bapt. 10 June 1594, St. Stephens; m. his cousin Frances Huling.

ii. FRANCES.

iii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 5 May 1596 St. Stephens; d. before 1603.

iv. JOHN, bapt. 25 June 1591, St. Stephens; m. there, 6 Aug. 1610, Abigail Watkyn. He was probably the John Huling, joiner, who made his will 8 Jan. 1648, leaving to his wife all stock and moveables for her lifetime, and to his son John half the working tools, 40 shillings worth of timber, a small silver cup, three silver spoons, a mortar, and a feather bed. To his son Samuel he left the other half of the working tools, eight silver spoons, a mortar and a feather bed, and to daughter Abigail the best tapestry coverlet, best silver cup, three silver spoons, and a gold ring.

An Abigail Hulling, widow, of Ipswich left a will dated 21 July 1675 naming sons John and Samuel, but there are inconsistencies which make it difficult to believe that she was Abigail (Watkyn) Huling. Nevertheless, since it names numerous individuals and may tie into this family in some way, the will is abstracted here in the hope that future research may resolve some of the questions concerned.

To son John she left a messuage in St. Stephens, which if he had no heirs was to go to second son Samuel after John's death. (Note below that a John Huling who may have been son of John and Abigail [Watkyn] Huling had died twenty years earlier, leaving children.) Abigail also left to John six silver spoons marked with J H, a Danske chest in his chamber, a chest of drawers with the box standing upon it, "in the room where I now lie," the great chair and settle in the same room, three pair of best sheets, one pillow and pillow case, bed and bedstead curtains, valens, rug, blanket, six towels, six napkins, and two bedcloths. The executor was to pay £100 to the will's supervisor within one month of the testator's death, to be invested and interest to be paid quarterly to son John, and on his death to his son if he had one. If he had no heirs, the interest was to be paid to son Samuel. If John married, he was to receive £20 of the capital on his marriage, leaving £80 to continue at interest.

To son Samuel she left a messuage purchased from William Doggett of London, now in her possession, in the parish of St. Mary le Tower, to go to his heirs and if he had none, to his brother John. If both sons should die without heirs, the lands were to go to her kinswoman Hart, wife of Robert Hart, and to the three daughters of Susan Browne, late Hart, and to kinswoman Mary Elliott. Son Samuel was to be executor and to have all goods and chattels not otherwise bequeathed. John Camplin was to be supervisor and to have 10 shillings a year paid by her son John, and also one pair of best gloves. Abigail also left a pair of best gloves to her kinsman Robert. (Suffolk Record Office, Ipswich, Ref. 1C/AA1/108/111).

John and Abigail had children, (baptisms, except Elizabeth, and burials at St. Stephens, Ipswich):

1. Margaret, bapt. 7 July 1611; buried 27 Dec. 1612.
2. Abigail, bapt. 7 Oct. 1612; buried 8 Dec. 1613.
3. John, bapt. 13 Oct. 1614, d. ca. 1655. He appears to have had three wives: Susan, Sarah, and Elizabeth; the last survived him and m. 2 Feb. 1656 James Clarke. Children:: Robert, 1642; Thomas, 1647; John, 1654.
4. Thomas, bapt. 23 Feb. 1616/7; buried 20 July 1617.
5. Elizabeth, bapt. 14 Sept. 1619 St. Laurence; buried 4 May 1623 St. Stephens.
6. William, bapt. 17 April 1623.
7. Samuel, bapt. 5 Jan. 1625.
8. Abigail, mentioned in father's will 1648.

JAMES HULING, son of James Hewling and his wife Frances, was baptized 10 June 1594 at Ipswich St. Stephens, and died before August 1637. A marriage license was obtained in December 1619 for him to marry his first cousin, FRANCES HULING, daughter of Lawrence and Frances Huling, who was baptized 13 July 1589 at St. Clements, Ipswich. It was stated that both were of Levington, (a parish just down river from Ipswich), where the wedding was to take place 11 December 1619. There is no record of it in the Levington registers, however, nor has it been found in Ipswich registers or those of nearby parishes.

In 17th Century England, a marriage between first cousins was considered incestuous, and the baptismal record of James' and Frances' son James describes him as a "base and incestuous son." There is no indication that they had any more children. Frances, widow of James Hullin, was buried 7 August 1637 at St. Nicholas.

Child:

i. JAMES, bapt. 23 Dec. 1619 at Ipswich St. Stephens; m. Susan Pettaugh.

JAMES HULLIN, son of James and Frances Hullin, and described as a "base and incestuous son," was baptized 23 December 1619 in the parish of St. Stephens, Ipswich, and was buried in the parish of St. Nicholas 8 February 1648.

James Hewling married at St. Nicholas, Ipswich, 8 February 1635[/6], SUSAN PETTAUGH of that parish. The marriage was by license, indicating that one or both were under age. James was described as not of St. Nicholas by birth, but both he and Susan were resident there at the time of marriage.

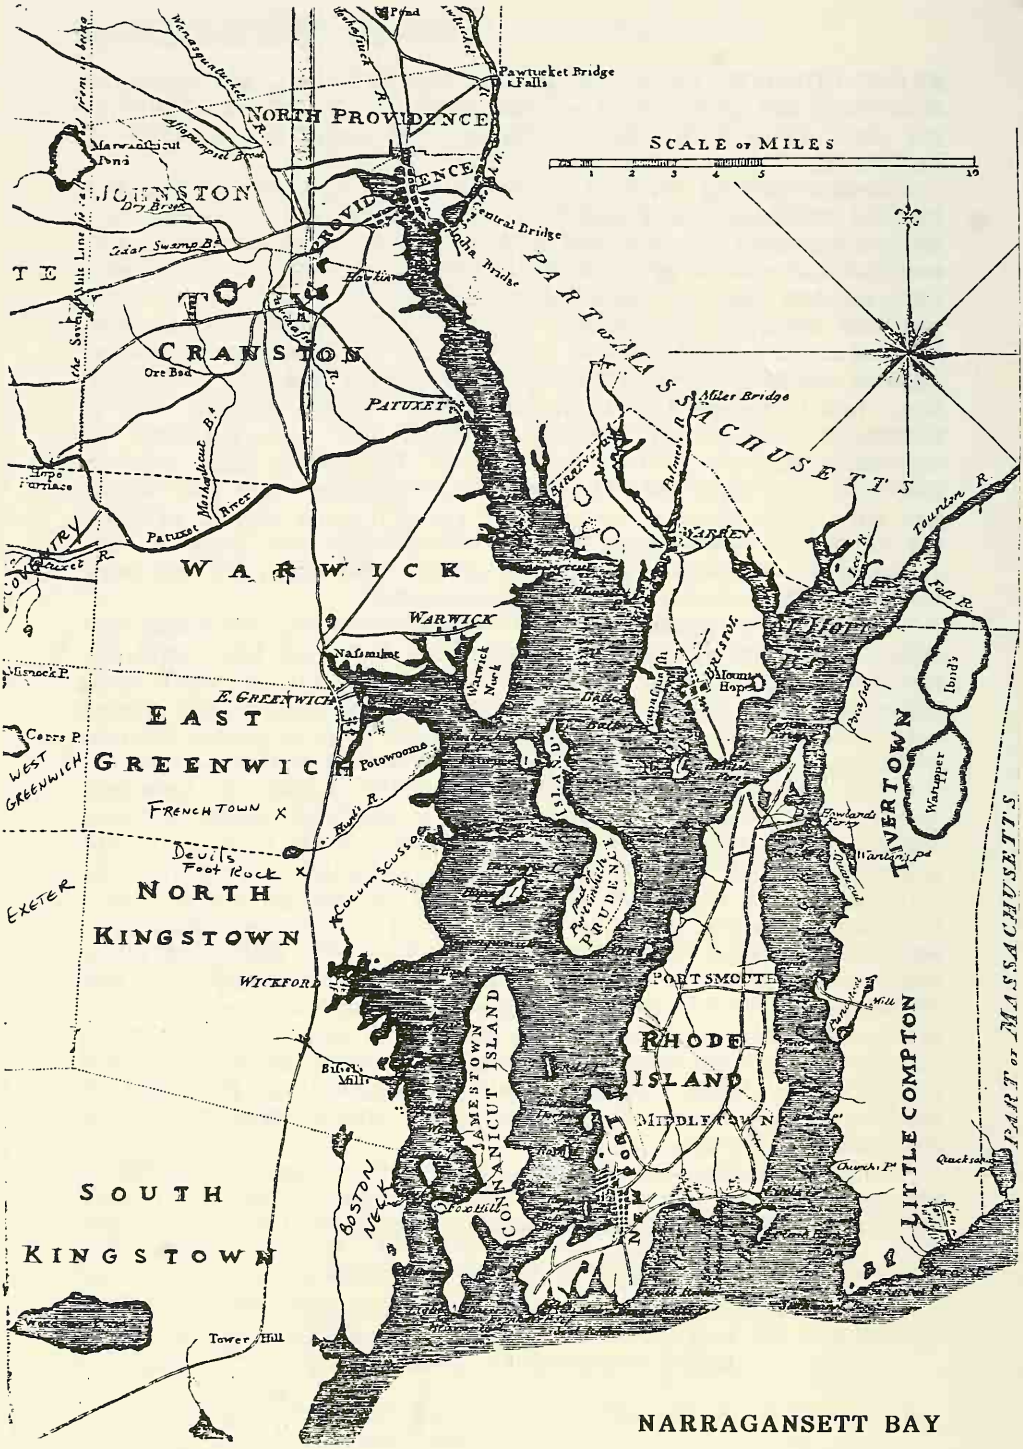
This spelling of Pettaugh in Ipswich area records is very uncommon; it is probably the same name which occurs in several variants, including Petto, Pettow, Pettall, and Puttall. The only Susan found among all of these, anywhere near the correct time, is a Susan, daughter of Thomas Puttall, who was baptized 29 September 1619 in St. Lawrence parish. The age is fairly good in this case, but since the marriage record specifies only that James was not of St. Nicholas by birth, it seems logical also to examine the family of one Robert Pettall/Pettow who was living in the parish of St. Nicholas a generation earlier. No Susan has yet been discovered there, but records are incomplete.

Robert had children Robert, Parnell, Christian, Prudence, and Dorothy baptized at St. Nicholas between 1581 and 1592, with the spelling "Pettall" in the register. He made his will 20 April 1593, calling himself Robert Pettow of Ipswich, carpenter, and named wife Dorothy, sons Christopher and Robert, and daughters Parnell, Christian, and Margaret. To Christopher he left a tenement in St. Nicholas occupied by one John Grene; to Robert a tenement occupied by Henry Pyper; to Parnell, a tenement where Anthony Barkeck lived with a chamber over it and a little buttery thereto adjoining, and a yard; to Christian a tenement where he, the testator, Robert Pettow, lived, except for the buttery before given, and also a timber yard; and to Margaret a tenement with yard where Robert Edwards was living, and a tenement with yard where the widow Brampford lived. All the children were under 22, and his widow Dorothy was to hold the rents from various properties until each child reached 21 years; she was to have also a tenement where one Stephen Grenewich lived, with yards and a dye house (MS IC/AA2/34/364, Suffolk County Archives). Baptisms of Christopher and Margaret were not found, though both must have occurred 1571 or later.

It must be emphasized that nothing certain has been found to identify Susan Pettaugh, wife of James Huling. The information given above is speculative, and may be helpful to other researchers.

Child of James and Susan (Pettaugh) Huling:

i. JAMES, bapt. 25 Sept. 1636, St. Nicholas. He is at this writing the most likely candidate for the James Huling who came to Rhode Island.



NARRAGANSETT BAY

THE FIRST GENERATION IN AMERICA

JAMES AND MARGARET HULING were the founders of the Huling family of Rhode Island. It appears probable that James was the James Huling baptized 25 September 1636 in the parish of St. Nicholas, Ipswich, County Suffolk, England, son of James Huling and his wife Susan Pettaugh. Record of his marriage to Margaret has not been found.

James and Margaret came to the New World in or before 1666. On the 12th of December of that year, Charles Bennett, Anthon Rennals, and William Baldwin were indentured to James Huling, all bound to serve for four years in Virginia. Philip Cox was bound, 25 October 1667, to serve James Hewling [sic] for four years in Virginia. Jane Williams was bound, 25 November 1668, to serve Margaret Huling for four years in Virginia (information from correspondence with Noel Currer-Briggs). Search in Virginia has as yet revealed no record of James and Margaret there.

By 1674 James and Margaret were in New England. The 6th of August 1674 Mr. James Huling, Mr. Thomas Terry, and Nich: Braddock were the jury who drew up the verdict, subscribed and delivered it to the Court at Hartford, Connecticut, in the death of Nicholas Stevens of "rohd Island," who had evidently died while in command of a ship. "These engaged to take care for the Carefull Navigation of the Vessell till she hath accomplished her voyage, & to return the vessell & Estate to the authorities of Rhode Island, The danger of the seas only excepted" (Early Connecticut Probate Records, by Charles William Manwaring, [1904], vol. 1, pp. 240,241). This is our first indication that James Huling was a mariner.

James Huling served on a jury in Rhode Island in October 1678 (Newport Court Book A:41 [General Court of Trials]).

"Margret Huling" signed her mark to a deposition "Dated ye 30 day of January 1679/80" in New York, concerning the estate of Joseph Winslow, deceased. She, along with Robert Crosse and Daniel Ensign, testified that they had been present at the house of Mr. Thomas Lawrence when he read the letter of administration to Thomas Stevens and Charles Labrus. Labrus had said "that thar ware nothing for him; then Thomas Laurence said; if ye Law wold give him his thirds; he shold have it to a farthing; and ... said, if ye Law gave him nothing, that he would give him sumthing out of his own estate upon these conditions: that he Charles Labrus Shuld not trubel the above Said Mr. Thomas Lawrence nor aney that Shuld persede him Consarning ye estate of Joseph Winslow..." (New York State Archives 29:43).

In 1680 James Huling was taxed 12 shillings in Newport, Rhode Island (Austin). However, on the 14th of May 1680, Margaret Hewling [sic] wife of James Hewling of Rhode Island bought from Elizabeth Lawrence, relict and administratrix of William Lawrence of Flushing, Gentleman, a dwelling house and lot of land in New York City. She paid for it "one hundred and ten pounds of Lawful money of New York in good pieces of Eight or New England money." The property was described as "in a street there called ye Broad Street lying in ye west end ye Lott belonging to ye late Gov. Steavusant on ye north on ye East the Shoomakers' Tan or Bark Mill and on ye south ye cross Street ye runs up in ye Broadway ... in Breadth from end to end Two rods and half a foot ... in length eighteen Rod Two foote and five inches ... said house and lot of ground was formely purchased by ye said William Lawrence late deceased as aforesaid of Jan Duspree...." (New York Conveyances, Liber 12, p. 30, quoted with some errors by Thomas Lawrence in Historical Genealogy of the Lawrence Family, [Providence 1858]).

Margaret Huling, wife of James Huling, inhabitant of Newport, in Rhode Island, on 14 November 1684 sold the above house and lot in New York for £80 to John Huling of Rhode Island, mariner. The deed was witnessed by Nathaniell Dyer and Edward Case, and signed by Margaret with her mark, a large "H" (New York Deeds, 7: 101-103, New York State Archives, [formerly at State Records and Law Bureau]).

James Huling was among the witnesses who signed the Quaker marriage record of Robert Bracey and Ann Douglas, widow, in Sussex County, Delaware, on 30 July 1685 (C. H. B. Turner, Some Records of Sussex County, p. 136).

James died 6 March 1686, aged 52 years, probably at Newport, and was buried there in the Common Burial Ground (sometimes called the Old Cemetery). Margaret went to Delaware, probably to live with her son Walton or daughter Honour, and died there 16 February 1707 in her 76th year. She is buried in St. Peter's Churchyard, Lewes, Delaware. Her stone, on the side of the church at the front right corner, is the oldest in that churchyard.

We do not know the birth places and dates of their children, but think it is probable that at least John, the eldest, was born in England, and at least Walton, the youngest, in America --- probably in Rhode Island.

Children, surname HULING:

2. i. JOHN[2], b. ca. 1658; m. Sarah ——.

ii. JAMES, b. ca. 1660, d. after 1693. His existence is indicated by the term "Sen" on the gravestone of his father, but little is known about him. The badly torn North Kingstown Town Record Book 1, in a list of Freemen on page 3, includes the name of James Huling, but gives no indication at what date the name was entered. Austin stated that he was a freeman ca. 1700 and that he married Mary Dolliver, daughter of Joseph. The latter statement is known to be an error, however, for the will of Joseph Dolliver names Mary Josling or Joshling, apparently misread by Austin as Huling.

On the last Tuesday of March "in the fifth year of His Majesty's Reign," James Hulines of Newport, mariner, was found guilty of "escor[t]ing James Shannah an Indian man out of the hands of Peter Easton constable of Newport," and fined £3 for contempt (Newport Court Book A [General Court of Trials], p. 302). This would have been 1693, the fifth year of the reign of William III.

A James Hullin, "belonging to his maj[ties] hired shipp Bonadventure," mariner, made his will 1 December 1696, appointing his loving wife Elizabeth Hullin his attorney to transact all business, and bequeathing to her all his estate. Witnesses were Tho: Walton, Lieut. George Betts, and Carp[r] W[m] Walles. The will was proved 8 October 1697 by Elizabeth Hullin, relicte. (PRO, P.C.C. Wills, 1697, Folio 200). No evidence has yet been found to indicate that this James was James Jr. of Rhode Island.

3. iii. HONOUR, b. ca. 1662; m. (1) William Clarke, (2) Thomas Bedwell.

4. iv. ALEXANDER, b. ca. 1665; m. Elizabeth Wightman.

5. v. WALTON, b. ca. 1668; m. Martha Palmer.

2. JOHN[2] HULING, son of James Huling and his wife Margaret, was born about 1658, probably in England, and died 8 November 1709, either on board his sloop or in Connecticut. He is buried in the Green Cemetery, Glastonbury, Connecticut. He was a merchant and a mariner.

He married SARAH ----, who died 11 January 1708 at the house of Peleg Chamberlain in Newport, aged 40 (R.I. Friends Records, Arnold Vol. 7:109). She was buried in the Clifton Burial Ground, Newport. In the Friends Records she is called Sarah Huland, wife of John.

John Huling was stated to be of Rhode Island when he appeared 6 April 1677 as a witness concerning the Delaware River (N. Y. Calendar of Council Minutes, N. Y. State Library, Hist. 6:28). In 1681 he was master of the ship Maidenhead of Nuberry [sic]; in August of that year his vessel and goods were seized under "the severall Acts of Parliament for the encouragement of Trade and Navigation" (PRO, Acts of the Privy Council of England, Colonial Series 2, 1680-1720, pp. 167,168).

On 14 November 1684 John Huling purchased from his mother a dwelling house and lot on Broad Street in New York City which she had bought four years earlier from the estate of William Lawrence (New York Deeds, Book 7, pp. 101-103, New York Archives, formerly at State Records and Law Bureau).

On 21 March 1691 he received a permit [from New York authorities] to proceed on his voyage as master of the sloop Robert and William (Calendar of British Historical Manuscripts, 36:141, N.Y.S. Archives; original document destroyed in the State Capitol Fire of 1911). He was in New Jersey on 3 April 1691, his ship bound for Bridge Sound, Barbados, when he took on board some cheese, flour and beef consigned by Walter Reeve to John Brett of Barbados (West Jersey Records, NJA 21:438).

Later he was master of the Hopewell of Pennsylvania, 8 tons, built in Rhode Island in 1689, owned by Jno. Crends [sic; perhaps Cranston?]. His was one of the ships entering the "Potomack River" between 6 May and 29 September 1701, and the Port of Accomack between November 1700 and March 1701 (English Duplicates of Lost Virginia Records, [1958], Louis des Cognets, Jr., p. 294).

John Huling of Rhoad Island, merchant, on 7 July 1704 bought of Thomas Pemberton one lot on Second Street in Lewes, Delaware, measuring sixty feet in breadth and two hundred feet long, bounded on the southeast with common lots and the graveyard of the town of Lewes (Record Book 1:209). Three weeks later, on 1 August 1704, John Huling, merchant, petitioned to build a fence (Some Records of Sussex County, Delaware, p. 129). Less than two years later, on 24 March 1706, he sold the lot to Samuel Davis (Record Book 1:203).

On 7 February 1707, in Sussex County, Delaware, calling himself of this county, merchant, he sued to recover £13, 3d halfpenny in Pennsylvania money of which "John Elme late of the same place, planter, deceased, had become lawfully indebted 18 February 1703" [to him] (Record Book 1:311).

John Huling evidently died in Connecticut, where he is buried in the Green Cemetery at Glastonbury, in Section I, Row 16 (Hale's Cemetery Records, CSL). The gravestone was read and copied in January 1979 by Elery Clark of Glastonbury, who reported that it "is of a good grade of sandstone, not the type that breaks into laminations and can be ruined by freezing rain, and [it] should remain legible for many more years."

Inventory of his estate was made 3 December 1709 and administration given two days later to his brother Alexander Huling (Newport TC II:107-108; Grafton Magazine, 2:89). The inventory was badly damaged when the Newport records were submerged in New York Harbor in 1779, but it is possible to discern the following items (spelling unaltered; some punctuation added): ye sloop Sarah with her Three Sails, 2 Anchors 2 pr Cables and all y^{e} Othere Store —— belonging ————, valued at £ 35. In a Trunk in y^{e} Cabin: — 16 doz. of Jack Knives & —— forks at 8d doz.; 26 1/2 doz. horn Combs at 3d; 2 1/2 doz. wooden —— at 3d doz.; 6 1/2 doz. Pewter Buckels; 10 doz. The total, £141:7:2, was sworn to 3 December 1709 by John Rhodes and W^{m}. Coddington, but this apparently included only items found on board his ship, and it is followed by a second inventory of "the Estate of John Huling dec'd found in ye house of P^{t}" [probably his brother Alexander Huling, who had petitioned for administration], which included one bed, 2 bolsters, 3 pillows, Callico Curtins and Cloth & Teasters, 3 pr. Sheets, ——, 5 blankets with a wool bed under — & y^{e} bedsted & bolster Caise, the whole valued at £17; 3 TableCloths & Cupboard Cloths, 6 Coarse Towels & Napkins; 11 fine Diaper napkins; 3 pare window Curtins; 1 p^{r} Old sheets, 2 old Carpets; 1 Bible; 1 old pr. There were other items which are now illegible.

It appears from the above that at the time of his death, John Huling's place of residence was with his brother in Newport, where his household effects were inventoried.

Child, surname HULING:

i. WALTON[3], b. 13 Nov. 1707 Newport, died there 22 Dec. 1708, aged 13 months; buried in Clifton Ground (R.I. Friends Records; name incorrectly transcribed by Arnold, 7:109, as Walter).

3. HONOUR[2] HULING, daughter of James and Margaret, was born about 1660, probably in England, and died after 1 November 1720, when she acknowledged a deed in Sussex County, Delaware, and before 4 September 1739, when land was quitclaimed by her heirs. She married, first, WILLIAM CLARKE, and, second, THOMAS BEDWELL.

William Clarke "of the Whoore kill on Dellaware Bay" and "Honor Hulings, late of Rhode Island," were married 11, 5th month 1679 at Robert Zane's house in New Salem (Hinshaw, 2:61). William may have been born in Ireland. A deed dated 29 March 1683 for land granted to him by William Penn on 28 February 1676/7 calls him "late of Dublin, Ireland, now of Sussex County, Penn." (NJA, 1st series, 20:400,401).

He was commissioned Justice of Peace and Courts 14 November 1682, and, named first in the Commission, acted as Chief Justice. He was Provincial Councillor from 1683 until his death, Speaker of the Pennsylvania Assembly in 1692, and from 1694 a Justice of the Supreme Court (Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, XI No. 3, March 1932). C.H.B.Turner states that William Clarke's agreement on 13 June 1682 to free his Negro, Black Will, after five years' service, was the first manumission in Delaware. In 1687 he furnished logs for the court house and a prison, and in 1698 his house was looted by the crew of a pirate ship.

The index to History of Delaware, 1609-1888 by J. Thomas Scharf lists William Clarke as a landowner in both Broadkiln Hundred and Mispillion Hundred in 1684, Milford Hundred in 1686, and Indian River Hundred in 1694. He was Recorder in Sussex County in 1682 and Surveyor in Kent and Sussex Counties in 1683. He is listed as attorney for Cedar Creek Hundred in 1694.

William Clarke, Gentleman, wrote his will 24, 2nd month (April) 1705 and it was probated 24 July that year. He named his wife Honnour Clarke, as executrix. His heirs included his wife, his son William "and his espoused wife Rebeckah Courtios," his granddaughter Elizabeth, wife of Daniel Brown, his granddaughter Mary Pemberton, under 21, and his son-in-law Thomas Pemberton. He appointed as overseers his brother-in-law Walton Huling and "my loving Friend" Thomas Fisher. Witnesses were Joseph Booth, Robert R. Burton, and Jonas Greenwood (Delaware Archives copy of Sussex Co. Wills A1:2).

William Clark "died considerably in the Proprietor's debt.... Honor Clarke was imprisoned for a time on account of the debts of her first husband, but was released because of her poverty" (Peter Wilson Coldham, "Clarke, Curtis and Richardson of Barbados, Delaware, and Philadelphia," NGSQ 61:7).

A deed was given by Honor Clark, executrix of William Clarke, Deceased, to Richard Dobson for 100 acres on the north side of Mill branch, part of a tract of 800 acres called Millfield, at August court 1708 (Sussex Co., Del., Deeds A1:281).

Honour married Thomas Bedwell between August 1708, the date of the above deed, and August 1710, when they signed a deed as executors of the will of William Clarke (Kent Co., Del.,Deeds G:111). In the same month Thomas Bedwell and Honour his wife were deeded 200 acres on Cold Spring Branch by Mathew Osborne (Sussex Co., Del.,Deeds A1:281).

Land on Lewes Creek was deeded to Thomas Bedwell 19 September 1715, and on Croad Kill 14 July 1716, by Thomas Rowland. On 3 February 1718, "Daniel Ayrest of this co. of Sussex ... came into this office & devised to enter caution or cavit that Honour Bedwell of this co. sometime widow of William Clarke Gent. dec'd ... 350 acres on Herring run fork of Million Creeke ... Suttons mill land..." Honor Bedwell at court of 1 November 1720 acknowledged a deed of 3 May 1720 for 300 acres to Alexander Draper (Sussex Co., Del. Deeds A1:305, 236, 237; F6:282,29).

Thomas Bedwell's will, dated 18 November 1716, was probated 6 November 1717. No mention was made of a wife. He named his daughters: Milliscent Hill, Anna Hall, wife of John Hall, Mary Anne, and Elenor Bedwell (Sussex Co., Del., Wills B [new]:95,96).

It has been assumed that Honour was the mother of William Clarke's son and daughter. Proof that she was the mother of the son, William, is found in a quitclaim deed of 1 August 1737 in which William's daughters stated that they were heirs of Honor Bedwell (Sussex Co., Del. Deeds G: 226,227). No such quitclaim has been found from William Clarke's Pemberton granddaughters, and a calculation of birth dates reveals that Elizabeth, wife of Capt. Thomas Pemberton, must have been born considerably before 1680 and was therefore without doubt the child of William Clarke's first wife. An article by this compiler, tracing the descendants of Elizabeth Pemberton, is scheduled for publication in National Genealogical Society Quarterly vol. 72, number 4 (Dec. 1984).

Child, surname CLARKE, (born probably Sussex Co., Del.):

6. i. WILLIAM[3], b. possibly ca. 1682; m. Rebeckah Curtis.

4. ALEXANDER[2] HULING, son of James and Margaret Huling, was born 1665 or 1666, possibly in Rhode Island. His birth date is indicated by a deposition made 17 March 1722 in which he stated that he was in his fifty-seventh year. He died 29 July 1725, in his 60th year, and is buried in the Old Baptist Yard, North Kingstown, R.I. On his gravestone he is called Captain.

He married, before 1688, ELIZABETH WIGHTMAN, daughter of George and Elizabeth (Updike) Wightman. She was born 26 July 1664 at Quidnesset, Rhode Island, and died in North Kingstown in mid-August 1755.

Elizabeth's father, George Wightman, was a farmer in North Kingstown. He named his daughter Elizabeth Huling in his will dated April 1716 and probated 12 February 1721/2, leaving to her £20. (North Kingstown Probate 6:38-43). His ancestry and descendants are enumerated in George Wightman of Quidnesset, R.I. (1632-1721) and Descendants, (1939), by Mary Ross Whitman.

Elizabeth's mother, Elizabeth Updike, was the daughter of Gilbert and Catherine (Smith) Updike. She was baptized in the Dutch Reformed Church at New Amsterdam on 27 July 1644, as Elisabeth, daughter of Gysbert op dyck (Collections, NYGBS, 2:17). Her parents, Gysbert op dyck and Catherine Smit, were married in the same church on 24 September 1643 (ibid., 1:12). Gysbert Lodowick Opdych was baptised at St. Willitrode Church, Wesel, Westphalia [Germany] in 1605. He brought his family from Long Island to Rhode Island in 1664 and settled on the old homestead at the head of the cove. His ancestry back to the 13th century and his descendants are given in the Op Dyck Genealogy, American Descendants of the Wesel and Holland Families (1889) by Charles Wilson Opdyke.

Catherine Smith, grandmother of Elizabeth Huling, was the daughter of Richard and Esther Smith. Smith's settlement was the third in the Colony, established in 1639, just three years after Roger Williams founded Providence. Richard Smith sailed from Weymouth, Dorset, England in April 1637 on a ship, its name now lost, whose master was John Driver (NGSQ 71 [1983]:176). He established a trading post at the head of what is known as Point Wharf Cove and bought of the Narragansett sachems 30,000 acres (3 miles by 6 miles) on the west side of Narragansett Bay, erecting a house for trade with the Indians on the Pequot Path. A deed of 1659 from the Narragansett Sachem to Governor Winthrop and others, including Richard Smith, is printed in full in Bartlett's Records of the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations (1856), volume 1, pages 464-466. (See also J. R. Cole, Histories of Washington and Kent Counties [1889], pp. 373,374 and NHR 3: 75-77.) Smith was a member of the Atherton Company which illegally obtained land from the Indians and sold it to the unsuspecting Huguenot settlers. His house and trading post at Cocumscussoc became known as Smith's Castle and at this writing is open to the public.

Elizabeth Huling signed as witness to two deeds, 1688 and 1697, one in Newport and the other at Boston Neck, (R. I. Land Evidences 2:68-70, R. I. Archives), and one to Francis Brinley of Newport 29 September 1693 (Suffolk Co., Mass. Deeds, XIV:250).

Alexander Huling was called a house carpenter in deeds of 1720 and 1721. He lived in both Newport and North Kingstown. Our earliest record of him is dated 23 April 1685 at Kings Town, when he witnessed an agreement made by the Atherton Company at Narragansett (Austin). In 1692 he signed the contract by the Bay Purchasers and the French Huguenots.

Before 1696 Alexander had a house in what is now North Kingstown. He called it "my now dwelling house and settlement in Narragansett country, with orchard" when he sold it 28 May 1696 to Daniel Eldred (Austin). This deed, which was apparently legible in Austin's day, has since been partially burned. It reads "Alexander Huling of [burned] in Kings Province in New England for £105 sold to Daniel Eldred of same, my now dwelling house in the Narragansett aforesd. bet[burned] formerly belonging to [?Major] Richard Smith deceased and Leift. Lodowick Updike...." The date of signing is burned, showing only "Alex...and Elizabeth...," witnesses [burned] Willett, [burned] Updike and [burned] Fones, acknowledged 20 May [burned] by Alexander Huling and Elizabeth his wife (North Kingstown Land Evidence 1:132-133).

In the same year, 1696, his earmark was registered at North Kingstown: "Ear Marke is A Crop on ear & a fore Gad on the near Ear...his brand is A...war Buttuck" (TC Records 1:71).

Mr. Alexander Huling was chosen Second Grand Juryman at the house of Mr. John Eldred the 4th day of March 1699/1700 (ibid., 1:19). He was chosen a Ratemaker at least thirteen times, in 1700, 1705, 1711, 1712, and each year from 1714 through 1723 (Austin; North Kingstown Town Records 1:48,53,56).

Alexander Huling in 1717 testified that on 30 November 1700 he had written a deed of gift for Israel Newton, conveying land on Boston Neck to his brother James Newton, and then had witnessed Newton's signature (South Kingstown LE 3: 246).

The Proprietors of the town of Newport granted to him lot number 27, one and a half acres. On 18 February [1701/2?] he was named in a list at Newport as "of those persons that have bought and possess land from the Towne and have built large buildings" (Newport Proprietors Book, pp. 48 and 11, at Middletown Town Offices). He was listed from the town of Newport 5 January 1702 in the Proprietors' Grant (Newport Misc. Rec. 1:16).

At a meeting 3 August 1703 he was "Chosen first Grand Jury Man" at North Kingstown (TC 1:32). A few days later, on the 12th, he deeded "for love and good will to my loving friends Jeremiah Wilkie and Valentine Wightman of the Baptist Church of Christ in the Narragansett Country land to make use of for building a meeting house for the worship and service of God," about half an acre, "about 26 rods north-east from my now dwelling house in Kingstown" (NK Deeds 1:58). This site is occupied in 1982 by an active church and Alexander Huling's gravestone, the oldest in the adjoining cemetery, is still legible.

Mr. Alexander Huling was one of two deputies from Kingstown chosen to serve on the court meeting at Warwick 29 October 1707 (Bartlett 4:28).

On 27 May 1709 the land transaction known as the Huling Purchase was made. Weston Clark, Randall Holden, Richard Green and Phillip Tillinghast, acting as a committee empowered by the Colony to "make sale and dispose of y^{e} vacant lands in y^{e} Narragansett Country," sold for the sum of £136 and 16 shillings to "Alexander Huland [sic], Thomas Stevens, Charles Barry, Jeremiah Wilkey, Joseph Havens, John Hall, Joseph Asten, William Havens, William Spencer, Benjamin Baker, Benj. Nickals, William Hall and John North, all inhabitants of Kings town," a tract of vacant land "in the township of Kings town lying at or neare ye place called & known by y^{e} name of the Devills foot, Butted and Bounded on y^{e} east end part by y^{e} cuntry Rhoad or pequott path, South only by y^{e} now highway that runs up into y^{e} Cuntry from y^{e} old Cuntry Rode, northerly by fones his purchas & westerly on y^{e} path or Rhoad y^{t} Leads to Este Greenwich, Containing About 1824 Acres According to y^{e} mape or platt by M^{r} John Mumford survayor...." (R.I. LE Book 3:44-45, MS R.I. Archives; commas added).

Alexander Huling had several land transactions recorded at North Kingstown. He bought 1/4 acre in Wickford from Lodowick and Abigail Updike, 1 M[---] 1709. Besides the deed to Daniel Eldred quoted above, he sold land to Samuel Phillips in 1712 (NK Deeds 2:31), and with his wife Elizabeth sold two acres to George Thomas on 2 April 1716 (Pierce Collection at RIHS). On 8 February 1725 he sold 50 and 3/4 acres to Alexander Brown. He deeded to his son James the "westward part of my now dwelling house, which I first builded," with 50 or 60 acres, on 6 December 1720. He was called house carpenter in a deed to Elisha Mitchell, dated 29 December 1720, and in one of 12 August 1721 from James Huling, husbandman, for 72 acres for £300 (NK Deeds 2:207; 5A:266; 6:194; 5B:183; 4:267; 5A:100,101).

Alexander Huling of Kingstown was in 1719 called a clerk [?probably of a court]; on 16 September 1719 he testified in a court case between Joshua Davis and Samuel Phillips, stating that he had been "desired by Joshua Davis to go with him to M^{r} Samuel Phillips [the previous day] to draw Wrighting between him & s^{d} Phillips in a bargin aboute a parcill of Oar." His deposition and one by Jn^{o} Aylworth of East Greenwich were made before William Spencer, Justice, and for each "A true Copy Compared this 19 day Nov^{r} 1719 pr Alexander Huling, Clerk" and signed by him (original files of the General Court of Trials, at Providence College Archives).

Alexander Huling of Kingstown "being in his 57 y^{e}ar" on 17 March 1721/2 made a a deposition before Stephen Hassard, Assistant, stating that "upwards of 30 y^{e}ar past he received of Thomas Mumford Ten Pounds in Money on account of Mr. Wharton of boston it being for the Priviledg of Daming for a grist mill upon sd Wharton's land." Many Kingstown residents testified in this case, Northrup vs. Palmer, which was concerned with establishing ownership of a mill there (ibid.).

Alexander Huling's long will was recorded at North Kingstown in Probate Book 6, pages 125 through 128. Although a fire in 1870 badly damaged the record at North Kingstown, Ray Greene Huling had made a copy of this will in the summer of 1869. It is thus possible to quote the original will in its entirety, from his copy:

In the name of God Amen I Alexander Huling of North Kingstown in the Colony of Rhoad Island &c Being Sick and Weak of Body but of Perfect mind and Memory for which I Thank Almighty God and Calling to minde the Mortality of man's Body Do make and Ordaine this to be my Last Will & Testament. Samuel Fones and Benjamin Baker appeared and were sworn 10 August 1725 when the will was proved, and administration was granted to Elizabeth Huling on that day (NK Probate 6:125-128; 131, 132).

Austin gives the value of the inventory as £263 13s. It was recorded on pages 129 and 130 of Probate Book 6, but the figures showing the values have worn away.

On 12 January 1756 the Town Council ordered that administration on the estate of Elizabeth Huling late of this town, widow, deceased, who died intestate, be given to Alexander Huling, son of James Huling, he to give bond according to law. On 17 January, however, Alexander, son of James Huling, deceased, appeared in council and refused the administration on the estate of his deceased Grandmother Elizabeth Huling. On 9 February 1756

Thomas Havens of North Kingstown was made executor of the estate, and it was settled by him the following September (Ray Greene Huling, Notebook 41, p.23f.).

The official North Kingstown records of this administration were destroyed in the 1870 fire, but the inventory of Mrs. Elizabeth Huling, taken by James Fones and Robert Havens and shown to the Town Council in February 1756 has survived in part. It included clothing, furniture, and dishes, among which were platters marked CH and AH. The value appears to total £22. Additional inventory was listed 17 June 1756 (North Kingstown TC 8:373-4).

Children, surname HULING, (probably all were born in Kings Town, though it is possible that the older children were born at Newport; all living in 1725):

7. i. JAMES[3], b. ca. 1690; m. Mary Havens.

8. ii. HONOR, b. ca. 1692; m. Alexander Brown.

9. iii. MARGARET, b. ca. 1694; m. (1) William Havens, (2) Joseph Stafford.

10. iv. ELIZABETH, b. ca. 1695; m. James Nichols.

11. v. CATHERINE, b. ca. 1697; m. —— Nichols, probably David Nichols.

12. vi. ALEXANDER, b. ca. 1700; m. (1) Elizabeth Spink, (2) Sarah Freeborn.

vii. MARY, called "senseless" in father's will; probably d. unmarried.

5. WALTON[2] HULING, son of James and Margaret Huling, was born about 1668, probably in Rhode Island, and died, probably in Delaware, before 3 August 1717 when his will was probated. He was a mariner.

He married MARTHA PALMER, daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Marsh) Palmer. Her birth on 17 of the 7th mo. (September) 1674 was recorded in the New York Monthly Meeting of Friends (Hinshaw 3:245), and may have occurred at Flushing, New York, where her family was living at the time of the 1698 census. She died after 3 September 1718, when she appeared in court at Lewes, Delaware, as executrix of her husband's estate. Martha was the granddaughter of William Palmer of Wethersfield, Connecticut and Westchester, N.Y., and of Jonathan Marsh of Jamestown, R.I. For further background on her family, see Winifred Lovering Holman, "Palmer of Westchester" in The American Genealogist, 26 (1950): 95-108, and "Palmer Ancestry and Genealogies," (1923), typescript, by Byron S. Palmer, Palmyra, N.Y., at NEHGS and LDS microfilm 176,583, pp. 4564, 4607.

Walton Huling witnessed a deed from James Wilson, Thomas Mumford and John Potter to Robert Hannah, for land at Pettaquamscutt, on 20 March 1693 and another from Ann Bull to William Jeames [sic] at Newport on 13 July 1695 (R.I. LE 2: 9, 27). He was a constable at Newport 4 June 1695, according to Ray Greene Huling.

A book of Newport Proprietors Records kept at the Middletown Town Hall contain records of land originally reserved in order to attract tradesmen to the town. These were laid out in lots in the y^{e}ar 1667 and afterwards houses were built on them. By order of the court dated 4 March 1701/2, these were distributed, and on 12 March of that y^{e}ar Walton Huling was among those who were each granted one acre, it being one of the lots "laid out in y^{e} Common next the Town ...." His was lot number 20, bounded east on the lot of Thomas Weeden, and west, north and south on several highways. The grant was signed by Nath^{ll} Coddington, clerk (Middletown Misc. Rec. 1:9).

Walton Huling was in Lewes, Delaware by 12 October 1704 when he sold the above land to Richard Long of Newport, carter; the deed, which calls him Wilten Huling Late of the town of Newport in Rhoad Island, mariner, was signed by Walton Huling and Martha Huling (R.I. LE 3:69, MS R.I. Archives).

In 1702 he gave a bond to John Gibbs (Sussex Co., Del., Bk C, No.3, p.16). He bought property described as two front lots in the town of Lewes, 120 feet in breadth and 200 feet in length, sold by William Clarke to Peter Lewes, by the said Peter to Samuel Preston, he to John Gibbs, and said John to Walton Huling. The title remained with William Clarke, who received £70 Pennsylvania money from Peter Lewes and Samuel Preston, a deed for two lots "with the House Building and Appurtinances unto the said Walton Huling," dated 1 February 1702 (Sussex Deeds A1:200). On 7 November 1707 he sold two lots in Lewes to John Coe, and the following day he bought two town lots "being in the Second street of the Town of Lewes," one from Richard Paynter and another from Jonathan Baily (Sussex Deeds A1:309, 308; D4:4,7).

Walton Huling on 2 November 1704 gave a bond to Gov. Cornbury, the conditions of which were that "thee Above bounden ... Wallon Huling master or Command^{r} of the Sloop Unity Burthen six Tuns or thereabout ... wth no guns Navigated wth two men ... Bound for Philadelphia hath Entered and Cleared in her Majesty's said Port of New Yorke Now if the Sd Wallon Huling shall not Directly nor Indirectly take on board his Sd Sloop nor Carry out of this Province any Servant or Servants or Slave or Slaves ... Debtor or Debtors or any other person or persons whattever but what shall have a Tickett from the Secretary's Office of the Province...." The document is signed by Walton Huling (Original in New York State Archives 50:29a; Calendar of British Historical Manuscripts in Office of Secretary of State, Albany, N.Y. [1866], Vol. 2, ed. E. B. O'Callaghan, p.333).

William Clarke, Gent., in his will dated 24 April 1705, names Walton Huling as brother-in-law (Delaware Archives A64:198).

Martha Huling was a witness 21 August 1705 at the wedding of George Ely and Jane Pettitt (C. H. B. Turner, Some Records of Sussex Co., Delaware, p.149).

Walton Huling wrote his will in September 1705, "In the name of God Amen I Walton Huling of Lewis in the co. of Sussex annexed to the prov. of Penna.," leaving to his wife Martha one third of his estate both real and personal. The remainder of the estate was left to daughters Elizabeth and Esther Huling and the "child wife goeth with." The will mentions houses and land in Territories of Penna. The witnesses were Samuel Davis, Jonathan Bailey and Rebecca Clark (Probate Record A79:93 at Georgetown; Record Book 2 no. 16:119). The will was probated 3 or 7 August 1717.

A suit brought by Walton Huling against Capt. Alexander Huling was decided in his favor in March 1713; details of the case have not been found (Austin; Newport Court Records Book A).

Martha Huling was a witness at the marriage of her daughter Esther 31 October 1717 (Sussex County Deeds F6:174).

The widow Martha Huling on 8 August 1718 sold 693 acres in Sussex County. She appeared at the August 1718 court at Lewes, Delaware, as executrix for Walton Huling, dec'd, to confirm a deed to her brother Daniel Palmer for 693 acres on the northside of Croadkill, called Howard's Choice (Sussex Co., Del. Deeds A1:229).

She then bought land as follows: "Preserved Coggeshall as lawful attorney of Elizabeth Hill of Phila. widow & relict of John Hill late of this co. of Sussex dec'd appeared in open court of common pleas and then and there by deed of sale duly forfeited under the hand and seal of the said Elizabeth Hill acknowledged in behalf and as attorney for the said Elizabeth, and made over, unto Martha Huling widow and relict of Walton Huling dec'd and to her heirs and assigns or to the sd. Martha and her two daus. Ester and Sarah & their heirs and assigns forever deed 3 Sept. 1718, 111 acres northside of Broadkill Creek in Sussex" (ibid., 406, 236).

Children, surname HULING:

i. ELIZABETH[3], b. ca. 1700, d. February 1708, in her 8th yr. She is buried St. Peter's Churchyard, Lewes, Delaware. Her stone is at the front of the Church, the second oldest stone in the churchyard.

13. ii. ESTHER, b. probably 1702; m. George Walton.

iii. SARAH, b. late 1705 or first half of 1706, living 3 Sept. 1718. She was expected but unborn at the time of her father's will. She is mentioned in the deed above with her mother and sister, but no further record of her has been found.

GENERATION THREE

6. WILLIAM CLARKE[3], son of Honour Huling [3] and her first husband, William Clarke, was born about 1682, probably in Delaware, and died in Barbados in 1714 (NGSQ 61:4).

William and REBECCA CURTIS were married in Sussex County, Delaware, 16 August 1705. They published their intentions to wed at the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting of Friends 30 January 1705. They were married not in "the manner used by the Quakers, but [the ceremony] was performed at the house of Walton Huling, uncle of the Bridegroom, before Thomas Fisher, J.P." (Hinshaw 2:486).

Rebecca was born before 1688 and died after 9 February 1742 (NGSQ 61:6,9). She married, second, probably in Barbados in 1714, Zachariah Richardson, of Philadelphia, who died between 26 December 1735 and 23 February 1735/6, late of St. Mary Magdalen, Bermondsey, Surrey, England (ibid., 8). For more details of her colorful life see Peter Wilson Coldham's article in NGSQ 61 (March 1973).

William Clarke, Jr., went to Philadelphia before 20 March 1704/5 (Philadelphia Deeds E4:349).

On 1 August 1737 a quitclaim was given to Robert Neill for 800 acres, called Mill Plantation, originally granted in 1686, as follows: "Edward Evans of Philadelphia lawful attorney of Rebecca Richardson of Philadelphia widow and relict of Zachariah Richardson dec'd formerly called Rebecca Clark widow & Relict of William Clark the younger late of Lewes in the County of Sussex on delaware also Rebecca Evins my wife lately called Rebecca Clark one of the Daughters of the S^{d} Will^{m} Clark by the S^{d} Rebecca his wife & Elizabeth Clark spinster one of the daughters of the S^{d} Will^{m} Clark by the S^{d} Rebecca his wife which S^{d} Rebecca Evin & Elizabeth Clark are the granddaughters of Honour Bedwell dec'd who was the widow Exe[cutrix] & Heir of Will^{m} Clark, Sen^{r} late of Sussex County, Gentlem^{n}, decd" (Sussex Co. Deeds G:226, 227).

Children, surname CLARKE,
(order unknown; last three b. Philadelphia):

i. (Possibly) WILLIAM[4], the son of William and Rebecka, who died 27, 6th month 1711, recorded Philadelphia Monthly Meeting (Hinshaw 2:346). This may have been the child born before the marriage, fathered by John Hunt (NGSQ 61:4).

ii. ELIZABETH, named in the power of attorney 1737; res. Philadelphia 1739; unmarried when she signed a deed 9 Feb. 1742 (NGSQ 61:9; Philadelphia Deeds G6:543).

iii. ANN; d. without issue in 1725 (Ray Greene Huling in Rhode Island Historical Society Publications, III: 139, 140; NGSQ, 61:4).

14. iv. REBECCA, b. probably between 1706 and 1713; m. Edward Evans.

7. JAMES[3] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [4] and his wife Elizabeth Wightman, was born about 1690, probably at Newport or Kingstown, R.I., and died before 12 May 1730 (NK Probate 6:361).

He married MARY HAVENS, daughter of Thomas Havens (Thomas[2], William[1]). Her birth record has not been found. She died sometime after 30 June 1787, when she quitclaimed her right in the estate of her brother William Havens. She married, second, at North Kingstown, September 1730 or 1731, Jonathan Chase, who died before 16 August 1766 when his will was proved. There were at least two children by this marriage, their births recorded at North Kingstown as 20 May 1733 and 23 May 1735, whose given names are missing from the records. They are probably the Phebe and Ruth named in their father's will.

In his will probated 12 September 1748, (the date of writing broken off), Thomas Havens named his sons William, Thomas, and Robert, and his daughters Mary Chase and Phebe Wightman (ibid., 8:186, 187).

In 1720 James Huling received from his father, Alexander, the "westward part of my now dwelling house, which I first builded," with 50 or 60 acres of land. In 1721, called a husbandman, he received from his father, for love and affection, 72 more acres. James was admitted a freeman from Kingstown, at Newport, 1 May 1722 (Bartlett, 4:310). On 2 July 1728 he joined with his brother Alexander Huling, son of Alexander, and wife Elizabeth, in selling half an acre of land to Charles Lee (NK Deeds 6:194; 4:267; 5B:306,307).

At the town court of 9 June 1730, letters of administration were given to Mary Huling on the estate of her husband, James Huling, deceased. In the badly burned and torn town records of North Kingstown the following fragments of entries survive: " ... July 1732 So That their Remains ... of the Said [Jonathan Chase] of the Estate of ... Huling Dec'd and belonging to Said Huling Children the sum of Thirteen Pounds ... Shillings and Ninepence ... 9 November 1736. [Jonathan] Chase and Mary his wife formerly the Wid ... [H]uling Dec'd appeared before this council ... charge on the youngest ... to wit James Huling .... "(NK Probate 6:359; 7:323,324).

Elizabeth Huling, daughter to James Huling late of North Kingstown, deceased, appeared before the council 8 —— 1739 and chose as her guardian her grandfather Thomas Havens (ibid., 7:289).

The will of Jonathan Chase was proved 16 August 1766; the date of this will has been burned away. In it he named his wife Mary Chase executrix and bequeathed to her two feather beds and other items. He named among others his second daughter Pheabe Heaven, his third daughter Ruth Congdon, and his granddaughter Sarah Chase (ibid., 9:327,328).

Mary Chase, widow, mother of Alexander Huling, "surrender my rites" to some property in 1770; the rest of the record has broken away. On 30 June 1787 Mary Chase, widow, quitclaimed for good will and affection to her son Alexander Huling all rights in the estate of her brother William Havens (NK Deeds 12B:130; 14B:225).

Children, surname HULING, (births not recorded, but probably occurred at North Kingstown):

15. i. ELIZABETH [4], b. ca. 1723; m. Jonathan Allen.

16. ii. ALEXANDER, b. 5 Aug. 1725; m. Mary Smith.

8. HONOR[3] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [4] and his wife Elizabeth Wightman, was born about 1692, perhaps 28 September, at Newport or Kings Town, R.I. She died before 1728.

She married at North Kingstown in 1709 ALEXANDER[3] BROWN, son of Beriah[2] (Charles[1]) and Abigail (Phenix) Brown (Bates Collection 23:16, RIHS). He died between 13 August 1758, when he made his will, and 30 September 1758, when it was proved.

Alexander was married, second, at North Kingstown 8 September 1728, to Marcy (or Mary) Tift, of North Kingstown, by William Spencer, Justice (Beriah Brown Papers, R.I.H.S.). He married, third, before 13 August 1758, Lydia ——.

Beriah Brown on 1 March 1709/10 deeded to his son Alexander for love and affection one half of his homestead farm. This was recorded 1 April 1710 (Beriah Brown Papers). In his will dated 13 August 1758, Alexander Brown of North Kingstown, yeoman, sick and weak of body, provided:

Witnesses were Hannah Smith, Jonathan Vaughn and Benoni Hall. The will was proved 30 September 1758 (NK Probate 9:69-72).

The heirs were unable to reach an amicable agreement on the distribution of the estate, and the matter was taken to court. Some of the evidence follows.

Joseph Case, Easq^{r}, being of Lawfull Age, deposed on ye 19 November AD 1759 in North Kingstown that "my Self and Bennony Hall Easq^{r} was Desired by Beriah Brown Easq^{r} to take an Inventory of his fathers Estate and we Did". When asked what part of the hay he had inventoried, he stated that the executor had shown them all the hay that grew on the whole farm that both Alexander and Beriah Brown improved, and had told them that half belonged to him and half to his father, "as thay Improved together," so they had valued half of all the hay. He was asked how much land Beriah Brown owned of the whole farm, and replied he had heard say forty acres. He stated that they had valued half the oats also.

He was asked if he had heard the widow declare that she would not accept the will, and he replied that he had. He said that they had inventoried Bonds but not the interest payable on them.

Peter Tourje J^{r} of North Kingstown testified 5 December 1759, declaring that "I was at Ebenezer Brown^{s} Sum time in Sept Last and Beriah Brown Esq^{r} Came a long by and Call^{d} at the Barn and he and his Brother Ebenezer had Some Talk about Sum money and the Intrust and S^{d} Beriah Asked S^{d} Ebenezar, whether he wanted his money and Ebenezar Said he Could Due without it Untill Spring if he would alow him Intrust for Said money and Ebenezar asked Beriah when the Intrust began and he answered in one year after his fathers Death ... Beriah asked Ebenezar to Come down to his house to Divide a peice of Cloth and Ebenezar said it was the best way to divide that and all the Rest of the things and S^{d} Beriah Said with all his heart and so they Ended their Discourse."

Peter was asked by Beriah Brown if he knew anything about the movable estate left by Alexander Brown, and he answered that he did not.

Ann Case of Exeter signed her mark to a deposition 14 January 1760 at Exeter, stating that she had bought a cow and calf of Beriah Brown Esq. of North Kingstown and had given him one hundred and twenty five pounds for them, which sum was deducted from a legacy given to her by her father Alexander Brown, deceased. She said that the balance of the legacy was also paid to her by Beriah, and that Beriah had told her that the Negro woman had said the cow was about twelve years old and the calf about three weeks old, and that the cow had been in the estate of Alexander at the time of his death. "At the time of the Said Alexander Browns death he was possessed of a Brass Kettle that held about five pails full that had been in use a pretty while but did not leak ... [he was] also possessed of Six feather Beds." Ann also gave testimony about a mare and something which had belonged to her grandmother Huling, but the document is torn and details have been lost.

She was asked the age of Elisha Case, son of Mitchel Case, and replied that he was fourteen the 23rd of June last; when asked how old "is Prude Case Daughter of Mitchel Case?" she answered, "eight years old the first of last August."

She was asked if she had been present when Alexander Brown gave his Negro woman to his son Beriah, and replied that she had heard Alexander bid the Negro woman to choose her master and that the Negro had chosen Beriah Brown, and that Alexander had said that Ebenezer Brown must have his mare and Beriah have the Negro woman. She claimed that it was her understanding that her father was to keep both the Negro and the mare as long as he lived. She said that Beriah Brown and Lydia Brown were both in the room but not present at this discourse.

Among the Beriah Brown papers at the Rhode Island Historical Society is a receipt dated June 1763, never signed, made out for the legacy of Alexander Brown to Mary Eldred, granddaughter, given to her under the name of Mary, daughter of Abigail Phillips, by her husband, who was not named. There is also a receipt given 28 December 1772 by Abigail Case for her legacy from Alexander Brown, deceased, [her] grandfather.

9. MARGARET[3] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [4] and his wife Elizabeth Wightman, was born probably about 1694 in Kings Town, R.I. No record of her death has been found in records of North Kingstown or Newport.

She married, first, 12 March 1712, WILLIAM[3] HAVENS, son of Thomas[2] Havens, (William[1]), of Portsmouth and Kingstown, who died before 12 June 1733, when his will was probated. His will, made in 1731, named his wife Margaret, his daughters Elizabeth and Margaret Havens, daughter Martha Gardiner, wife of Nicholas, and his two sons, William and Alexander, both under age (NK Probate 7:39-41) Margaret Havens, of North Kingstown and Executrix to the will of William Havens, late of North Kingstown, deceased, sued John Fones Jr. of North Kingstown, laborer, in 1733 or 1734 (Washington Co., R.I., Court of Common Pleas held at South Kingstown, Vol. A, 1731-1741, p.124; RIGR 2:160).

Margaret married, second, in late 1734 or after, as his second wife, JOSEPH STAFFORD, son of Joseph and Sarah (Holden) Stafford. Joseph was a blacksmith and lived in Warwick (Adelos Gorton, The Life and Times of Samuel Gorton [1907], p.167). He is said to have died after 1770.

Joseph's first wife was Susannah Gorton, who was born at Warwick 4 June 1694, daughter of Samuel and Susanna (Burton) Gorton, and died there 29 August 1734. Joseph and Susanna had four children whose births were recorded at Warwick: Mercy, born 2 June 1717; Joseph, born 6 January 1718/9; Susanna, born 15 August 1721, died December of that year; and Susanna again, born 10 March 1722/3.

Children, surname HAVENS, (information given to Ray Greene Huling by Judge George Brayton):

24. i. MARTHA[4], b. 22 Dec. 1712; m. Nicholas Gardiner.

25. ii. ELIZABETH, b. 30 March 1715; m. James Fones.

iii. WILLIAM, b. possibly about 1717. He is said to be buried at Apponaug; according to Mrs. Beatrice Hunter, he was first buried on Stafford land and later reinterred.

26. iv. ALEXANDER, b. possibly about 1719; m. Mercy Stafford.

v. MARGARET, b. 5 March 1730.

10. ELIZABETH[3] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [4] and his wife Elizabeth Wightman, was born about 1695 in Kings Town, R.I. and died probably not long after 19 February 1727 when her last child was born. No record of her death has been found in records of Newport or Kingstown.

Elizabeth and JAMES NICHOLS were married at East Greenwich 5 January 1715/6 by Samuel Fones, Justice. James, whose name was spelled "Nickoles" in the marriage record (TR 1:1A), was the son of Thomas[2] (Thomas[1]) and Mercy (Reynolds) Nichols, born at East Greenwich 29 March 1693. He died between 5 July 1746 when he made his will and 28 February 1746/7, when it was proved.

James Nichols and his sons, Thomas, Benjamin and Alexander, were named in the 1738 will of his father, Thomas Nichols (EG Probate 1:202-206; RIGR 1:90).

James married, second, Deborah Reynolds, by whom he had a daughter Frances, born at East Greenwich in September 1730. He married, third, Margaret Carpenter of Warwick, 14 January 1732 at East Greenwich. They had one son, Caleb, born at East Greenwich 11 April 1734.

In his will dated 5 July 1746 and proved 28 February 1747, James Nichols named his wife Margaret, and left property to his son Thomas, land in East Greenwich to his son Benjamin, one lot in East Greenwich and £50 to his son Caleb. He left £5 each to his son Alexander and his daughters Marcy Green, Elizabeth Coggeshall, and Deborah Spencer. To his daughter Frances Nichols, under eighteen, he gave the feather bed which had been her mother's, and to his grandson William Nichols he left £10 (EG Probate 1:223-225).

Children, surname NICHOLS, (births recorded E. Greenwich):

i. RUTH[4], b. 15 Oct. 1716, prob. d. before 1746.

31. vi. DEBORAH, b. 3 June 1725; m. (1) Joseph Spencer, (2) Samuel Phillips.

vii. BENJAMIN, b. 19 Feb. 1726/7. He probably m. (1) at Warwick, 15 May 1757, Almy Bosworth, by Jos. Edmonds, Ass't; this marriage appears on the same page of the record book as the 1758 marriage of Benjamin's younger half-brother Caleb (Warwick VR 2:113). In Exeter is recorded the marriage of Benjamin Nichols to Margaret Allen of East Greenwich, 27 Nov. 1757, by Newman Perkins, Justice, but it is not known whether this is a second marriage for this Benjamin. He was not the Benjamin Nichols listed in Newport records of that time.

11. CATHERINE[3] HULING, daughter of Alexander [4] Huling and his wife Elizabeth Wightman, was born about 1697, probably at Kings Town, R.I.

She was called Catherine Nickols in her father's will. Her husband was probably DAVID NICHOLS, son of John Nichols, who was early in North Kingstown and is not believed to have been connected with the Thomas Nichols family (information from Mrs. Beatrice Hunter).

Administration on the estate of David Nichols was given to Benjamin Weight 12 June 1738 (NK Probate 7:117).

Child, surname NICHOLS:

32. i. (Probably) CATHERINE[4], b. perhaps about 1735; m. Rhodes Havens.

12. ALEXANDER[3] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [4] and his wife, Elizabeth Wightman, was born about 1700, probably in Kings Town, R.I. He died before 8 June 1772 when administration on his estate was granted to his son John.

He married, first, ELIZABETH SPINK, daughter of Robert[2] (Robert[1]) Spink of Kingstown and Newport (Austin, GDRI, p. 188). They were married before 2 July 1728, on which date they signed a deed together (NK Deeds 5B:306,307). Elizabeth was the mother of all his children. According to Arnold's Cemetery Records they are both buried in North Kingstown.

Elizabeth's grandfather, Robert Spink, sailed from London in 1635 on the ship Speedwell, bound for Virginia. From 1648 to 1665 he was in Newport and Portsmouth, R.I. He became a freeman in 1655. In 1665 he purchased an estate in Quidnesset south of Davisville Docks on Narragansett Bay shoreline and died there in 1695. He and his wife Alice had ten children. (George H. M. Lawrence Collections, North Kingstown Free Library).

Alexander Huling was married, second, to SARAH FREEBORN of Newport, 14 May 1761 at Newport, by Rev. Gardiner Thurston of the Baptist Church (Newport TR A:205). She was living in 1774 when she was listed as head of a household in Newport that included one man and two women sixteen years of age or older.

Alexander Huling, Jr. was admitted a freeman from Kingstown at Newport 1 May 1722 with his brother James (Bartlett 4:310). He was among those chosen field driver before 1728 and on 10 April 1733 refused to be chosen a field driver. He was probably the Alexander Huling chosen a "Pettee" Juror in 1747, a Grand Juror later and again on the 6th day of 1763, and the overseer of the poor who paid out a sum at or after the town meeting of 3 February 1762 (North Kingstown TC 1:123, 132, 132, 224, 269, 385, 366).

Alexander Huling, son of Alexander, and wife Elizabeth, with his brother James, sold half an acre to Charles Lee on 2 July 1728 (NK Deeds 5B: 306,307). He signed a petition to the General Assembly at Newport on the 3rd Monday of 1740, and again in December 1750 and August 1753 (R.I.Archives 4:62; 7:131; 9:2:34).

In 1759 Alexander Huling sold 50 acres to his nephew Alexander Huling, Jr. In July 1764 Alexander Huling, son of James Huling late of North Kingstown, mortgaged to Alexander Huling, gentleman, for £78, some land there bounded south on land of his son William (NK Deeds 11A:87).

The North Kingstown Town Council, meeting on 8 June 1772, "re-ceived information that Alexander Huling ... lately deceas[d] in said town died intestate ... administration granted to John Huling of Duchess [sic] county in the Province of New Yorke yeoman ... " (NK Probate 10:105). John Huling on 9 June 1772 stated that he had received payment of the mortgage amount from Alexander Huling, son of James (NK Deeds,11B:94). In 1776 Allen Johnson requested administration of the estate, "Heirs to appear before council" (NK Probate 13:271).

41. x. MARTHA, b. 23 Nov. 1749; m. Benjamin Burdick.

13. ESTHER[3] HULING, daughter of Walton Huling [5] and his wife Martha Palmer, was born probably in Rhode Island or in Delaware, about 1702, and died before 6 February 1729/30, when her husband made his will.

Esther and GEORGE WALTON were married in Sussex County, Delaware, 31 October 1717. The certificate of marriage states that "acording to God's holy ordinance George Walton of [Sussex] county Batchalor and Hester Hulling Daughter of Walton Hulling late of this County Gent Dece'ed [were married] by Jonathan Bailly Esq. George and Esther both signed, along with "evidences," or witnesses: Jonathan Baily, Sarah Fisher, Mary Atkinson, Martha Hulling, Jonathan Manlove, Ann Draper, Alex Walker, Mary Walton, Nathanel Hall, John Nutter, Will Fisher, Nicholas Green, Mary Walton, Cornelious Wiltbanck, Elias Fisher, and John Hepburn (Sussex Co. Deeds F6:174).

George married, second, Abigail, perhaps Abigail Ryves; the date of the marriage has not been found and it is not known whether she was mother of any of his children.

George Walton was the son of John and Percey (Manlove) Walton, born probably about 1693 in Maryland or Delaware. The Turner manuscript, on microfiche at the Delaware Archives, states that John and Pearcy Manlove, daughter of Mark and Elizabeth (Roberts) Manlove, were married 25 May 1681 and had a daughter Elizabeth born 28 February 1681, [probably 1682], a daughter Alice, born Pocomoke 2 September 1688, a son John born Manokin 2 April 1691, and a daughter Alice, born at Manokin 12 September 1682 [?1692]. John Walton signed his will 19 November 1706, making the following bequests: To son John "my plantation lying and being on the North side of Pocomoke River"; to son William 97 acres "Joyning to my plantation"; to John and William, after their mother's decease, a water mill with land and plantation of 100 acres; and slaves and horses to son John, daughters Alice and Mary Walton. He also mentioned his wife Percey, his daughter Ann Draper, his son-in-law Alexander Draper, and his granddaughter Elizabeth Draper; he referred to the maintenance of his "Ancient" mother-in-law, and noted that John, George and William were under 18 (Sussex Co. Probate Book 1:209-213; original in Delaware Archives A104:138).

The grandfather of George and father of John Walton was William Walton of Somerset County, Maryland, who made a will 10 April 1686 which was presented 14 August and ordered probated 25 August 1686. To his son John he bequeathed the "Gold ring which was my fathers, having the Two Letters I W thereon," and 400 acres of land on Indian Cabber Neck; he named his wife Rebecca and his sons Fisher, William, and Stephen, all under age (Somerset Co., Md., Wills, Liber EB No. 5 folio 180).

George Walton was a member of the commission of peace 23 September 1726 to March 1727 (J. Thomas Scharf, History of Delaware 1609-1888, p. 133-4).

On 1 May 1716, 200 acres on the south side of Mispillion Creek were released to him by John Walton (Sussex Deeds D4:377). He had a survey made 19 November 1719 of acreage on Cedar Creek Neck, Sussex County, which was resurveyed 24 March 1728/9 (Sussex Co. Warrants and Surveys, W^6, No. 106, 106a). On 9 February 1722 there was a division of property between him and John Manlove; the land was called the points of 250 acres and two lots in Lewes; to Manlove was set off "all that Tract of Land and plantation whereon Walton Huling dyed ... containing four hundred acres" which was inherited from his father John, and 97 acres on the north side of Cedar Creek. He bought land from his brother William 6 May 1724, and on 6 May 1726, he bought from Hobart Hart 54 acres on Cedar Creek Neck, on the south side of Mispillion Creek on the "Neck Road". On 7 May 1725 he exchanged with Abraham Parsley two tracts of 250 acres (ibid., F6:103, 104, 30, 31, 97, 112; Archives Deed H-3 No. 59).

George Walton of Sussex County, Delaware, gentleman, signed his will 6 February 1729/30 and it was probated the 24th of that month. He named his wife Abigail, who was to receive one third of his estate; his son John, who was to receive two houses and two lots situated in Lewes Town and two hundred and fifty acres of land and marsh in Broad Kill Neck which "came by right of His Mother"; and left to his son George, "the Plantation Whereon I Now Live" containing 300 acres and another 66 acres which he had bought from Robert Hart. He left the remainder of his estate to his sons Huling and Joseph, both under 21 years. He appointed his brother John Walton and his brother-in-law John Ryves executors (Original will, Delaware State Archives A104:196). The widow Abigail Walton petitioned to have her third set off by executor John Walton (Orphans Court 1:61,14).

Children, surname WALTON, (probably all b. Sussex County, Del.; order unknown; proof only for John that he was child of Esther):

i. JOHN[4], b. about 1724; 5 Sept. 1738, as a minor, John Walton, son of George, chose his Uncle John Walton his guardian (Orphans Court, Sussex Co., 1:108, in Delaware Archives). He possibly m. Naomy -----.

GENERATION FOUR

14. REBECCA CLARKE[4], daughter of William Clarke, Jr. [6] and his wife Rebecca Curtis, was born probably between 1706 and 1713, and was perhaps the widow of Edward Evans who died at age 80 and was buried the first day of the first month, 1785, recorded at Philadelphia Monthly Meeting (Hinshaw 2:360).

Rebecca and EDWARD EVANS were married in a Quaker ceremony in Philadelphia the 5th day of the third month, 1737. His death on 13 October 1771 was recorded in the records of the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting (Hinshaw 2:359).

According to the records of the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, Marriages 1672-1759, Kearny, Margaret Preston, Mary Emlen, Eliz[a] Hill, Hannah Allen, Beulah Coates, Lydia Pryor, Eliz[a] Holton, Rebecca Richardson, Eliz[a] Clarke, Martha Macky, and Rachel Pemberton.

On 1 August 1737 Edward Evans and his wife Rebecca joined her mother and sister in a quitclaim deed to Robert Neill, quoted above. On 4 September 1739, Edward Evans of the City of Philadelphia, shoemaker, Rebecca, his wife, and Eliz[a] Clark, of the same place, spinster, quitclaimed to Susanna Pemberton land between Cool spring and the main branch of Mill Creek (Sussex Co., Del. Deeds H8:16).

In the Minutes of the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting for 1742 appears a statement that "Edward Evans, shoemaker, hath separated himself from us, and declined to attend our Religious Assemblies for the Worship of Almighty God, and joined in Society with others" (quoted by Hinshaw, 2:518).

Edward Evans died intestate. His widow, Rebecca Evans, was appointed administratrix; she and Israel Pemberton and George Westcott, Gentlemen, gave bond for £1000 on 22 November 1771. The inventory of the estate, filed 6 December 1771, included bonds for £453:10s and household articles valued at £116:4:1, including a walnut desk, a walnut table, a tea table and stand, silver spoons, eleven china cups and ten saucers, and a china tea pott [sic] (Philadelphia Register of Wills: W34 [1771] Adm. H:96).

Children, surname EVANS, (deaths recorded Hinshaw 2: 359,360; probably all b. Philadelphia; order uncertain; perhaps others):

i. WILLIAM[5], son of Edward, d. 21 May 1740.

ii. JANE, dau. of Edward, d. 6 July 1745.

iii. REBECAH, dt. of Edward, d. 22 October 1745.

iv. REBECCAH, dau. of Rebecca, d. 8 June 1748.

15. ELIZABETH[4] HULING, daughter of James Huling [7] and his wife, Mary Havens, was born about 1723 at North Kingstown, R.I., and died 11 January 1766, aged 42 years (History of Quidnesset, by Daniel Gould Allen; Allens of Prudence Island [1898], p. 20)

She married at North Kingstown on the 2d of November 1740 JONATHAN[4] ALLEN, son of John[3] Allen, 2d (William[2,1]), with Thomas Hill, Justice, officiating. Jonathan was born 6 August 1717 and died 14 April 1811 (History of Quidnesset, p.20).

Jonathan Allen was admitted a freeman of North Kingstown in 1748. He was called Captain in the marriage record of his youngest daughter. In 1790 he was listed at North Kingstown as head of a household having two males over sixteen years and two females.

According to the History of Quidnesset, "he was ordained Deacon of the Six Principle Baptist Church in 1780. The house in which he was accustomed to worship was near Scrabbletown, in the westerly part of the town. This Church is the oldest one in North Kingstown. Roger Williams was its first preacher ... Jonathan was an industrious, prudent and devoted man. He built his house where Nathaniel Allen's now stands. His sons were loyal to the Crown of England in the Revolutionary War and either gave aid to or went with them."

Jonathan Allen of North Kingstown wrote his will in the 1700s, (the last two digits of the date are burned away), but it was not proved until 13 May 1811. He left ten Spanish milled dollars to his son Nathan Allen and ten silver dollars to his son Mansfield and each of his four married daughters: Phebe, wife of Jeremiah Ayles[burned], Mary, wife of William Spencer, Sarah, wife of Samuel Bissell, and Elizabeth, wife of George [burned]. One sentence in the badly burned record book reads, "[—] son John Allen deceased namely Lydia [———] each 10 silver dollars." He gave to his daughter Barsheba Allen the indoor household goods, a silver cup marked I H and other items. To his son Caleb he gave "my homestead of 41 acres (more or less)." There may have been other bequests (NK Probate 19:14-16).

Children, surname ALLEN, (all in History of Quidnesset; not recorded in R.I. VR):

i. BATHSHEBA[5], b. 10 April 1746, d. unmarried after date of father's will. She is probably the Bashaba Allen who joined the Six Principle Baptist Church of North Kingstown, 1776 or later (Arnold 10:286)

44. iii. CALEB, b. 24 Sept. 1750; m. Anna Allen.

45. iv. PHEBE, b. 8 June 1752 (either her birthdate or that of Mansfield is incorrect as given); m. Jeremiah Aylesworth.

v. MANSFIELD, b. 12 Sept. 1752 (see note above). According to History of Quidnesset, he joined the Wightman Gang when little more than 21 years of age; for details of their plundering and activities during the Revolution, see pages 23-24 of that book.

16. ALEXANDER[4] HULING, son of James Huling [7] and his wife, Mary Havens, was born 5 August 1725 in Kings Town, R.I., and died there 18 April 1791. He was a weaver. Dates are from Ray Greene Huling, who stated also that they lived on Stony Lane.

Alexander Huling and MARY SMITH, daughter of William and Patience (Harris) Smith, were married at North Kingstown, 3 February 1745, by Robert Hall, Justice of the Peace. Mary was born at North Kingstown in 1722 and died there 16 March 1795. As Mary Huling, wife of Alexander Huling, Jr., she was deeded one quarter part of a homestead by her brother William Smith, son of William, dec'd, and his wife Avis (NK Deeds 10B:148). Her mother was the daughter of Andrew and Mary (Tew) Harris ("William Harris Family," MS at RIHS, p.2). Administration on her estate was granted at North Kingstown 11 J[——] 1795 to Lidya Huling (NK Probate 13:24).

Alexander Huling of North Kingstown was included among the freemen admitted "since the general election at Newport in May 1755," by the General Assembly, the 2nd Tuesday in June 1756 (Bartlett 5:495). Called in the records Alexander, son of James Huling, he attended town meetings at North Kingstown in 1766, 1767 and 1768 (RI Archives: Certificates of Deputies & Freemen, North Kingstown: 129, 135, 138).

In May 1767 Alexander Huling, son of James, of North Kingstown, sued Peter Simons of Newport, merchant, to recover £5:6:3 owed him for 23 1/2 bushels of Indian meal, "delivered att your howse - I paid the frait ... 22 1/2 lbs. of New milk Cheas ... 1 peck of Sweet Corn." The bill for these goods, entered as evidence, is shown in the illustration opposite; it is signed by "Alexander Huling, son of James," and dated 12 April 1764 (Newport County Court Files, Providence College Archives).

Alexander Huling "of Samuel," an error for "James," is listed in the 1777 Military Census of North Kingstown as between fifty and sixty years of age, unable to bear arms. He is credited with supplying wood for the troops from Massachusetts for the months of February, March and April 1778. He was also paid for carting supplies from the Commissary Department (RI Archives: Military Papers, Revolutionary War, 18: 173, 179). He was "proved for general affairs for the year ensuing" at a town meeting of 15 April 1778 (RI Archives: Certificates of Deputies & Freemen, North Kingstown: 143).

He was listed at North Kingstown in the Rhode Island census of 1774 and in the 1790 census with two males over 16, one male under 16, and four females in his household. The family moved to the Aquidneset part of North Kingstown in March 1779, according to the pension application of his son Augustus.

On 13 September 1757 Alexander Huling and wife Mary sold two acres at Devils Foot to Phillip Tourgee of East Greenwich. Alexander Huling, Jr. bought 50 acres of land from his uncle Alexander Huling in 1759 and sold this farm to his son William on 15 October 1762. In 1763, Alexander, son of James Huling, bought land and gave a mortgage to Alexander Huling, gentleman, this land being bordered by that of his son William; the mortgage was discharged 9 June 1772 (NK Deeds 11A:22,87,240; 11B:94).

Alexander, son of James, gave a note to Abraham Havens for £9:10s, which Havens sold to Martin Howard of Newport, who sued Alexander for payment. In a petition dated 3 March 1768, Alexander stated that he was sick the last Wednesday of October 1767 and could not be present when the case was called and that it had therefore gone by default. He requested a new trial, declaring that he had repaid the note and had a receipt (RI Archives: Petitions to the General Assembly 12:135).

On 26 February 1770 Alexander and Mary Huling deeded to Aaron Peck 22 acres which Mary's father had given her. At this time some sort of mortgage was given. The badly torn record reads: "...is land my father William Smith [torn] brother William Smith in his will and [torn] to give to me the abovesaid Mary Huling ... we said Lydia and Mary covenant to Aron Peck ... whereas Aron Peck has this day bought of [torn] der Huling husband to above Mary and father to [torn] which land is in N[torn] 20 acre farm mortgaged to Stephen Ayrault of Newport for one hundred and [torn] dollars, and Mary Chase mother of said Elexander H[torn] rite of dower, provided said Lydia and Mary shall discharge above mortgage within 3 years of this date," signed 26 Feb. 1770 by Lydia Huling and Mary Huling (NK Deeds 12B: 123,124,139). Aaron Peck brought action against Alexander Huling of North Kingstown, weaver, 13 August 1774. Beriah Brown paid Aaron Peck 41 3/4 dollars for Alexander on 10 August 1776 (Peck Collection, III:34, RIHS).

North Kingstown Deeds (14A:82) contain a bill of sale dated 1 November 1779 for a slave who evidently had paid for his own freedom: "I (Alexander Huling) this day purchased of Immanuel Northup ... for £30 paid by Philetus (a black man) to purchase [his] freedom"; this was recorded 5 February 1783.

In 1782 the census indicated a household of twelve people. On 1 February 1783 Alexander bought 50 acres from William Havens and later the same year sold it back. Alexander and wife Mary on 12 April 1785 sold property to George Nichols. On 19 May 1785 Alexander Huling of North Kingstown, Co. of Washington, yeoman, and wife Mary "for good will and affection" gave to daughter Lydia Huling of North Kingstown, singlewoman, 22 acres there. Alexander and wife Mary in 1786 sold 40 acres to Augustus Huling and in 1787, 30 acres to son Andrew. Mary Chase, widow, (formerly wife of James Huling and daughter of Thomas Havens), on 30 June 1787 gave for good will and affection to her son Alexander Huling, yeoman, all rights in the estate of her brother William Havens, deceased (NK Deeds 14A: 187,76,77; 14B:31-33,39,161; 15A:10; 14B:225).

In September 1794 certain rights of Alexander Huling of North Kingstown, deceased, were sold by Nicholas Gardiner, Jr., Sheriff, to Joseph Eldred, in order to satisfy a judgement which Eldred had obtained the previous February against Lydia Huling, Augustus Huling and Andrew Huling, yeomen, all of North Kingstown, children and heirs-at-law of said Alexander Huling. Lydia, Mary, and Sarah Huling, and Avis Donnison, attorney for her husband Jonathan Donnison and for herself, of Providence, quitclaimed to Andrew Huling 16 acres on 10 November 1796 (ibid., 16A:57,58,32,33).

Children, surname HULING, (all probably b. North Kingstown, though James' birth was not recorded there):

50. i. LYDIA[5], b. 5 [April] 174[6].

ii. WILLIAM, b. 1 March 1748; "sailed to the West Indies ca. 1770 and [was] never heard from." In 1762 William was deeded 50 acres which his father Alexander had bought of his uncle Alexander Huling, and in 1763 William sold this land back to his father (NK Deeds 11A:240; 12A:3). The Town Council on 10 May 1773 received word that ... Huling and William Huling "had been gone from home three years and more"; administration was granted to their sister Lydia Huling (NK Probate 10:128). Jonathan Donison, mariner, and his wife Avis deeded land to Andrew Huling, "it being land that descended to us as heirs of William Huling, dec." (NK Deeds 16A:109). Lydia Huling, as administratrix, sued Jeremiah Heirington in Inferior Court at North Kingstown, February 1778, for £1132, 15 shillings due the estate (RI Archives, petitions, 17:104).

iii. JAMES, b. probably ca. 1750, d. before 10 May 1773 when the Town Council "recv[d] Information that James Huling & ..... of sd North Kingstown have been gone over see unheard of ... administration granted to Lydia Huling...sister & Near of Kin" (NK Probate 10:260).

52. v. AUGUSTUS, b. 14 Jan. 1762; m. Sarah Greene.

53. vi. ANDREW, b. 7 March 176[7]; m. (1) Deliverance Spink; m. (2) Ruth Greene.

17. HONOR BROWN[4], daughter of Honor Huling [8] and her husband Alexander Brown, was born 16 April 1711 or 1712 in Kings Town, R.I., and died before 21 April 1787 when her husband made his will.

She married at North Kingstown 23 April 1729 or 1730 Judge SAMUEL HOPKINS, son of Joseph and Martha (Whalley) Hopkins. He was born at Kings Towne on 6 January 1703/4, (recorded East Greenwich as 1693/4), and died 14 April 1790 at West Greenwich.

In his will dated 21 April 1787 and proved 24 April 1790, Samuel Hopkins, of West Greenwich, yeoman, in perfect health, left various sections of his real estate to his sons Alexander, Samuel, Joseph, Beriah and Ebenezer Hopkins, stipulating that if Beriah had no lawful issue besides "that Daughter which he now hath," his portion was to pass to the daughter for her lifetime but then revert to Beriah's brothers Joseph and Ebenezer.

To his daughters Honour Tillinghast and Sarah Albro he left two-thirds of all his money and securities as well as two-thirds of his indoor movables and household goods, to be evenly divided between them. To his daughter Lydia Matteson he left one silver dollar and to all Lydia's children who should be living at the time of his decease, the remaining third of his money, securities, and movable estate. The executors were to deliver to Lydia the legacy for her children, "as quick as opportunity Shall Serve after my Decease," she to keep it and deliver it to them as they should arrive at age or need it, and at the same time the executors were to deliver to daughter Lydia "One Silver Spoon Marked with the Letters B B and A B and H B ... to Do what She pleases with the Same...."

Ebenezer, who was appointed sole executor, was to have all the farming tools, and to divide equally all the cattle and horses with his brother Joseph. Witnesses to the will were Isaac and Margaret Johnson and Hannah Ward (WG Probate 2:334-338).

Children, surname HOPKINS, (order uncertain):

54. i. ALEXANDER[5], b. ca. 1731; m. Mary Phillips.

55. ii. SAMUEL, b. 15 Oct. 1734; m. (1) (?Lucretia Waite); m. (2) Phebe Case.

viii. SARAH, b. ca. 1752; living 1797; of West Greenwich 27 Jan. 1772 when she was m. at Exeter, by Rev. James Weightman, to Thomas Albro of Exeter. Thomas was probably the son of Samuel and Alice Albro, b. Exeter 28 July 1745. No children were recorded at Exeter.

59. ix. LYDIA, b. 14 Sept. 1757 at East Greenwich; m. Abraham Matteson.

18. ABIGAIL BROWN[4], daughter of Honor Huling [8] and her husband, Alexander Brown, was born 5 November 1713 in Kings Town, R.I., and died there 22 September 1760, in her 47th year. She is buried in the Brown Cemetery, North Kingstown.

She was married to SAMUEL PHILLIPS Jr. at North Kingstown, the 4th day of ——, 1733, by William Spencer, Justice of the Peace. The name of the month has been lost. Samuel, who was the son of Samuel and Elizabeth Phillips, was admitted a freeman in 1734 (History of the Narragansett Church 1:429). His father, who died in 1736, left to him a dwelling house and land in North Kingstown (NK Probate 7:79-81).

Samuel married, second, 1 January 1771 at East Greenwich, DEBORAH (NICHOLS) SPENCER [no. 31, q.v.], widow of Joseph Spencer and daughter of James and Elizabeth (Huling) Nichols. Deborah died between 2 January 1790 and 11 July 1793, when Nicholas Spink, administrator, took her inventory. This marriage record, East Greenwich 2:43, was incorrectly transcribed by Arnold as Deborah, daughter of Joseph Spencer.

On 12 December 1788 Samuel signed a receipt to Beriah Brown, Esq., of North Kingstown, Executor of the will of Alexander Brown late of North Kingstown, deceased: "... paid me the Subscriber in the year one thousand Seven hundred and Sixty the Sum of Two hundred and Fifty pounds old Tenor in full for a Legacy Given to my Late wife Abigail Phillips now Deceased...." (Beriah Brown Papers, RIHS). He died between the date of the receipt and 20 October 1789, the date of his inventory.

Samuel Phillips of North Kingstown made his will 8 July 1782. After the usual preamble and arrangement for debts, he wrote, "I give and Bequeath to my Wife Deborah Phillips all that Tract of Land and premises that I purchased of John Austin Lying and being in West Greenwich in the County of Kent together with all the Household goods She Brought with her during her Natural Life or widowhood which Shall first happen ... all which I give my Said Wife in Lieu of her Right of Dower and power of thirds; and after her Decease or Marriage I do hereby order the aforesaid Land and premises to be Sold and the Moneys arrising from the Sale of Said Land and Premises I give and Devise to all my Daughters Children Share and Share alike and that my Grandson Christopher Peirce be Included in the above gift although he is absent and unheard of Some time." He bequeathed the rest and residue of his estate to his son Thomas Phillips, whom he appointed executor. Thomas predeceased his father, however, and Josiah Arnold of Exeter, called "son-in-law," was appointed administrator on 2 January 1790. The inventory was taken 20 October 1789 by Alexander Hopkins and Nicholas Myers (WG Probate 2:314-316).

The same day that he signed his will, 8 July 1782, Samuel Phillips deeded to his son Thomas for love and affection, etc. certain land; Deborah also signed her mark. On the same day, Samuel Phillips, son of Thomas, signed a deed or rent agreement with his grandfather (NK Deeds 14A:80,81).

On the third Monday of October 1792, Josiah Arnold, administrator of the estate of Samuel Phillips, deceased, was instructed by the Superior Court sitting at East Greenwich to sell about 9 acres to Joseph Hopkins Jr. of West Greenwich (WG Deeds 1: 233,234).

At a town council meeting of 25 May 1795 Nicholas Spink was appointed administrator of the personal estate of "his mother Deborah Phillips." (The reason for calling Deborah his mother has not been learned; was he perhaps a son-in-law?) He had presented an inventory 11 July 1793, and an inventory of her estate was taken also by Samuel Hopkins and Benjamin Johnson on 20 June 1795 (WG Probate 3:90 and Town Council Book 4, unpaged). The real estate that had come to her from Samuel Phillips was quitclaimed to Joseph Hopkins (WG Deeds 1:233, 234).

Quitclaims to Joseph Hopkins, Jr. of West Greenwich, were signed in January 1799 by the grandchildren: Anna and John Herrington of Arlington, Vermont; Alexander and Avis Arnold of Washington County, New York; and Nabby and Samuel Ames of Killingly, Connecticut (WG Probate 2:314-316; West Greenwich Deeds, New Series 2:331).

Children, surname PHILLIPS, (recorded North Kingstown VR; baptisms St. Paul's, Narragansett):

i. MARY[5], b. 1 Nov. 1733; bapt. 17 Feb. 1733/4; probably m. Josiah Arnold, who was called son-in-law of Samuel Phillips in the latter's probate of 1790.

iv. ? HENRY, b. 11 Sept. 1739; d. probably before his father, whose will of 1782 did not mention him.

19. BERIAH BROWN[4], son of Honor Huling [8] and her husband, Alexander Brown, was born 16 January [1714/5] at Kings Town, R.I. and died 8 July 1792, aged 77 years. He is buried in the Brown Cemetery, North Kingstown (Harris 1:26).

He was married, first, at North Kingstown, by Benjamin Weight, Justice, to ELIZABETH SMITH, daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Stafford) Smith, of Warwick. The marriage was recorded at North Kingstown but all that remains of the date is the day of the month: 30.

He was married, second, by Joshua Clark, Elder, at Hopkinton, 11 December 1771, to ELIZABETH BABCOCK, daughter of George and Susannah Babock (original certificate in Beriah Brown papers; recorded Hopkinton VR). She was born 25 January 1725/6 at Westerly and died 24 September 1815 (Harris 1:26).

Beriah was High Sheriff for Kings and Washington Counties for forty years, from 1746 to 1792. Many of his legal papers are preserved at the Rhode Island Historical Society, and include many for the collection of debts of others, orders to imprison debtors, two bastardy cases, one order to hang a man, and personal papers for investments in land and shares in ships. In one case, dated 1777, he was empowered to sell the schooner Two Brothers and its cargo of pickled salmon and herring. In 1790 he was listed in North Kingstown with two males over 16, one female, and five slaves.

For more biographical information, see Lafayette, Rhode Island (1949) by George W. Gardiner, pp. 24f.

The account was rendered by Daniel Tillinghast, administrator, 19 Feb. 1783 and recorded 1786 (Exeter Probate 5:48, 59-61, 188). Penelope Brown signed a receipt 5 April 1779 for £9 13s paid by Beriah Brown Jr. for a silver watch and saddle of her late husband Christopher Brown (Beriah Brown Papers).

She was married to JOSEPH BAKER in February 1733 at North Kingstown, by George Thomas, Justice. Joseph may have been the son of Thomas and Mary Baker who was born at North Kingstown 2 February [burned]. He died in 1747 or early 1748. He was a cordwainer of North Kingstown in 1740 when he sold to Beriah Brown his personal effects and shoe-making equipment (Beriah Brown Papers). He died intestate; administration was given to Sa[rah], widow, of North Kingstown, 26 March 1748 (NK Probate 8:174).

Sarah married, second, JOSEPH DOLLIVER of West Greenwich, 29 April 1750 in that town. He was perhaps the son of John and Mary Dolliver, born 6 June 1721 at East Greenwich, and he was probably the Joseph Dolliver whose administration was given to Joseph Dolliver [Jr.] the last Monday in January 1802 at West Greenwich (WG Probate 3:209).

He married MARY CONGDON, daughter of Benjamin and Frances (Stafford) Congdon, who was born 10 March 1718 (RI DAR 1937, p. 269), possibly in Kings Town. She died after 1759, when her youngest child was born, but before 1785 when her husband made his will. The will of her father, Benjamin Congdon, dated 15 January 1756, was probated at North Kingstown 11 October 1756; he named among others his daughter Mary Brown and her eight children: Alexander, Susannah, May, Frances, Stukely, Nathaniel, Ebenezer, and B[enjamin]. Because of this legacy, Ebenezer Brown was appointed guardian of his son Alexander 14 March 1757 (NK Probate 8: 381-383; 9:547).

The will of Ebenezer Brown, yeoman of North Kingstown, was written in 1785 and probated at North Kingstown 25 February 1793. 22. ANN BROWN[4], daughter of Honor Huling [8] and her husband, Alexander Brown, was born 13 March 1721 in Kings Town, R.I. and died, probably at Exeter, after 1777 when she was named in the will of her mother-in-law.

She was married 1 March 1743 by Elder David Sprague to MITCHELL CASE of South Kingstown, the marriage recorded at both Exeter and South Kingstown. He was the son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Mitchell) Case, born at South Kingstown 29 May 1722.

Mitchell Case and his brothers Sanford and Alexander Case all of South Kingstown were called laborers, infants, on 5 August 1740 when, by Joseph Case of North Kingstown, their guardian, they were plaintiffs in a court action against Aaron Milliman, late of South Kingstown, taylor, deceased (Washington County Court of Common Pleas, Vol. A [1731-1741], p. 486, cited RIGR 3:245).

Mitchell Case on 9 June 1747 was given a license to retail strong drink at his dwelling house for one year, for which he paid £7. The following 8 December he was ordered to appear before the town council to be examined "re his suffering gaming in his dwelling house contrary to his license." His examination must have been satisfactory, for he was again granted a license in June 1748 (Exeter TC and Probate 1743-1756, pp 55, 59, 64).

Mitchell Case was an "Especially appointed" constable in Kings County, R.I. in 1748, appointed by Beriah Brown, his brother-in-law (Beriah Brown Papers). On 13 May 1756 he gave a power of attorney to Beriah Brown (ibid.). He was called Capt. Mitchell in the marriage record of his son.

Alexander Brown, in his will dated 30 September 1758, named his daughter Anna [sic], wife of Mitchell Case, and their children Elisha and Prudens Case (See No. 8).

During the French and Indian Wars, Mitchell Case of West Greenwich marched as a captain on an alarm in August 1757, served as Ensign in Capt. Potter's company in 1758, as 1st lieutenant in Capt. Brown's company in 1760, as Ensign in Lt. Col. Rose's company in 1761, and as 2nd lieutenant on the privateer Blackbird in 1762 (Howard M. Chapin, A List of Rhode Island Soldiers & Sailors in the Old French & Indian War).

In October 1762 Mitchell Case of North Kingstown, gentleman, was sued by Stephen Walkey of the City of New York, Trader, for non-payment of a debt amounting to £20:2:2. The bill, made out to Lieut. Case, was entered in evidence; it consisted of cheese, various kinds of wine, and cash paid for "shoeing your horse at Litchfield," "ferreage at Hartford," "bringing your chest from the Lake," and cash paid Capt^{n} Lansing, at Baldwins, at Landlord Wyar's Tavern, at the widdow Pitkin's in East Hartford, etc.

At the December 1762 term of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, Providence County, Mitchell Case, then called of Exeter, Gentleman, was sued by William Metcalf of Providence, Gentleman, late commander of the Schooner called the Blackbird, a private Vessel of War, who claimed that Case had taken the schooner to the island of Jamaica and there sold her, refusing to hand over the £5000 proceeds. Verdict was for William Metcalf & Co. to recover £175 old tenor and court costs from Case; it was noted also that Mr. Case had delivered one hogshead of sugar to Thomas Newcomb, and this was deducted from the accounting (loose court files at Providence College Archives).

Elizabeth Case, widow of South Kingstown, in her will dated 19 August 1775 and proved 3 November 1777, left to her son Mitchell 12 1/2 silver dollars "if he come home and live with his wife, if not his wife Ann to have his part," and to her son Sanford

3 3/4 dollars; "the reason I give him no more is because I have lent him a few weeks since 9 silver dollars and a pistareen which I now give him." Among many other persons named were her granddaughter Mary Case, daughter of Sanford Case, and, without parentage specified, grandson Alexander Case, granddaughter Prudence Howard, grandson Sanford Case, and granddaughter Hona Smith (Exeter Probate 4:29-33).

Children, surname CASE, (first recorded Exeter VR):

i. ELISHA[5], b. 23 June 1745, d. perhaps before 1775 when his grandmother made her will; m. at West Greenwich, 30 May 1768, Waite Hopkins, daughter of John and Mary Hopkins. Waite was living 30 Jan. 1795 when her mother named her in her will of that date, probated the last Monday of Sept. 1806. She was named also in the will of her father, dated 26 Aug. 1790 (WG Probate 3:247,248; 23-26).

ii. PRUDENCE, b. 1 Aug. 1751; birthdate given in a deposition made by her mother 14 Jan. 1760. She m. —— Howard before her grandmother made her will in 1775 naming her as Prudence Howard.

23. MARY BROWN[4], daughter of Honor [8] Huling and her husband, Alexander Brown, was born 8 July 1723 at North Kingstown, R.I. and died after 1758, when she was named in the will of her father.

She married, about 1744, SANFORD CASE, son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Mitchell) Case and brother of Mitchell Case, husband of her sister Ann. The marriage record has not been found. He may have married, second, at Kingstown 1 May 1761, — Godfrey of East Greenwich.

Sanford Case and his brothers Mitchell and Alexander Case, all of South Kingstown, laborers, infants, were plaintiffs in a court action brought by Joseph Case of North Kingstown, as their guardian, in August 1740 against Aaron Milliman, late of South Kingstown, taylor, deceased.

Sanford Case enlisted in Edward Cole's Company, "but [he] owing above two hundred pound ... was obliged to discharge him," 14 June 1755 at Newport (Beriah Brown Papers). In 1757 he served in Capt. Greene's company (Chapin, p. 48).

On 26 August 1758 Sanford Case and his family were warned by the town council of East Greenwich to depart that town and return to South Kingstown, the place of their legal residence (EG TC Records 1752-1784, unpaged).

Sanford's mother, in her will dated 19 August 1775 and proved 3 November 1777, left him 3 3/4 silver dollars, stating that "the reason I give him no more is because I have lent him a few weeks since 9 silver dollars and a pistareen, which I now give him." Also named in the will were granddaughter Mary Case, daughter of Sanford Case, grandson Alexander Case, and granddaughter Hona [?Hannah] Smith (Exeter Probate 4:29-35).

In 1790 Sanford Case was listed at West Greenwich with a household consisting of three males over sixteen, two under, and three females. In 1800 the census showed only one male and one female.

Administration on the estate of Sanford Case was given to George Potter, Esq. 26 February 1803 and an inventory taken at West Greenwich 12 September (WG Probate 3:218). The administrator was instructed to sell a blacksmith's anvil belonging to the estate, and on 24 September the estate was declared insolvent (WG TC 4, unpaged).

Children, surname CASE, (first three births recorded South Kingstown VR; last two possibly by second wife):

i. ABIGAIL[5], b. 24 May 1745.

ii. HANNAH, b. 29 Aug. 1746.

iii. ALEXANDER, b. 19 Nov. 1747; probably either the Alexander Case listed in 1790 census at Stephentown, Albany County, N.Y. or that at Easton, Washington County, N.Y. The latter had four boys under 16 years and four females in his household.

iv. MARY, living 1777 when named in will of her grandmother.

24. MARTHA HAVENS[4], daughter of Margaret Huling [9] and her husband, William Havens, was born 22 December 1712 and died 25 September 1746 at Exeter. Her birthdate is found in records of Ray Greene Huling.

She married at North Kingstown 12 [Jan., Feb. or March] 1729/30 NICHOLAS GARDINER, son of Nicholas and Mary (Eldred) Gardiner. He was born 6 December 1710 at North Kingstown and died 6 June 1801 (Smith Almanacs) or 9 June 1801, "ae. 91" (obit. in Providence Gazette).

Nicholas married, second, Dorcas Gardiner, daughter of Ephraim and Penelope (Eldred) Gardiner, who was born 31 January 1713/4 at North Kingstown and died 23 March 1775 at Exeter. There were four children born to this marriage, recorded at Exeter:

James, 26 October 1750; Sylvester, 30 August 1752; Francis, 4 April 1755; and Dorcas, 12 March 1760.

Nicholas Gardiner was a Lt. Colonel in 1767. He lived at Exeter, where he was "a large landholder and the owner of many slaves" (NHR 2:308-309). The 1774 census shows fifteen blacks belonging to the household, and in 1790 there were seven.

In his will dated 11 May 1801 and probated 15 June 1801, Nicholas Gardiner of Exeter, advanced in age, left to son Nicholas "the farm he now lives on in Exeter ... purchased of John Gold 23 March 1747 ... 187 3/4 acres, including 20 acres already deeded to him" ... to grandson John Gardiner, son of son James, deceased, a farm in Exeter of about 140 acres, purchased 26 April 1764 of Benoni Hall; to son Francis a 50 acre farm in Exeter purchased of Thomas Gardiner in 1756; to grandson George, son of son William, deceased, 130 acres of westernmost end of the farm, with buildings. Daughter Dorcas Gardiner was to have the use of the dwelling house. To son Huling Gardiner he left the easternmost part of the farm, about 170 acres; to grandson Jesse, son of son William, deceased, about 2 acres, and to Jesse's brother William, his wearing apparel. Grandson Joseph Reynolds, son of daughter Mary Reynolds, received one milch cow, as did Gardiner Reynolds. To Daniel Champlin, son of daughter Elizabeth Champlin, deceased, he left one silver dollar. Daughter Martha Arnold, wife of Stephen Arnold, was left 20 silver dollars and daughter Ann Mory, wife of Samuel Mory, 50 silver dollars. To son Francis W. he left a feather bed. Granddaughter Martha Gardiner, daughter of Huling Gardiner, was left a high case of drawers that was her grandmother's, and daughter Dorcas Gardiner received a purse marked D G with gold in it and a cow, along with the residue of the furniture and moveables. Grandsons John and Gold Gardiner were mentioned, and grandson Silvester Gardiner, son of deceased son Silvester. All his securities were left to son Nicholas and grandson John. To Negro man Tom he left $20 and his freedom, and he freed also Pero, Tabitha, Lucinda, Dick and Rachel. Executors named were his son Nicholas and grandson John (Exeter Probate 6:283-287).

Children, surname GARDINER, (births recorded Exeter VR):

i. MARY[5], b. 22 Sept. 1732; m. at Exeter 8 Feb. 1759 Oliver Reynolds, son of Capt. John and Martha (Tibbits) Reynolds, b. 21 June 1739 at Exeter. In 1758 he was a 2nd Lieutenant in the 7th Company of R.I. Militia and in May 1760 he was admitted a freeman of Exeter (Ancestors and Descendants of William and Elizabeth Reynolds of North Kingstown, R.I., [1903]). In 1762 he served in Col. Rose's regiment (Chapin, p. 117). He may have been the Oliver Reynolds shown in the 1790 census at North Castletown, Westchester County, N.Y. and/or in Cayuga Co., N.Y. in 1800. According to the will of her father, they had children, surname Reynolds, Joseph[6] and Gardiner living in 1801.

72. ii. WILLIAM, b. 9 Sept. 1734; m. (1) Martha Reynolds, (2) Elizabeth ——.

iii. MARGARET, b. 13 June 1736; d. before 11 May 1801, probably without issue; m. at Exeter 6 April 1767 John Reynolds Jr.

73. iv. NICHOLAS, b. 2 March 1738; m. (1) Honor Brown; m. (2) Deborah Vincent; m. (3) Ruth Tillinghast.

25. ELIZABETH HAVENS[4], daughter of Margaret Huling [9] and her husband William Havens, was born 30 March 1715 (date from Ray Greene Huling Records, from Judge Brayton).

She married JAMES FONES, son of Samuel and Meribah (Smith) Fones, who was born 17 December 1706 and died 8 December 1777 (dates from Mrs. Beatrice Hunter). Samuel and Meribah Fones on 31 May 1710 sold land in Kingstown, it being "halfe of land my Father ... Smith of Kingstown deceased ...[rest burned]" (NK Deeds 1:13-14; RIGR 4:107).

Children, surname FONES, (probably others):

i. JOSEPH[5]; mentioned in will of William Fones, dated 1796 and probated 11 Feb. 1800 as "son of brother James" and named executor (NK Probate 14:118). Mrs. Hunter states that he married Sarah Tennant and had several children.

ii. JOHN, who as "son of James" enlisted in Col. Rose's regiment in 1762 (Chapin, p. 67).

26. ALEXANDER HAVENS[4], son of Margaret Huling [9] and her husband, William Havens, was born about 1719 and died probably in 1764 between February, when his daughter was married, and September, when his son's marriage record lists him as deceased.

According to the records of Ray Greene Huling, Alexander married MERCY STAFFORD, daughter of Joseph Stafford. If so, she was his step-sister. (The Gorton Genealogy states that this Mercy Stafford married John Waterman, but it seems probable that the wife of John Waterman was instead the Mercy Stafford, daughter of Thomas and Anne (Greene) Stafford, born at Warwick in 1714/5.) Mercy, daughter of Joseph and Susannah (Gorton) Stafford, was born 2 June 1717 at Warwick.

Alexander Havens was admitted a freeman at North Kingstown 22 March 1742.

Children, surname HAVENS, (births recorded North Kingstown VR):

78. i. WILLIAM[5], b. 14 Oct. 1743; m. Deliverance Stafford.

79. ii. SUSANNAH, b. 16 Nov. 1745; m. Fones Rice.

27. ALEXANDER NICHOLS[4], son of Elizabeth Huling [10] and her husband James Nichols, was born 28 January 1717/8 at East Greenwich, R.I. and died there between 16 August 1784, when he made his will, and 26 April 1788, when it was proved.

Alexander, of East Greenwich, and MERCY SPENCER were married at North Kingstown, 13 July [probably 1740], by Thomas Hill, Justice of the Peace. Mercy was the daughter of William[2] Spencer (John[1]) and his wife Elizabeth (?Jenkins), born 20, 6th month 1707 (Friends Records). William Spencer mentioned his grandson William Nichols in his will recorded 25 October 1748. Much of that will is burned and broken (NK Probate 8:198-202).

Alexander was married, second, to SARAH (GARDINER) GOULD of Exeter, at Exeter, 29 January 1743/4, by Benoni Hall, Justice. Sarah was born at Exeter 5 May 1716, the daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth (Davis) Gardiner, and died 20 March 1752 at East Greenwich. She had first married John Gould, son of John and Elizabeth (Gardiner) Gould, born about 1707, and they had children, Sarah, Elizabeth, and Ann, recorded without dates at South Kingstown. John Gould's will was probated 9 June 1741, but the date of the will is burned away; it mentions a child with which his wife was then pregnant (NK Probate 7:187-189). Isaac Gardiner, grandfather to Sarah and Ann Gould, was appointed their guardian and another granddaughter, Elizabeth, chose him for her guardian (Exeter TC 1 [1743-1756], p. 138).

Alexander Nichols' third wife, was evidently SARAH BROWNING, the daughter of Samuel and Mary Browning, born at North Kingstown 11 September [torn] and sister of Isaac Browning. She died probably in early 1800.

In his will dated 16 August 1784 and probated 26 April 1788, Alexander Nichols named his wife Sarah and gave the homestead farm to his three sons, John, James and Isaac. He left the farm in North Kingstown, where son Isaac then lived, to sons William and Silas, and daughter Sarah Vaughan, wife of Samuel Vaughan, mentioning two sons of Sarah Vaughan, William Nichols and Alexander Vaughan. He gave twenty acres in Warwick to son James and grandson William Nichols, son of daughter Sarah Vaughan; a lot to son William, tools to three sons John, James and Isaac; mentioned his five sons and one daughter, and left to grandson William Nichols his wearing apparel, one milk cow, his gun or fowling piece and writing desk. He directed that William be brought up and have suitable schooling (EG Probate 4:86,90).

Sarah Nichols, of East Greenwich, signed her will 26 January 1791 and it was recorded 15 April 1800 at South Kingstown. In it she named her sister Mercy Albro, wife of Benoni Albro, her daughter Sarah Vaughn, wife of Samuel Vaughn, her cousin Sarah Tripp, wife of Benjamin Tripp, and nieces Sarah and Abigail Browning, daughters of "my brother Isaac Browning." The will was witnessed by George Taft, Samuel Wall, Jr., and Ebenezer Spencer (South Kingstown Probate 1:44,45).

Children, surname NICHOLS,
(births recorded East Greenwich VR),

(by first wife, Mary Spencer):

i. WILLIAM[5], b. 14 July 1741; living 1784. William, of East Greenwich, and Susanna Barker, daughter of Francis and Sarah (Palmer) Barker, of Charlotte Precinct, N.Y., published their marriage intentions 19 March 1767 and were married 23 April 1767 (Friends Records, Oblong and Nine Partners, N.Y.). Francis Barker was living in Charlotte Precinct in 1770, where he had a shop, and was an overseer of roads there in 1776 and 1777; in 1791 he was living in the town of Clinton (Dutchess County Historical Society Collections, VII).

William and Susanna Nichols may have been the parents of Caleb Nichols, a sadler of Salem, Washington County, N.Y. in 1794 when he deeded to William Nichols of North Kingstown property given him by his grandfather Alexander Nichols. William was named in the 1746 will of his grandfather James Nichols (EG Probate 1:223-6) and also in the will of his grandfather William Spencer, dated 25 Oct. 1748, who left him £10 (NK Probate 8:198-202).

(by second wife, Sarah Gardiner):

80. ii. JOHN, b. 4 Oct. 1744; m. Rachel Day.

81. iii. JAMES, b. 22 Oct. 1746; m. Hannah Pearce.

82. iv. ISAAC, b. 29 Sept. 1748; m. Anna Boone.

v. SILAS, b. 28 June 1750; living 1784. Silas, [son] of Alexander, and Ruth Underwood, daughter of John, of North Kingstown, were married at East Greenwich 28 March 1776, by H. Cooke, Justice. Her birth is not recorded in VR of North Kingstown nor of Kent County. He may be the Silas Nicholas in 1790 at Kingsbury Town, Washington County, N.Y., with three males over 16, four males under 16, and two females.

83. vi. SARAH, b. 20 March 1752 (N.S.); m. Samuel Vaughan.

(by third wife, Sarah Browning):

vii. Son, d. probably in infancy.

viii. SAMUEL, b. at East Greenwich, 25 May 1758, "7th son of Alexander and 2nd son by Sarah, on the fifth day of the week after 5 p.m." He probably predeceased his father, who did not mention him in his will.

28. MARY NICHOLS[4], daughter of Elizabeth Huling [10] and her husband James Nichols, was born 9 September 1719 at East Greenwich, recorded as Mercy Nichols. Mary, wife of James Greene, died 5 April 1811 (Maple Root Church of Coventry, Arnold 10:256).

Mary Nichols, of James, of East Greenwich, and JAMES GREENE, of John, of Warwick, were married the 5d 2m [5 April] 1739 (Narragansett Friends Records, Arnold 7:135). James was born at Warwick 14 March 1712/3 (Arnold 1:169) or 19 1st month 1713 (Narragansett Friends Records, Arnold 7:147), son of John[3] Greene (James[2], John[1] of Warwick) and his wife Mary Allen, daughter of Increase Allen, of Dartmouth, Mass. (NHR 2:253; Arnold 1:1:51). Record of James' death has not been found.

Children, surname GREENE, (all born Coventry; first four recorded there as of James and Mary):

84. i. INCREASE[5], b. 30 Aug. 1740; m. Comfort Weaver.

85. ii. THOMAS, b. 24 March 1743/4; m. Sarah Corey.

86. iii. JEDEDIAH, b. 13 April 1747; m. Waite Bates.

87. iv. JONATHAN, b. 20 Feb. 1748; m. Lydia Nichols.

88. v. CALEB, b. ca. 1753; m. Elizabeth Moon.

vi. ELIZABETH; m. —— Brayton (Aylsworth Gen. p. 482).

29. ELIZABETH NICHOLS[4], daughter of Elizabeth Huling [10] and her husband James Nichols, was born 9 June 1721 at East Greenwich, R.I. Record of her death has not been found.

Elizabeth and THOMAS COGGESHALL, son of Joshua, deceased, were married at East Greenwich, 6 January 1736, by Thomas Spencer, Justice. Thomas was born at East Greenwich, 6 June 1719, son of Joshua and Mary, and twin to Mary.

The Coggeshalls in America (1930) is apparently in error in stating that the wife of Joshua Coggeshall was Mary or Mercy Freeborn. Proof that she was Mary or Mercy Nichols is found in a 1727 guardianship record in East Greenwich Town Council Book 1715-1729, p. 52, whereby Thomas Nichols, "grandfather to Mary Coggeshall orphin to Joshua Coggeshall" was appointed her guardian (information from Mrs. Chester A. Rice).

Children, surname COGGESHALL,
(births recorded East Greenwich VR):

i. ALMY[5], b. 7 Feb. 1740, d. at East Greenwich. Almy, of Thomas, and Jeremiah Straight, of Samuel, dec'd, were married at East Greenwich 12 November 1767, by William Spencer, Justice. He was probably the son of Samuel and Sarah Straight born at East Greenwich 3 April 1736. No children were recorded at East Greenwich. Jeremiah is not listed in the 1790 census in Rhode Island or New York.

ii. RUTH, b. 23 Dec. 1741.

iii. JOSHUA, b. 21 Nov. 1743.

89. iv. THOMAS, b. 24 Aug. 1746; m. Dorcas Briggs.

vii. MERCY, b. 10 Jan. 1755. Mercy, of Thomas, and John Davis, of William, were m. at East Greenwich 23 April 1776, by Allen Johnson, Justice. He was possibly the son of William and Rachel (Dolliver) Davis, who were m. at East Greenwich in 1732. His birth was not recorded in East or West Greenwich. No children were recorded in either town.

viii. ELIZABETH, b. 18 April 1758.

ix. CALEB, b. 17 Aug. 1760.

30. THOMAS NICHOLS[4], son of Elizabeth Huling [10] and her husband James Nichols, was born 4 June 1723 at East Greenwich, R.I. and died in 1784.

Thomas and WELTHAN (SPENCER) GORTON, widow, were married at East Greenwich, 11 October 1747, by Samuel Soule, Justice. Welthan (Wealthian or Welthian) was the daughter of John and Mary (Fry) Spencer, and was born in East Greenwich 16 February 1718/19 and died 18 December 1764. Thomas Fry, who died in his 85th year, bequeathed to his granddaughter Welthan Gorton the "silver porringer intended for her mother, Mary Spencer, deceased," in his will of 1746 (EG Probate 1:336-340; RIGR 1:90). John Spencer's will of 1774 mentions his daughter Welthan Nichols and his grandson Samuel Gorton (EG Probate 3:165-170; RIGR 1:140).

Welthan and Samuel Gorton, son of Samuel and Elizabeth (Greene) Gorton, were married at East Greenwich, 1 March 1740, and had two children born there: Mary, 24 May 1741, and Samuel, 5 July 1743.

Thomas Nichols was admitted a freeman of East Greenwich in 1748. He is listed in the D.A.R. Patriots Index as having served as a private in the Revolution.

Children, surname NICHOLS, (first seven births recorded East Greenwich VR; last two Warwick VR):

91. i. ELIZABETH[5], "eldest daughter," b. 27 Jan. 1747, 4th day of the week, between 8 and 9 at night; m. Christopher Nichols.

31. DEBORAH NICHOLS[4], daughter of Elizabeth Huling [10] and her husband James Nichols, was born 3 June 1725 at East Greenwich, R.I., and died there between 2 January 1790 and 11 July 1793, the widow of Samuel Phillips.

Deborah was married, first, at East Greenwich, 11 March 1740, by Nathan Rice, Justice, to JOSEPH[3] SPENCER, son of Peleg[2] (John[1]) and Elizabeth (Coggeshall) Spencer. Joseph was born 11 June 1719 at East Greenwich and died there 3 April 1749.

In his will dated 16 January 1749 and probated 10 April 1750, Joseph Spencer left to his wife Deborah all the goods she had brought with her from her father James Nichols's, as well as part of the dwelling and land. To son Joshua he left the dwelling house and lot "where I now dwell in East Greenwich" and other property, to be his at age 21. Property in West Greenwich was to be sold and the money given to son Peleg Spencer when he reached 21 years. To daughter Margaret Spencer, who was under 18, he left certain household items, and to son James Spencer £20 at age 21 (EG Probate 2:3-6).

Margaret, daughter of Joseph Spencer, deceased, "orphan," on 5 June 1756 appeared before the East Greenwich town council and chose her uncle Peleg Spencer of Coventry as her guardian (EG TC 1752-1784).

Deborah married, second, 1 January 1771, as his second wife, SAMUEL PHILLIPS, widower of Abigail Brown, (No. 18, q.v.). Arnold transcribed the marriage record as Deborah, daughter of Joseph Spencer, but the original, East Greenwich Vital Records Book 2, page 43, clearly reads widow. The reference to Margaret as an orphan in 1756 was probably a legal formality and should not be taken literally to mean that her mother as well as her father was deceased.

Administration on the estate of Deborah, widow of Samuel Phillips was given to "her son" Nicholas Spink on 25 May 1795. Explanation for this relationship has not been discovered.

Children, surname SPENCER,
(not recorded in VR; probably all born East Greenwich):

93. i. JOSHUA[5], b. late 1740 or 1741; m. Sarah Greene.

ii. MARGARET, b. probably ca. 1742, d. after 1797. She m. (1) at East Greenwich, 24 May 1761, Thomas Greene of West Greenwich, by Thomas Shippee, Justice. Thomas d. before 7 April 1794, when his inventory was taken by Samuel Hopkins and Thomas Whitford; it was presented 26 May 1794 by his widow Margaret, administratrix. On 20 Aug. 1792 Thomas Greene "desired to have benefit of the securities that were given to the town on account of a bastard child his daughter Deborah laid to James Montgomery." This was approved by the town council, providing he support the said child and the child of his daughter Margaret likewise. On 27 Feb. 1797 Margaret Greene was granted money by the town council for support of the bastard child of her daughter Sarah. Daughter Margaret m. at West Greenwich, 3 May 1795, Rufus Kettelle, son of Edward (data from Violet E. Kettelle).

iii. JAMES, b. probably between 1744 and 1747.

iv. PELEG, b. before 17 Jan. 1749.

32. CATHERINE[4] NICHOLS, probable daughter of Catherine Huling [11] and her husband, David Nichols, was born perhaps about 1735.

She married at North Kingstown, probably in 1755, RHODES HAVENS, eldest son of Thomas[3] Havens (Thomas[2], William[1]). He was a brother of Mary Havens, who married, first, John Allen and, second, Alexander Huling. Thomas Havens in his will dated 1761 named his eldest son Rhoads, his sons William and James, and his daughters Abigail Taber and Mary Havens (NK Probate 9:204-206).

Rhodes was born about 1731 and died 3 or 8 October 1767 at Newport, aged 36; he was captain of the sloop Dolphin and fell overboard and drowned (Providence Gazette, Arnold 13:470; Ezra Stiles' Mortality Record, Arnold 8:433).

Child, surname HAVENS, (perhaps others):

94. i. CATHARINE[5], b. 11 Dec. 1758 Newport; m. William Aylsworth.

33. HONOUR[4] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born 28 September 1729 at North Kingstown, R.I., and died at or soon after the birth of her fourteenth child, 24 May 1773.

She married at North Kingstown in March 1751 JABEZ CHADSEY, son of William and Susannah (Greene) Chadsey, who was born in April 1720, probably at his father's "residence at Sand Hill in North Kingstown four miles south of East Greenwich." He lived to be nearly 100 years old, dying 31 December 1819, and was buried 1 January 1820 in the family burial ground called Goshen (The Greenes of Rhode Island, p. 124).

Jabez Chadsey married, second, at North Kingstown 1 September 1774, widow Mary (Goddard) (Greene) Corey of West Greenwich, daughter of Ebenezer Goddard of North Kingstown and widow of Jeremiah Greene and John Corey, Jr. After her death, he married, third, at North Kingstown 21 March 1792, Martha (Spencer) Grieves, granddaughter of Benjamin Spencer and widow of Archibald Grieves (see Cole's History of Washington and Kent Counties [1889], p. 386).

In his old age Jabez evidently required a guardian. Sirket Chadsey was appointed 13 December 1813 and John Chadsey in 1818 (NK Probate 19:155; 21:126).

Children, surname CHADSEY,
(births recorded North Kingstown VR):

95. i. JOHN[5], b. 16 Dec. 1751; m. Alice Peirce.

96. ii. JABEZ, b. 31 Jan. 1754; m. Hannah Greene.

97. iv. TABITHA, b. 20 June 1756; m. George Tennant.

v. Child, b. 7 June 1757, d. infancy.

98. vi. JOSEPH, b. 20 Aug. 1758; m. Phebe Northrup.

100. x. ROWLAND, b. 3 Feb. 17[66]; m. (1) Mary (Patty) Pearce, (2) Mary Tourgee.

101. xii. SIRKET, b. 23 Aug. 17[68]; m. Rachel Aylesworth.

xiii. Child, b. 27 Jan. 1769, d. infancy.

xiv. Child, b. 24 May 1773, d. infancy.

34. JOHN[4] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born 14 May 1731 at North Kingstown, R.I. and died, probably in Dutchess County, N.Y., before 16 April 1788 when his wife Susannah was called widow.

Family tradition has maintained that his wife Susannah was born either a Jenkins or a Raymond. Although the marriage record has not been found, his wife was almost certainly SUSANNAH JENKINS, daughter of Jedediah and Hannah (Long) Jenkins, whose birth on 8 April 1733, first day of the week, at 4 a.m. was recorded at East Greenwich, R.I. Nothing has been found to support the Raymond claim, but Jenkins is indicated by considerable circumstantial evidence. Susanna[h] Huling was a Quaker, as had been the Jenkins family for several generations. (See Narragansett Historical Register 5:151f, reprinted Rhode Island Families 1:564-579.) The births of six sons and two daughters to Jedediah and Hannah Jenkins were recorded in East Greenwich Vital Records, and at least five of the sons were later in Dutchess County, N.Y. Jedediah, John and Jonathan Jenkins signed the Association at Beekman, N.Y. in 1775, as did John Huling (see below); another brother, Philip, was accused of a breach of peace in Dutchess County in 1789 (Dutchess Co. Ancient Document 12435). Susannah died after 4 December 1788, when she was present at the Quaker marriage of her daughter in Hudson, N.Y.

John Huling was made a freeman of North Kingstown 17 April 1754. He had moved to Beekman Town, Dutchess County, N.Y. before February 1761, when he was taxed there (Dutchess County Tax List, Clifford M. Buck, p. 37). He signed the Association in Beekman Precinct of Dutchess County in July 1775 (Calendar of Historical Manuscripts relating to the War of the Revolution in the office of the Secretary of State, Albany, N.Y. [1868] 1:72).

On 16 April 1788, Susannah Hulsing [sic], widow, was given clearance by the Nine Partners Monthly Meeting of Friends to move to Hudson, N.Y. She signed her name "Susanna Huling" on her daughter's Quaker marriage certificate dated 4, 12th month 1788; she and Honour were "of the Clove" at that time (Register of Marriage and Removal Certificates of Creek Monthly Meeting, 1787-1802, Haviland Records Room shelf no. 2C12/ C8 42).

Children, surname HULING, (probably all born Beekman, N.Y.):

102. i. HONOUR[5], b. 11 March 1761; m. (1) Reed Ferris, (2) Daniel Stephenson.

103. ii. JOHN, b. 10 April 1762; m. (1) Theodosia Randall, (2) Charity Eighmy.

iii. ALEXANDER; d. unmarried (information from old family chart, probably the family tree made in 1864 by Beekman Huling, referred to in a letter from Ray Greene Huling, 11 Nov. 1898).

104. iv. SUSAN(NAH), b. ca. 1766; m. (1) — Pease, (2) Jesse Matthews.

v. LIZZIE; m. — Bunker at Hudson, N.Y. (ibid.).

35. MARGARET[4] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born 13 May 1733 at North Kingstown, R.I., and died 1 November 1784 at Newport, the wife of Audley Clarke (Newport Mercury obituary).

Margaret and AUDLEY CLARKE were married at Newport 7 February 1760 by Rev. Gardiner Thurston. Her name was incorrectly transcribed by Arnold as Margaret "Howland". Audley, who must have been born about 1730 and who died after 1784, was possibly the grandson of Henry[3] Clarke (Jeremiah[2], Jeremiah[1]) and his wife Judith Peckham. George Austin Morrison, Jr., in his Clarke Genealogies: The Clarke Families of Rhode Island (1902), page 224, places him as the son of Henry, but this is most unlikely since Henry was born in 1661. He was not the Capt. Audley, mariner, who married Ann Carr in 1762 and whose line has been well established. Marriages in the latter family were by Rev. Ezra Stiles, while those in the family of Audley and Margaret (Huling) Clarke were by Rev. Gardiner Thurston.

Children, surname CLARKE,
(birthdates from Clarke Genealogy; probably all b. Newport):

i. HENRY[5], b. 19 Oct. 1760; possibly the Henry who m. Nabby Tayer 31 May 1795 at Newport. The 1800 census lists a Henry Clarke in Newport County with two males and two females; in 1810 he was listed in the town of Newport.

ii. OLIVE, b. 26 March 1763; prob. the "Olly" who married Joseph Brown 3 June 1789 at Newport.

105. iii. ELIZABETH (Betsy), b. 28 July 1765; m. William Britton.

iv. SARAH, b. 29 July 176-; m. (1) 27 Oct. 1795 John Phillips; said to have m. (2) — Chase.

36. ELIZABETH[4] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born 24 September 1735 at North Kingstown, R.I.

She married BENJAMIN DIMOND 17 April 1760 at North Kingstown as his second wife. He had married, first, Abigail Tourgee at North Kingstown 27 September 1753.

This may be the Elizabeth Dimond who was baptized at the First Baptist Church, North Kingstown, 21 October 1801 (Arnold, 8:603).

According to the notes of Ray Greene Huling, Benjamin and Elizabeth had children John and Benjamin and two others who died in a sandhole.

Children, surname DIMOND,
(first three births recorded North Kingstown VR):

i. BENJAMIN[5], b. 19 April 1760.

ii. ABIGAIL, b. 6 Dec. ——; possibly one of the children who died in the sandhole.

106. iii. JOHN, b. 24 Sept. 17—; m. (1) Eunice Aylesworth, (2) Elizabeth Aylesworth.

iv. Child who d. in a sandhole.

37. ALEXANDER[4] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born 29 January 1737/8 at North Kingstown, R.I. and died 31 May 1816 in his 79th year. Captain Alexander Huling was buried in the Center Shaftsbury Cemetery, Shaftsbury, Vermont (Gravestone Records of Shaftsbury, Vt., copied 1908-10 by Levi Henry Elwell, p. 32).

His first marriage was to his first cousin-once-removed, SUSANNAH BROWN, (no. 21-iii), daughter of Ebenezer and Mary (Congdon) Brown. They were married before 9 April 1762, when as Susannah Huling she gave a receipt for a legacy by the will of her grandfather, Benjamin Congdon, dated 15 January 1756, to her father Ebenezer Brown (NK Probate 11A:65). She died in 1773.

Alexander was married, second, at North Kingstown 31 March 1777, by Elder Phillip Jenkins, to MARY (HAVENS) ALLEN, daughter of Thomas Havens and widow of his first cousin once-removed, John Allen [43], who had died 11 May 1772.

At a town meeting in (?June) 1777, Alexander Huling, son of Alexander, was ordered sent to jail for failing to give bonds on the estate of John Allen, [he] having married the widow Mary, the administratrix (NK records copied by Ray Greene Huling before the 1870 fire). The will of Mary's father, Thomas Havens, made in 1761, named his eldest son Rhoads, his sons James and William, and his daughters Abigail Taber and Mary Havens (NK Probate 9:204).

Mary survived her second husband and was buried beside him. She died 17 June 1818, in her 77th year, "in a fit of apoplexy while making up a bed."

Alexander Huling is described in a letter dated 1878, addressed to Ray Greene Huling and written by Edward Huling for his father, George M. Huling. It reads, in part, as follows:

> My father says his first remembrance of Capt. Alex Huling was about the year 1810 or 12 (when) he was living in Shaftsbury, Vt. ... Capt. Alex soon became a cripple after I remember him but with all his suffering ... he had a remarkable facility for relating anecdotes and experiences of his early life. He first served as a private soldier in the French war under Johnson. We then find him engaged in the same war as captain of a privateer. One anecdote of the cruise I clearly remember: He says he was cruising off the coast of New England; he being a man of clear eyesight was the first to discover a speck on the water. After sailing in the direction indicated a few hours the rest of the crew were able to discern it; they put on all the sail and made for it when they soon found out it was a large French man-of-war. He told his officers they had better give up the chase as he thought she carried too many guns for them. When they intimated a want of courage on his part; he then resolved to test their own courage, let the result be what it might. Keeping after the stranger, who made no effort to get out of the way, they soon came near enough to convince the whole crew she was too strong for them and they all admitted their inability to cope with them. The captain replied that they were so anxious to get a taste of the enemy's gunpowder that they should now have an opportunity. They sailed close enough to give the Frigate a broadside and receiving one themselves in turn they concluded to change their course and being faster sailer than their enemy they soon got out of her reach but not without loss of life, as one of the enemy's cannon balls passed through the kitchen breaking a stone jar and cut a Negro cook in two parts. Afterward they were taken by a large French frigate and made prisoner of war. He lost all his property...he remained prisoner but a short time when he was exchanged. After peace was declared he engaged in the service of sailing a ship for John Brown of Providence, R.I. He made several successful voyages to the West Indies, New Orleans, and other parts. (He) was engaged in Brown's service several years, but when on a homeward trip from the Indies, he experienced such terrific seas off Cape Hatteras that he expected every moment the ship would be lost. He then resolved if he ever reached port he would forever quit sailing: he kept his promise....

Another incident happened when he was sailing which perhaps would be worth mentioning, when out at sea he picked up a crew of 6 or 7 sailors in an open boat whose vessel had been struck with lightening; they were nearly famished; he kindly took good care of them. They being French, fortunately he fell in with a French ship within a few days who received them and took them home in safety. Capt. Alex. being short of provisions, the French captain supplied him freely.

Capt. Alex. was a man of good habits but he would have his quart of rum every week, a habit he got accustomed to when at sea. My father frequently got it for him when a boy. (He was) honest and upright in his deal; a man of small stature but a compact and wirey frame...his widow died in a fit of apoplexy while making up a bed. She was a woman of remarkable good attainments and a firm believer in the Christian religion.

Alexander Huling was master of the sloop Lucinda in 1776. Maritime manuscripts of "Outward and Inward Entries (Providence), 1776-1787," page 42, in the Rhode Island Archives, list the arrival on 25 June 1776 of the sloop Lucinda, owned by John Brown, Alexander Huling, master, from New York; she was carrying about 100 barrels of flour and two tons of Barr Iron.

He moved to Vermont, and according to family tradition arrived at Bennington 16 August 1777, the day of the Battle of Bennington, in which he and his son John participated as volunteers. He later served nine days in Capt. Jonas Galusha's Company in October 1780 (State of Vermont Revolutionary War Rolls, p. 248).

When Alexander was 21 years old in 1759, he received fifty acres with a house from his father. In July 1764 Alexander Huling, gentleman, bought land from Alexander Huling, son of James, [his first cousin]. He sold fifty acres to Stephen Ayrault of Newport on 20 August 1766. (NK Deeds 11A:87; 11B:94; 12A:1).

In November 1764, James Gardiner of North Kingstown sued Alexander Huling 3rd, of North Kingstown, then residing in Newport, in an action of debt in the amount of £255:12 Old Tenor (R.I. Archives 13:2:70).

In January 1768, called an innholder, Alexander Huling 3rd bought a lot in Wickford from Martha Updike (NK Deeds 12A:135). "Alexand^{r} Huling ye 3^{d} (was) admitted free of this Town" at a Town Council meeting in North Kingstown in April 1768 (TC 1:422). On 11 June 1768 he sold property to Ebenezer Brown. In December 1770 he bought a house and land from Ebenezer Brown and sold it to Nathan Brown on 14 November 1780, calling himself "Alexander Huling Jr., late of North Kingstown in Kings Co., yeoman, but now of Shafts Burry, Vt." Mary, wife of Alexander, quitclaimed her right in the property 4 February 1781 (NK Deeds 12B:115,141; 13B:192; 14A:2).

Alexander received a grant of land in Williamstown Township, Orange County, Vt. 9 August 1781 (State Papers of Vt. 2:226). As Alexander Huling Jr. he bought land in Shaftsbury, Vt. from James Charter in 1784. As Alexander Huling of Shaftsbury, he bought 14 acres on 31 October 1794 and 50 acres on 21 October 1799 (Shaftsbury Deeds 2:126; 3:270; 4:191). According to Ordinary Heroes—The Story of Shaftsbury, page 64, he was selected a fence viewer in Shaftsbury 23 March 1794.

Another portion of the 1878 letter quoted at length above describes what happened to the family in 1803 thus:

> Capt. Alex gave his first four sons 80 acres each of land in the town of Williamstown, Vt. They all moved on it; Rhodes, my father, being the only married man. Alexander went to nurse a man from Boston sick with malignant fever; the man died. He was taken with the same disease and died; the rest all had the disease excepting George who was away at the time. My father Rhodes died with the same disease. Uncle Daniel and my mother lived through it. Afterwards they all sold out and returned to Shaftsbury, Vt.

On 24 March 1804 he sold 185 acres, including "the farm on which I now live" to Daniel Huling and in return received a life lease for himself and his wife Mary for an annual rent of 6 cents payable the first day of April. This deed and lease were witnessed by Paul and George Huling (Shaftsbury Deeds 5:100,101).

Children, surname HULING,
(third through sixth probably b. Shaftsbury),

(by first wife, Susannah Brown):

107. i. JOHN[5], b. Oct. 1764 North Kingstown; m. Lydia Allen.

(by second wife, Mary Havens; from Bible record):

108. ii. RHODES, b. 8 Sept. 1777, possibly Shaftsbury; m. Hannah Myers.

iii. ALEXANDER, b. 8 Sept. 1780, d. 21 Oct. 1803 of malignant fever.

109. iv. DANIEL, b. 18 Aug. 1782; m. Henrietta Vaughan.

v. GEORGE, b. 28 Nov. 1784; said to have d. 1824 or 1834; m. Sallie West or Sally Tefft, b. ca. 1783. She is said to have m. (2) Daniel Huling, but this compiler has been unable to verify this or to find any possible Daniel. A letter from his nephew George, dictated to Edward Huling and sent to Ray Greene Huling in 1878, states: "Uncle George spent much of his time traveling. He got the first patent for a circular saw. He next preached in Raleigh, N.C. on a salary of $1500 a year; he got the yellow fever, come near dying, but he was saved by a kind nursing of a planter and his family. He returned after an absence of 7 or 8 years; stayed a year or so and then went to Illinois. We received one or two letters from him there and that was the last we heard of him. He was a man of good abilities."

vi. PAUL, b. 28 March 1786, d. 7 Aug. 1811 Portland, Me. The 1878 letter states that "Uncle Paul studied law but never practiced his profession. He travelled selling George's patent rights."

38. VIRTUE[4] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born at North Kingstown 1740/1 and died there 7 January 1817 (date from gravestone). She was buried in the Old Baptist Cemetery at the church between Davisville and Wickford Junction, North Kingstown (Briggs Collection, RIHS, C43:No. 150). Her slab style monument, (set horizontally above the ground), reads:

In Memory of Virtue, wife of Mr. Daniel Chase of Exeter and dau. of Alexander and Elizabeth Huling, who d. Jany 7, 1817, ae. 76y. A worthy member of the First Baptist Church in North Kingstown above 40 yrs. Also in memory of her brothers and sisters John Alexander, Walter, Honour, Margaret, Elizabeth, Catherine, Martha & Abigail Virtue married PELEG SHERMAN at North Kingstown 25 December 175[8], by James Fones, Justice. Peleg, the son of Eber and Margaret (Eldred) Sherman of Exeter, was born at North Kingstown 9 November 17[38]. There were no children of this marriage.

Virtue's second husband was DANIEL CHASE, son of James and Alice (Anthony) Chase. He is said to have been born at Portsmouth or Middletown, R.I. in 1740. He died 14 September 1813 in his 73rd year and was buried in the Chase Cemetery on the Chase Farm. Daniel was the reputed father of Hannah (or Henrietta), whose mother was Catherine Huling, sister of his wife Virtue; the girl was evidently brought up in her father's home.

Virtue Chace joined the Six Principle Baptist Church of North Kingstown on or after 31 March 1770 (Arnold 10:287). Daniel Chase was admitted freeman of Exeter 26 August 1788. The 1790 census lists his household with one male over 16 years and two females.

The will of Daniel Chase, yeoman, dated 22 April 1800 and probated 23 September 1813, left to his wife Virtue Chase the improvements and profits of the homestead property, which was partly in Exeter and partly in West Greenwich, about 95 acres with house and other buildings, as well as certain personal property. To "my friend" Hannah M. Whitman, wife of George, (she is called Henrietta elsewhere in the will), he left about 30 acres of land in Exeter bought of Samuel Spencer; he named her children, Daniel Chase Whitman, Huling Whitman, Alice Chase Whitman, Virtue Whitman, Samuel Whitman, John Whitman, and Mary Whitman (Exeter Probate 8:133-137).

Virtue Chase, widow of Exeter, signed her mark to her will dated 28 January 1816; it was probated 11 January 1817 (Exeter Probate 9:68-69, 71).

Virtue appointed George Chadsey executor of her will, ordering him "faithfully to Inter my Body in a Decent Christian like manner" and to deposit money to bring interest of six dollars with the advice of Elder John Gardiner, whom she appointed to assist in settling her worldly affairs. The inventory noted a gold necklace of 64 beads (Exeter Probate 9: 75-77).

Child, surname CHASE, (born at North Kingstown; see note above and also No. 39, Catherine Huling, below):

110. i. HANNAH HULING ABBIE[5], b. 14 Dec. 1769; m. George Whitman.

39. CATHERINE[4] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born 28 May 1743 at North Kingstown, R.I. Called "Catherina Hulen of Rhode Island", she married JOHN MONTGOMERY 17 January 1779 (records of Dutch Reformed Church of Fishkill, N.Y.; typescript at Fonda, p. 173). She was the mother of the child recorded in North Kingstown records as Heneritta Huling, later called Hannah Huling Abbie Chase, brought up by Catherine's sister Virtue, whose second husband, Daniel Chase, was the child's reputed father. See above, Virtue Huling [38].

40. WALTON[4] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [12] and his wife Elizabeth Spink, was born 8 February 1745 at North Kingstown and died 5 October 1823, ae. 79. He and his wife are buried in the Salisbury Cemetery, in the Crow Hill section of the town of Stillwater, Saratoga County, N.Y. (Cornelius F. Durkee Cemetery Records).

He married, probably in Dutchess County, N.Y. about 1767, ABIAH MOSHER, who was probably the daughter of David and Mehitabel (Allen) Mosher. David Mosher was on tax lists in Beekman from February 1753 to June 1766 and 1770 to 1772 (Dutchess Co. Tax Lists, Clifford M. Buck, p. 43).

Walton probably spent his early life in North Kingstown, his middle years in Dutchess County, N.Y., and his later years in Saratoga County, N.Y. The first record of him in Dutchess County is in July 1775, when he signed the Association in Beekman Precinct (Calendar of Historical Manuscripts relating to the War of the Revolution in the office of the Secretary of State, Albany, N.Y. [1868], 1:72). His earmark for cattle was recorded 15 January 1776 in the Town Record Book of Beekman Town, Dutchess County, N.Y., page 126: "Woltton Hulin's Mark a crop on the right Ear, a hole in the same & a half crop in under side of the Left Ear."

He served as a private in the Dutchess County militia and also in a regiment of Minutemen in the militia. He received land bounty rights for service in the 5th Regiment (New York in the Revolution, pp. 240, 389, 1551.) He was lieutenant in the No. 1 Company of Dutchess County in 1786, quartermaster of Van de Brugh's Regiment in 1787, and listed again in 1787, all as Walton Hulen (Council of Appointment, pp. 88, 128, 129). In the New York State Archives is the following receipt:

> 1 July 1781, State of New York to Walter Hulin 41/6/5 "For my Time and Expences in Collecting and conduct Cattle to the Army as p certificates from Henrick Wynkoop U.S. Agent and Sworn to by said Hulin -- Audited 28th May 1790" signed "Walton Huling."

Walton Hulin was taxed on a farm in the town of Beekman, N.Y. in 1777 and was taxed as Walton Huland 1774-1778 (Dutchess County Tax Lists, Clifford M. Buck, p. 37). As Walter Hulen he made a narration (declaration) in Poughkeepsie Precinct in 1784 (Dutchess County Ancient Documents, File 10905). Walton Hulin was a constable for the town of Beekman 1781-1784. "Wolton" Hulin was elected an assessor in 1785 and again 4 April 1786 (Beekman town records, pp. 29,31).

Walton Huling, of Beekman Town, on 15 October 1794 bought property for £411 from Gilbert R. and Martha Livingston, it being "in the E part of lott Number twenty two begining at the south East corner of Johannes Emighs farm then West along his farm to his S.W. corner then Northerly along his land to the division line of said lott then West to the fishkill then southerly as the Creek runs to the southerly line of said lott N^{O} 22 ... containing by Estimation One hundred & sixty six Acres" (Dutchess Co. Deeds 13:81).

He was listed at Beekman in the 1790 census, with a household consisting of two males over 16, eight males under 16, and four females. He probably went to the part of Saratoga County which is now in the town of Malta, (formed 1802), which was then the town of Stillwater. He bought 40 acres and half of a gristmill in Stillwater 14 January 1796, at which time he was recorded as "Wattin Hulin of town of Bateman co. of Dutchess." He was called Walton Hulin of Stillwater when he purchased more property on 29 March 1796. He bought further land 12 November 1796. All these deeds were recorded 10 January 1797 (Saratoga Co. Deeds, A:354,355,356,357).

Walton was listed as Walter Hulin in the 1800 census of Saratoga County, with three males under 10 years, three males between 10 and 16, one male between 16 and 26, and one male over 45, and a total of three females: one between 16 and 26, one between 26 and 45, and one over 45 years. This would indicate that Walton and Abiah, with two daughters, Betsey and Ruth, and seven sons lived together, and that six sons had already left home. Their daughter Virtue had already married.

Clerks recorded Walton Hulin(g)'s first and last names with many variations, but he himself dropped the final 'g' at some time after the receipt signed in 1781 and before writing his will in 1823. All of his sons chose to spell the name without the final 'g' except his son Alexander, who retained the name Huling, as have his descendants.

The will of Walton Hulin, of Malta, was dated 27 September 1823 and probated 20 August 1824. In it he named his wife Abiah, his daughter Virtue Coons, his son Walton, his daughter Elizabeth McDonald, his daughter Ruth Hulin, and his sons Alexander, James, John, David, Johnothan, Jacob, Henry, Rice, Peter, and Aaron. "To my son Aaron Hulin all my masonic implements, and hereby appoint him the said Aaron Hulin sole executor." (Saratoga Co. Wills 6:283).

Elder Freeman was a Revolutionary soldier and a sort of missionary conducting his ministry at private houses." This was probably the Ruth Huling who bought property in Shaftsbury, Vt. On 5 Dec. 1815 she paid $700. for a quarter acre from Noah Sage; on 28 March 1816, $350. for three-quarters of an acre and buildings from Jonathan Draper, and on 30 Dec. 1822, $500. for one acre and building from Henry Lane (Shaftsbury, Vt. In 1820 they were listed in the census at Malta, and their names appear on deeds in Malta in 1824 and 1827.

Mary d. intestate; administration was granted to Rice Hulin 25 May 1858 (Saratoga Co. Probate Box 046 No. 61; Adm. 3:359).

In his will dated 25 May 1858 at Saratoga, Rice Hulin named his brother Aaron Hulin, of Milton, Mich., and children of a deceased brother: Moses H. Hulin, of Brewers Mills, Canada West; Mary H. Lawrence, of Milton, Saratoga County; George H. Hulin, of Bloomfield, N.J.; and Henry Hulin of Niles, Mich. The will was probated 13 March 1865 and administration granted 8 May 1865 (Saratoga Co. Probate Box 069 No. 34; Adm. 20:541; 4:261). In 1861 he had been declared incompetent, aged 70 or upwards and of feeble health, with Mary H. Lawrence of the town of Milton his nearest relative living in the county; it was claimed that he had been loaning money to irresponsible people without security (Saratoga Co. Court of 12 July 1861, Box A124). There were no known children, and certainly none surviving.

120. xvi. PETER, b. 3 March 1792; m. Elizabeth Smith.

xvii. AARON, b. 6 March 1795, d. 14 Feb. 1881 at Berville, St. Clair Co., Mich. He m. at the home of John Harriman in Chesterfield, Mich., 30 Oct. 1843, Mrs. Elizabeth (———) Leonardson of Montgomery Co., N.Y. (Early Macomb Co., Mich. Marriages, DSGR 19:164). She was b. ca. 1800 in New York State and d. 21 Oct. 1876 in Chesterfield township. In 1850 they were listed in the census in Chesterfield township, he as a farmer; their household included her son James Leonardson and his wife Ellenor and their three children, Elizabeth, Francis and Abram Leonardson.

In 1879 Ray Greene Huling wrote: "A very intelligent and eccentric farmer in Milton, Mich., named Aaron Hulin, the youngest of all." Moses H. Hulin stated that Aaron "moved with his parents to Malta, Saratoga Co., N.Y. about the year 1798, resided there until some 30 years old, lived in Ohio and Michigan, and died at Berville, St. Clair Co., Mich. 14 Feb. 1881."

Aaron bought an acre and a quarter in Johnstown, Montgomery Co., N.Y. when he was living in the town of Salina, Onondaga Co., N.Y., 27 Sept. 1836, and sold it 13 Sept. 1838, when he was "late of Ohio" (Montgomery Co., N.Y. Deeds 40:358; 42:236).

In his will dated 21 April 1860, Aaron Hulin left all his property to his wife Elizabeth for her widowhood, it then to go to her son James Leonardson, with the proviso that if he did not follow Aaron's wishes, the property was to be divided "between my name-sake Aaron Hulin son of Stephen and Catharine Hulin and Henry Hulin son of Jonathan and Hannah Hulin." There are 65 pages of material in the probate file. Moses Hulin in a petition of 7 March 1881 claimed that there was no will and in April 1881 was named administrator in St. Clair County; this appointment was appealed on the basis that he was a resident of Macomb County and the appeal allowed (Macomb Co. Probate file 1,517; St. Clair Co. file 3-889). In the Macomb County Probate, it was noted that by a deed of 29 Oct. 1879, Aaron Hulin had given 80 acres in the township of Chesterfield to Esther Yates, his stepdaughter, wife of Adam W. Yates, of Michigan.

Elizabeth Hulin also made her will 21 April 1860, leaving all her property to her husband and then to her son James Leonardson or his wife Eleanor. The will was probated 8 Jan. 1877. Her heirs were James and Abraham Leonardson, sons, and Esther Yates, daughter, all of Macomb County, and Jacob Leonardson, son, of Waterloo, Wisc. In the probate it was stated that Elizabeth Hulin had lived thirty years previous to her decease in Chesterfield (Macomb Co. Probate file 1,119).

41. MARTHA[4] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [12] and his first wife, Elizabeth Spink, was born at North Kingstown, R.I. 23 November 1749.

Martha and BENJAMIN BURDICK were married in Newport 23 January 1772 by Rev. Gardiner Thurston. Benjamin, the son of Jonathan and Judith (Clarke) Burdick, was born 27 August 1748 at Westerly. Ray Greene Huling in his notes stated that Benjamin and Martha lived on Perry Wharf Lane, Newport. They are not listed in the 1790 census.

Children, surname BURDICK, (born Newport, R.I.; probably others; sons' birthdates recorded in Seamen's Protective Registry 1798-1799, RIHS):

i. HULING[5], b. 23 Jan. 1772.

ii. GEORGE, b. 16 March 1774.

iii. BENJAMIN, b. 4 May 1778.

iv. (possibly) MARTHA; m. at East Greenwich, 5 Nov. 1813, by Rev. John B. Gibson to Samuel[6] Spencer of Exeter, son of Samuel[5] (Jonathan[4], Samuel[3], Michael[2], John[1]) and Susannah (Niles) Spencer. RGH stated that they went west. According to Grayce Harper Alsterda, they had a daughter Susan who m. at North Kingstown in 1857 James H. Case, 26, of South Kingstown, son of William Case.

42. GEORGE WALTON[4], probably the son of Esther Huling [13] and her husband George Walton, was born in November 1725, probably in Sussex County, Delaware (Founders & Patriots lineage of Mrs. Charles T. Farnham). He died 18 May 1796, probably in Sussex County, and is buried in a cemetery on Willard Potter's land, within sight of Fort Saulsbury, five miles east of Milford, Delaware, one half mile south of Cedar Beach (Cemetery Records of Sussex Co., Del. 1926-30, by Millard F. Hudson, p. 530).

George married on 3 September 1749 JEAN BLACK, daughter of George and Ann (——) Black, born 18 December 1733 (C.H.B. Turner ms at Delaware Archives). She died before 19 March 1808, when her will was probated. The estate of George Black, yeoman, on 2 April 1772 paid £31:10:5d to George Walton for the share of his wife Jean Black (Orphan's Court, Sussex Co. Record Book A:63).

He was probably the George Walton who made an affidavit regarding surveys of 29 May 1766 and 29 April 1771 of 100 acres on Cedar Creek Neck (Delaware Archives, Sussex Co. Warrants & Surveys W^6 Nos. 107 and 107a), and with two others surveyed land for a division in 1773 (Orphan's Court, Sussex Co. Record Book A:161). On 1 March 1782 he bought 30 acres in Cedar Creek Hundred from George and Sarah Black and then 15 and 11 more, and on 8 February 1787 as George Walton, Sr., he sold 2 1/2 acres there (Sussex Co. Deeds 12:478-480; Archives Deeds, Sussex Co., p. 2, no.27).

George Walton of Sussex Co., Delaware, made his will 4 November 1792 and it was probated 31 May 1796. To his son George he left the land and plantation "whereon I now live" of 300 acres and a small tract of 56 acres that his father bought of Robert Hart. To his wife Jean he left half of the "Maner plantation on the East" and the other half to his son George, with George paying to son William £100. To his son James he gave one shilling, and to William, under 21, he gave £100. He named also his sons Jonathan and Joseph, and his daughters Esther Killen, wife of Mark Killen, Ann Murrey, wife of John Murrey, Eunice Chance, wife of John Chance, Betty Chance, wife of Levin Chance, Sarah Meloy, wife of Thomas Meloy, and Mary Walton (Sussex Co. Will Book E5:91-93).

Jean Walton made her will 12 March 1805 and it was probated 19 March 1808. In it she appointed her son Jonathan as executor and left her estate to the "same heirs as husband George." Those who participated in the distribution were Betsey Chance, the heirs of Sally Meloy, Jonathan Walton, the heirs of Polly Walton, the heirs of William Walton, the heirs of Esther Killen, and also Nancy Cropper, Joseph Walton, and the heirs of Eunicey Chance (Delaware Archives A104:136,137, and original will).

She married at North Kingstown, 24 July 1768, JEREMIAH AYLESWORTH, son of Arthur and Freelove (Dyer) Aylesworth, Elder John Gorton officiating. Jeremiah died 21 January 1827, aged 88 years. During the Revolution, Nathan and his wife were Tories, as were the rest of his father's family. 47. MERCY ALLEN[5], daughter of Elizabeth Huling [15] and her husband, Jonathan Allen, was born 22 July 1759 at North Kingstown, R.I. and died 4 November 1841 at Mansfield, Connecticut.

She married, first, as Mary, at North Kingstown 22 October 1781 WILLIAM[4] SPENCER, Elder James Wightman officiating. William was born 22 July 1745 at North Kingstown, the son of Henry[3] (William[2], John[1]) and Lydia (Jenkins) Spencer, and died 17 September 1797. Mrs. Alsterda's records state he died at Mansfield, Connecticut, but his will was probated at North Kingstown.

Mercy married, second, at Exeter 17 January 1814 (recorded at North Kingstown), STEPHEN CONGDON, son of William and Ann (Gifford) Congdon, who was born 17 or 28 May 1758 and died 30 or 31 August 1839 (Congdon Chronicle; Devere Allen, p. 120). He had married, first, 14 September 1767, Mary Taylor, daughter of Joseph and Experience (Sherman) Taylor, who was born 21 November 1749 and died 15 January 1813. By his first marriage he had children: twins Ann and Experience, born 1768, who died young, William Taylor, born 1770, Ann, born 1776, Dorcas, born 1779, Experience, born 1784, Sarah, born 1786, and Mary, born 1791.

Stephen and Mercy were members of the Six-Principle Baptist Church at North Kingstown (Arnold 10:287).

William Spencer, in his will dated August 1797 and proved 13 November 1797, named his wife Mary Spencer executrix, his four sons Henry, Wanton, Benjamin and Christopher, and his daughters Mary and Lydia, both under 18 (NK Probate 14:38-39).

Stephen Congdon's will, dated 9 April 1835 and proved 14 October 1839 (full dates from Congdon Chronicle, p. 183), mentioned a wife, [name burned], a daughter who was wife of Benjamin W. Gardiner, a daughter Dorcas Slocum, wife of Joseph, and a son William (NK Probate, 28:69-72 from back of book).

She married at North Kingstown on 18 March 1782, by Elder James Weightman, SAMUEL BISSELL, son of Thomas and probably Susannah (——) Bissell. He was probably born at North Kingstown 23 November [ca. 1757], and died 28 February 1825. He may be the Samuel "Bazzell" who joined the Six Principle Baptist Church of North Kingstown 1776 or later (Arnold 10:285). He was probably the Samuel Bissell listed in the 1790 census at North Kingstown with one male over 16 years, two males under 16, and three females. He may have married, second, at North Kingstown, 15 December 1798, Ann Spink, daughter of Josiah. No probate record for him has been found.

She was married at North Kingstown, R.I., 2 December 1787, by Elder James Weightman, to GEORGE BISSELL, son of Thomas Bissell and brother of Samuel. He was born at North Kingstown 12 March 1770.

The family was listed in North Kingstown in 1790 with one male over 16 years and two females. No death or probate records for them have been found.

Children, surname BISSELL,
(births recorded North Kingstown VR):

i. SUSANNAH[6], b. 21 July 17[88 or 89].

ii. THOMAS, b. 21 June 17[90 or later].

50. LYDIA[5] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [16] and his wife Mary Smith, was born either 5 (April) 174[6], on the fifth day, (North Kingstown VR) or 16 July 1747 (notes of Ray Green Huling). She died 1 January 1819, aged 72 years, at North Kingstown, unmarried (Smith Diaries; Providence Phenix obit.).

Lydia bought 22 acres from her father Alexander Huling in 1768, and on 26 February 1770, with Mary Huling, widow, she sold to Aaron Peck 22 acres which had belonged to Alexander Huling, husband of Mary and father of Lydia. In 1784 she leased 50 acres from her father. On 15 January 1794 Lydia Huling, single woman, transferred 50 acres with one-quarter of a house to her daughter Mary. Nancy Huling, singlewoman, on 1 January 1794 transferred property to her mother, Lydia. In 1796 Lydia, Mary and Sarah Huling and Jonathan and Avis Donnison quitclaimed 16 acres to Andrew Huling, and on 5 June 1797 Lydia and Mary Huling transferred property to Jeremiah W. Pollock and wife Nancy (NK Deeds 12B:116,139,140; 14A:210,211; 15B:4,5,248,285; 16A:32,33).

Lydia was administratrix for the estates of her brothers William and James and of her mother, and as such was named in lawsuits brought by Joseph Eldred and Jeremiah Heirington.

In 1763 Lydia claimed that Benjamin Champlin was the father of her child (North Kingstown Town Council 1:526) but on 9 July 1763 Benjamin Champlin of Exeter, son of Jeffrey, claimed that he was not. Legal action ensued, involving the North Kingstown Town Council, which wanted to recover costs incurred for the care of Lydia and her female child named Mary, born 17 May 1763; Alexander Huling, who did not want to accept financial responsibility; and Benjamin Champlin, as the putative father of the child (Newport Court files, June 1765, Aug. 1767, March 1768).

In a plea dated 3 September 1796 and entered at the October 1796 court term at Providence, Lydia Huling, singlewoman, spinster, declared that from a variety of misfortunes she was unable to pay creditors and that she would soon be confined to prison unless relieved. Her petition was granted 28 June 1797 (R.I.Archives, Petitions, 11:229; 13:2:90,112; 31:39).

In 1774 Lydia and her two daughters were living with her parents and two brothers. In the 1800 census of Washington County, R.I., Lydia Huling was listed as over 45, with a household consisting of one female between 26 and 45 years.

Children, surname HULING, (probably b. North Kingstown):

i. MARY[6], b. 17 May 1763; d. before 10 Nov. 1801. She left a will, now fragmentary, which reads, in part, " ... Mary Huling ... singlewoman ... loving mother Lydia Huling ... the daughter of ... wife of Jeremiah W. Pollock ... and Sarah ... my said sister Nancy Pollock ... my two nieces Sarah & Lydia ..." Witnesses were sworn 10 Nov. 1801 (NK Probate 15:238).

125. ii. NANCY, b. probably before 1774; m. Jeremiah W. Pollock.

51. AVIS FRANCES[5] HULING, daughter of Alexander Huling [16] and his wife Mary Smith, was born at North Kingstown 24 February 1753 (date from notes of Ray Greene Huling, erroneously given as 1743 in Arnold), and died probably at Providence, 1 January 1821, in her 65th year (Arnold 13:345).

She was married at North Kingstown 8 August 1773 to JONATHAN DONNISON, son of Capt. William Donnison, by George Thomas, Justice of the Peace. According to notes of Ray Greene Huling, Jonathan was born 2 October 1752 at Boston and died 26 August 1809 on the coast of Africa. Capt. Jonathan Donnison followed the sea, sailed for Brown & Ives, and was the first captain to take a ship to China from New England. The family lived on Market Square, Providence, where they were listed in the 1790 and 1800 censuses and Avis in 1810 and 1820; they had a summer house at Elmwood.

Jonathan Donnison testified at Providence 26 November 1791 that about 20 September 1790 a certain Bay Mare was stolen from him and "is now in the possession of Elihu Cheesbrooks of Stonington [Connecticut]" (Beriah Brown Papers).

Avis Donnison, attorney for her husband Jonathan, and Lydia, Mary and Sarah Huling in 1796 quitclaimed 16 acres in North Kingstown to Andrew Huling. In the same year Augustus and Andrew Huling and Jonathan and Avis Donnison quitclaimed property to Mary Huling. The following year, 1797, Jonathan and Avis Donnison deeded land to Andrew Huling which had "descended to us as heirs of William Huling dec.," and on 10 November 1796 they, with Mary Huling, Lydia and Augustus, deeded to Andrew Huling all rights in the farm and house "where said Mary and Grantee now live" (NK Deeds 16A:32,33,105,109,110; 16B:39,40).

Children, surname DONNISON,
(all probably b. Providence; dates and other information given to Ray Greene Huling by Thomas Fenner):

i. WILLIAM[6], b. 22 July 1776, d. 21 Jan. 1796 in quarantine on St. Ives while returning home from a voyage. Obituary notices in the U.S.Chronicle of 24 March and Providence Gazette of 26 March 1796 state that he d. on board the Brig Fanny, at Port au Prince, in his 21st year (Arnold 15:496; 13:345).

ii. SARAH, b. 16 April 1777, d. suddenly in Providence 11 July 1822 (Providence Gazette, Arnold 13:345); Ray Greene Huling's notes state that she had been engaged and never recovered from the death of her fiance.

iii. ELIZABETH, b. 6 April 1779, d. 23 Sept. 1849. Information from Ray Greene Huling states that she m. (1) in Providence, 25 Dec. 1799, Jonathan P. Hitchcock, who was possibly b. Springfield, Mass. 25 Dec. 1778 and d. at sea 10 Jan. 1803, in his 25th year (obits Providence Gazette of 26 Feb. 1803 and U.S. Chronicle of 24 Feb.). He was a graduate of Brown University and studied law. Mary m. (2) at Providence, 13 May 1810, Gardiner Daggett, Esq., an attorney-at-law (Providence Gazette, Arnold 15:21). He was b. probably at Attleboro 20 Dec. 1781 and d., probably at Providence, 27 March 1821.

Elizabeth had a child, by her first marriage, Avis Eliza Hitchcock[7], b. 19 July 1800 at Providence, d. there 1 June 1875; m. Thomas B. Fenner, 2 Oct. 1821 Providence. He was b. 20 Feb. 1797, d. 30 July 1845. Thomas B. Fenner, Esq. was cashier of the Eagle Bank (Providence Gazette; Arnold 15:64). Avis Eliza was named executrix of the estate of her aunt, Mary (Donnison) Huling, q.v.

iv. JAMES, b. 6 July 1781, d. 27 June 1812 at New York; in 1812 he was in command of a vessel which was captured by the French and d. while a prisoner in their hands. An obit. in the Providence Gazette stated that he was master of the ship Iris plundered and burnt at sea by the French. (Arnold 13:345).

v. MARY, b. 26 Feb. 1786, d. 23 June 1868, aged 82; buried Old Huling Cemetery, North Kingstown; m. her cousin, Ray Greene Huling (no. 129), q.v.

52. AUGUSTUS[5] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [16] and his wife Mary Smith, was born at North Kingstown 14 January 1762, according to his application for a Revolutionary War pension. He died 2 April 1839 at New Lisbon, N.Y. ("Partial Genealogy of the Huling Family of America," typescript, by A. H. Huling, Bartlesville, Oklahoma, in 1932, p. 1, from Floyd Dean Huling.)

He was married at North Kingstown 22 April 1792 to SARAH GREENE, daughter of John[4] Greene (Daniel[3,2], John[1]) and his wife Sarah Spink, by George Thomas, Justice.

Much of what is known about Augustus is taken from his pension record (S23718). The file contains an affidavit from James Huling, age 49, of North Kingstown, son of Andrew, that Augustus was his uncle. Augustus Huling, son of Alexander, took his father's place in the Revolution at the age of sixteen years, as a private from North Kingstown. He served in January 1777 in the militia under Capt. Samuel Thomas.

In March 1779 the family moved to Aquidnesset, (a different part of North Kingstown), and Augustus lived there until 1799 when he moved to the State of New York and then to Pennsylvania, where the 1810 census listed him in Olwell Town, Luzerne County. In the spring of 1832 he returned to North Kingstown, but by 1835 he was back in New York State, in Willet, Cortland County, with his son Daniel, who made an affidavit to that effect. Augustus' pension certificate is dated 19 March 1834; the records were transferred to Albany, N.Y. in September 1834, until 8 April 1835; he must have returned then to Rhode Island, for his name appears on the Rhode Island Pension Rolls of 1835, showing that he had been allowed $80. per year commencing 4 March 1831, and had received $240. to that date.

In 1786 Augustus bought 40 acres from his father, Alexander Huling. In 1799, with his wife Sarah, he sold 20 acres bounded by Andrew Huling, and the same year he sold 14 acres in Exeter (NK Deeds 14B:161; 16A:105).

Children, surname HULING, (born in Rhode Island):

126. i. DANIEL[6], b. 5 May 1797 East Greenwich; m. Lydia Burlingame.

ii. (possibly) ANSTRUSS (from chart in RGH notes).

iii. (possibly) MARY CELINDA (ibid).

53. ANDREW[5] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [16] and his wife Mary Smith, was born 7 March 176[7] at North Kingstown, R.I. and died 24 December 1833 (death noted in Harris Smith's Almanac). He lived at Huling Corners, North Kingstown.

He married at North Kingstown, 28 October 1784, DELIVERANCE SPINK of West Greenwich, Elder Philip Jenkins officiating. She was the daughter of Samuel[3] Spink (Ishmael[2], Robert[1]) and his wife Abigail, born 7 April 1756 at West Greenwich and died 21 March 1790 in her 34th year. She is buried in the Capron Lot in the back part of the 5th Street Cemetery, East Greenwich (Benns 4:146; 6:67).

Andrew married, second, RUTH GREENE, daughter of John[4] Greene (Daniel[3,2], John[1]) and his wife Sarah Spink (NHR 2:173). She was the sister of Sarah Greene, wife of Andrew's brother Augustus Huling. Ruth was born in North Kingstown in July 1759, but her birth was not recorded (ibid.). She died, as a widow, at East Greenwich 21 May 1855, aged 95, and was buried at North Kingstown. Called widow of Andrew, she joined the Baptist Church in Exeter in October 1838.

Andrew Huling is reputed to have had a long liaison with EDIE GREENE, by whom he had ten children. This situation appears to have been well known to his grandson, the historian Ray Greene Huling, when he was compiling material on the family. It was evidently also known to someone whose initials were "A.C.A.", who wrote to "S.E.G.": "Andrew Huling had two wives and children by his second wife's daughter ... 15 or more children ... Andrew Jr. ... Kit Huling ... Patience ... Havens Huling ... Oldest about 1800" (letter in George H. M. Lawrence Collection, North Kingstown Free Library). "Eddy Huling, alias Green", died 20 June 1841 (newspaper clipping, Bates Collection 10:13, RIHS; Smith Diaries).

Andrew Huling in 1787 bought 30 acres of land from his father, Alexander. Along with his brother Andrew and sister Lydia, he was a defendant in a 1794 suit brought by Joseph Eldred for all rights in the estate of Alexander Huling at the time of the latter's death. In 1796 he joined his sister Avis and her husband, Jonathan Donnison, in quitclaiming land to their mother, Mary Huling, and in 1797 the Donnisons deeded to Andrew land which had "descended to us as heirs of William Huling, dec." Andrew and Ruth deeded to Mary Huling 17 acres 16 January 1800. The same year, the Donnisons and Mary Huling deeded to Andrew all rights in the farm and house where Mary was then living (NK Deeds 15A: 103; 16A: 32, 33, 105, 109; 16B: 43, 44, 39, 40).

The earmark of Andrew Huling's livestock was recorded at North Kingstown 29 May 1798: "Crop in ... Rite ear and a foregad in the left ear" (North Kingstown TC 1:678). This was the same mark as that used by his great-grandfather, Alexander Huling [4].

Andrew Huling was one of the petitioners for "the Building of a Bridge across the Salt Water Creek from Wickford to ElansVille (on which Washington Academy is situationed)." In February 1805 permission to raise the necessary sum of $600. by a lottery was granted by the Inferior Court (RIA Petitions 36:31).

In 1808 Andrew and Ruth Huling sold property to James Huling, cordwainer. On 26 March 1821, Andrew Huling of North Kingstown, yeoman, deeded to his son Greene Huling of Exeter, for love and affection, some land and one-quarter of a house in Exeter. On 18 March 1825 he deeded to his sons Jonathan, John and Christopher, all of Exeter, the Israel Wilcox farm there with the privilege of erecting a gristmill (Exeter Deeds 9:95,434).

Andrew Huling "for a sum of probably a thousand dollars" deeded to Eada Greene on 18 November 18[—] 50 acres and a dwelling house on Ten Rod Road in North Kingstown. The actual date of conveyance is torn away, but the deed was received 30 December 1833 and recorded 6 January 1834 (NK Deeds 26B: 661,662).

In his will dated 9 January 1830 and probated 10 February 1834, Andrew Huling, yeoman, named his wife Ruth, his son Alexander, to whom he left land in East Greenwich, and his sons [Jonathan] D., John G. and Christopher, to whom he left land in Exeter. He gave to his son James $25. and to his son Tolleration $100., and mentioned his daughter —— Wilcox, wife of Jonathan Wilcox; he named as executors his four sons, Alexander, Jonathan D., [Ray] G., and Christopher (NK Probate 27:40-42).

Edey Greene of North Kingstown signed her mark to her will 19 April [torn], naming her daughter Deliverance [torn] Barber, her son George W. Huling, her daughters Patience Huling, Hannah Huling, and [torn] Huling, her daughter Sarah Barber, wife of Joseph Potter Barber, her son Aug[torn], her three daughters Patience, Hannah and Ca[torn]; she gave land to her three sons Andrew Huling, James Havens Huling, and Augustus Huling, and named Andrew and Augustus as executors. The will was proved 14 February 1842 and recorded two days later. Andrew and Augustus declined to serve, and the Town Council appointed James H. Huling as administrator (NK Probate 29:69-71).

The wills of both Andrew Huling and Edey Greene were badly burned in the 1879 fire that damaged the North Kingstown records.

Children, surname HULING,

138. xiv. PATIENCE, b. 11 Feb. 1811; m. (1) — Gardiner; m. (2) Lebbeus W. Whitford.

xviii. WILLIAM, b. 21 June 1819, died young.

141. xix. AUGUSTUS, b. 14 May 1821; m. Hannah Martin Gardiner.

54. ALEXANDER HOPKINS[5], son of Honor Brown [17] and her husband, Judge Samuel Hopkins, was born about 1731 and died after 1810, when he deeded land.

He and MARY PHILLIPS, daughter of Capt. Joseph Phillips, were married at West Greenwich, R.I., 22 March 1753, by William Comstock, Justice.

Alexander served in the Revolution. He and Mary deeded 20 acres and a dwelling to Asa Kittle on 27 September 1806, and in 1810 deeded land to Beriah Hopkins, Mary signing by mark (West Greenwich Deeds 3:535; 4:25).

Dates of marriage and births of children are given as in West Greenwich Vital Records 1:107; it is likely, however, that the marriage took place in 1752 since the spacing of the children makes an error in birthdates improbable.

Children, surname HOPKINS, (recorded West Greenwich):

i. ROBEY[6], b. 30 Jan. 1753; m. Caleb Carr, son of Capt. Charles Carr, 28 Jan. 1773 at West Greenwich.

ii. ROBERT, b. 20 July 1754.

iii. REUBEN, b. 5 April 1755.

55. SAMUEL HOPKINS[5], son of Honor Brown [17] and her husband, Judge Samuel Hopkins, was born 15 October 1734 and died, probably at West Greenwich, R.I., between 8 June and 27 September 1813.

Record of his first marriage has not been found, although it has been suggested that his first wife was LUCRETIA WAITE, born in Exeter 22 January 1734, daughter of Samuel, Jr. and Sarah Waite.

He married, second, at West Greenwich 13 May 1779, PHEBE CASE, the ceremony performed by Elder James Wightman. Phebe has not been identified. She died before 4 September 1819 when her inventory was taken (West Greenwich Probate 5:71).

This was probably the Samuel Hopkins listed in the 1790 census at West Greenwich with three males over 16 years and three under 16 and three females.

In his will dated 8 June 1813, Samuel Hopkins of West Greenwich left to his wife Phebe two cows, one mare, and all indoor movables. To his son Daniel he left his wearing apparel and one pair of oxen. His four sons, Rufus, Amon, Jonathan and James received "ten cents each ... The Reason I give them no more is because I have given Them Deeds of land". Daughter Tabitha Case, wife of Jesse Case, received $100. The remainder of his money and stock was to be divided among his five daughters, Ruth Whitman, deceased, whose share was to go to her heirs, Asa Miers, Martha Potter, Sarah Kenyon, and Tabitha Case. On 27 September 1818 "an instrument purporting to be the last will of Sam'l Hopkins was presented to the probate court by Phebe Hopkins, widow," but Fones Potter and wife Martha and George Kenyon and wife Sarah objected, claiming that the testator was insane at the time he made the will; Phebe was directed to appeal to the Supreme Court (West Greenwich Probate 4:102,103).

Children, surname HOPKINS,

(by first wife):

i. RUFUS[6], b. 1770, d. 8 June 1841 in 72nd year; m. Amy Shippee, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Spencer) Shippee, b. ca. 1770 at East Greenwich, d. at West Greenwich 6 Aug. 1837 in 67th yr. Cemetery records in office of West Greenwich town clerk indicate that Amy is buried in West Greenwich Cemetery No. 28, on the left side of the New London Turnpike, with sons Halsey and Layton and their wives and a grandson, Burrell Hopkins and his wife Dianna Brown. According to

Cole's History of Washington and Kent Counties (1889), pages 1154-1156, (the information given by Pardon Hopkins, son of Layton), Rufus and Amy had the following children (dates added 1983 by Violet E. Kettelle):

1. Phebe[7], m. —— Whitman.
2. Layton, b. 19 April 1793, d. 25 June 1871; m. Elizabeth Whitford, daughter of Simeon and Elizabeth (Case) Whitford, b. 4 Feb. 1797, d. 6 Sept. 1854 in 58th year. Children: Pardon[8], b. 12 Feb. 1815, was town clerk of West Greenwich for 20 years; Burrill, b. 29 March 1819, m. Dianna Brown, had 14 children.

Beriah and MARY REYNOLDS were married at West Greenwich, 4 December 1768, by Job Spencer, Justice. Mary was born at West Greenwich 9 September 1748, the daughter of James and Elizabeth (Jones) Reynolds, and died 15 June 1796, aged 48 years; she was buried in the Hopkins-Tibbets Cemetery. Her father, James Reynolds of West Greenwich, yeoman, "being aged," in his will dated 14 January 1800 and proved the last Monday of November 1810, named his wife Elizabeth and, among others, his granddaughter Lucy Arnold, wife of Peleg Arnold, and his great-granddaughter Mary Arnold, daughter of Lucy Arnold (WG Probate 4:44-47).

Beriah was married, second, at West Greenwich 2 September 1798, to MARY (HARRINGTON) GREENE of Coventry, by Elder Thomas Manchester. She was the daughter of Job Harrington of Exeter and his wife Rebecca Carr, who were married at West Greenwich 18 March 1749. She had married, first, Jonathan Greene, son of Usal of Coventry, 19 February 1775 at Coventry, and had one child, Rufus Greene, born at Coventry 15 February 1776. She died 30 September 1820 and is buried in the Hopkins-Tibbets Cemetery in West Greenwich. Her death record gives her father's name (cemetery records in office of WG Town Clerk).

Beriah Hopkins was an Ensign in Capt. Tew's Company in 1762, in charge of the second detachment, which went to Albany (Chapin, R.I. Soldiers and Sailors in Old King George's War 1757-1762, p. 83).

In 1790 Beriah Hopkins lived at West Greenwich with a household consisting of one male over 16 years, two under 16, and four females.

In his will dated 11 February 1815, Beriah Hopkins of West Greenwich gave to his wife Mary "All the Estate that she brought to me both in Money and in Goods and Chattels ... one Third of my Provisions of Every kind Provided for my family at my decease." To his granddaughter Mary Browning he left 200 Silver Dollars; to his grandson Beriah Hopkins Arnold "the Profits of all my Real Estate during his Natural Life with one hundred Silver Dollars"; and to his grandson Rowland Arnold the residue of the real estate after the decease of Beriah Hopkins Arnold. His wearing apparel was to be divided between his two grandsons, and to the child of grandson Beriah H. Arnold he left one dollar. His daughter Lucy Arnold was to receive $300. and the residue of the estate. He named his son-in-law Peleg Arnold, "the husband of my daughter Lucy," as executor of the will.

On 4 April 1820 he added a codicil, stipulating that his wife was to receive one half of the Provisions; the share left to Beriah H. Arnold, who was now deceased, was to go to great-grandson Beriah H. Browning, and to the child Stephen Arnold he left two dollars. The will was probated 31 July 1820 (WG Probate 5:76-79).

Mary Hopkins, widow, in her will dated 27 or 29 September 1820 and proved 4 October the same year, named her two brothers Benjamin and Carr Harrington and Carr's daughter Mary, her sister Sarah Briggs and Cynthia and Phebe Ann Harrington (ibid., 5:85).

He married at West Greenwich, 2 March 1773, ABIGAIL DAVIS, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Gifford) Davis, who was born at West Greenwich 9 November 1755. The will of her father, William Davis, yeoman, dated 26 May 1783 and probated in 1805, named among his children his daughter Abigail Hopkins (WG Probate 3:238-239).

The will of Ebenezer Hopkins of West Greenwich was dated 23 January 1816 and probated 14 April 1827. He wrote, "I Give and bequeath unto my loving wife Abigail Hopkins all my Household furniture with all my Provisions of Every kind as she needs at her freedom and also to keep fowls as She Pleaseth, these to be free Gifts and in addition to her dower right ... I Give and bequeath unto my loving wife Abigail Hopkins the Proffits of the Estate Given to my Son Christopher one year after my decease." He also gave her one hundred dollars and two-thirds of the residue of the estate. He gave land to his sons Christopher, Davis and Alexander, with certain stipulations: land left to his son Davis was to be divided at Davis' decease among his three children, Abby, Peleg and Willett Hopkins; if "it Should so happen that [son Alexander] Never Returns to Occupy and Enjoy" the land left to him, this was to be equally divided between Christopher and Davis. To Christopher he gave also "all my Wearing Apparel with my Arms with my Saddle and Bridle with all my farming tools and Carpenter and Cooper tools" and one-third of the residue (ibid., 6:76-79).

Apparently his son Alexander did not return, and in 1828 the land left to him was divided between his two brothers (WG Deeds 8:221).

Martha, the daughter of Samuel and Honor (Brown) Hopkins, was his first cousin. She died in the summer or fall of 1770, probably at West Greenwich.

The will of Alexander Brown, mariner, dated 18 J— 176- (date burned) and probated at North Kingstown 12 August 1765, named his wife Martha (NK Probate 9:286-288). Martha Brown, widow, of West Greenwich, made her will 22 July 1770, naming her father Samuel Hopkins, three sisters Honour Tillinghast, Sarah Hopkins, and Lydia Hopkins, her father-in-law Ebenezer Brown, of North Kingstown, and her son Alexander Brown, under 21. The will was proved the last Saturday of October 1770 (WG Probate 2:96-98).

Samuel Hopkins in his will of 1790 did not include any children of his deceased daughter Martha Brown.

Child, surname BROWN:

i. ALEXANDER[6], b. between 1761 and 1766; d. probably before 1787.

66. BENJAMIN BROWN[5], son of Ebenezer Brown [21] and his wife Mary Congdon, was born 26 April, probably 1745, and died 16 August 1773 at sea, while a mate on the ship Brittain.

He was married 17 October 1771 at North Kingstown to WAITY REYNOLDS, daughter of John and Mary Reynolds. The will of John Reynolds, dated 1771 at North Kingstown and proved 10 October 1774, named his daughter Wait Brown. Reynolds, son of Capt. Benjamin Brown, dec'd, chose his mother Wait Brown as his guardian at North Kingstown, 10 January 1785 (NK Probate 10:140-141; 12:14).

According to the Bates Collection at Rhode Island Historical Society, reel 88, Benjamin Brown in 1766 purchased a lot in Wickford, which was sold 7 November 1797 by Reynolds Brown of North Carolina, John Brown Jr. and wife Waty, and Waty Brown, widow. On 14 November 1799 Reynolds Brown of North Carolina sold his portion of a house and two acres at Wickford to John Brown and wife Waty.

He and SARAH CONGDON, both of North Kingstown, were married there 30 July 1775 by Elder James Weightman. Sarah, the daughter of William and Ann (Gifford) Congdon, was born 19 March 1755 and died 6 February 1841 in her 86th year (Bates Collection; Congdon Chronicle p. 16); she is buried at North Kingstown (Harris 1:23).

This is probably the Stutely Brown who joined the Six Principle Baptist Church at North Kingstown on or after 31 March 1770 (Arnold 10:287).

Stukely Brown made his will 24 April 1823, giving his son Joseph the homestead farm, two other tracts of land, all farming utensils, a yoke of oxen, and other items, and named him executor. To his wife Sarah, Stukely gave two rooms in the house, wood, and one cow. He named his three daughters, Sarah Brown, to have household items including a loom, [Fr]ances Briggs and Dorcas Tillinghast; three granddaughters Mary Briggs, Sarah Briggs, and Eliza Nichols; his granddaughter Betsy Brown, daughter of son William Brown, who was to have a bedstead, bedding and a cow; and son Stukely, Jr. On 18 August 1824 he added a codicil naming Willet Briggs, son-in-law, to be one of the executors in place of Samuel Tillinghast of Exeter. Sarah, widow of Stukely Brown, applied for a widow's pension on the services of her husband for nine months as a private in the company of Capt. Thomas in the Revolution. She stated that he had served as a private in the militia in the years 1776 through 1779, that he had always lived in North Kingstown, and had died there. Three of the four living children of Sarah, dec'd, testified on 17 November 1842 (Pension application W20770).

She was born about 1755 and died 26 March 1815, aged 60. They were second cousins; she was a sister of Benedict Brown, who married Nathaniel's sister Abigail. Honor and ROBERT SHERMAN were married at South Kingstown 26 February 1777 by Rev. James Wightman; she was of North Kingstown and he of South Kingstown. He was the son of Jonathan[7] Sherman (Jonathan[6], Benjamin[5], Phillip[4], Samuel[3], Henry[2,1] — NHR 3:17) and his wife Mary Card, born at South Kingstown 3 September (gs) or 14 September (VR) 1752. He died at South Kingstown 4 October 1829 and was buried in Exeter near the South Kingstown line. He was known as "High-house Robert" (Sherman, p. 558).

Abigail was married at North Kingstown, 23 May 1780 by George Thomas, Justice, to BENEDICT BROWN, son of John[4] Brown (Charles[3], Beriah[2], Charles[1]) and his wife Elizabeth Eldred. Benedict was born about 1753 and died 2 September 1825 in his 73rd year (Kettelle). The will of his grandfather, Capt. James Eldred, dated 11 April 1763, named him as grandson Benedict Brown, son of daughter Elizabeth. His sister Elizabeth Brown married Abigail's brother Nathaniel.

This was probably the Abigail Brown who joined the Six Principle Baptist Church of North Kingstown in 1770 or later (Arnold 10:287).

On 6 March 1782 Benedict's "father deeded to him part of his own farm, south of Ten Rod Road where Wickford Junction stands" (Bates Collection).

Benedict Brown applied 27 April 1825 for a pension for his services in the Revolution, stating that he had enlisted as a private in January 1776, he was a husbandman, his wife was 61 years old and infirm, his children did not support him, and that he had no property except household furniture since 18 March 1818, except for a small interest in a small old house which was mortgaged and quitclaimed to Ebenezer Brown. The claim was rejected (Pension Application R1280). The statement concerning his wife Abigail indicates either that he married a second time or that Abigail's death is incorrect as given.

Benedict Brown died intestate, and William Congdon was appointed administrator of his estate at North Kingstown 10 October 1825 (NK Probate 24:51,52). John Brown, who was perhaps a brother, in his will of 2 January 1826 named two sons of Benedict, John Brown and —— Brown, Jr. (ibid., 26:76,77; record burned).

Children, surname BROWN, (probably b. North Kingstown, although not recorded there; order unknown):

viii. WEEDEN; said to have m. "at the West" (RGH).

ix. MARY; m. (1) Stephen Brown, (2) —— Rathbun, (3) Isaac Brown, (4) —— Aldrich (RGH). She is probably the Mary Brown named in her grandfather's will of 1785.

71. SARAH BROWN[5], daughter of Ebenezer Brown [21] and his wife Mary Congdon, was born perhaps about 1760 in North Kingstown, R.I. and died probably in Ohio.

She was of North Kingstown 11 February 1779 when she and JENCKS WAITE of Exeter were married by Elder Solomon Sprague of Exeter. Jencks, the son of Samuel and Ansilles (Jenckes) Waite, was born 6 February 1753 at Exeter and died 22 February 1824 in Franklin County, Ohio. Joseph Weight, of Exeter, in his will dated 7 January 1774, left to his son Samuel Weight about 15 acres and a house in Exeter for his natural life, it to go afterwards to grandson Jenkes Weight (Exeter TC & Probate 4: 8-11).

According to the typescript Wait Genealogy at RIHS, Jenckes Waite enlisted at Smithfield, R.I. in the Revolution and served for eight months in Col. Hitchcock's Regulars. He was in the battles of Flatbush and Harlem Heights and at one point a seaman on board a frigate. He was discharged in 1780 after 15 months service, during which he was wounded and imprisoned. The name of Jinks Wait [sic] appears on a list of prisoners belonging to the General Mifflin, exchanged 31 January 1781 (R.I. DAR 1946, pt. 2:83-85).

They were living in Stephentown, N.Y. in 1790, where he was listed as Jinks Wait with two males over 16 years, two under 16 and four females. Jenckes and Sarah Wait were in New York State 8 March 1796 when they quitclaimed Brown land in North Kingstown, R.I. In 1795 - 1797 they were living in District 3 of Tryon County, first called Caughnawga, and later at Mayfield, N.Y., where he was overseer of roads in 1804. They removed to Franklin County, Ohio, where he was living when he applied for a pension for his services in the Revolution. According to the Waite Typescript, page 37, Sarah Wait took her first six months pension money in silver and had three silver teaspoons made for her daughters.

He married, first, at Exeter, 2 March 1760, MARTHA REYNOLDS, who was born 19 September 1744 at Exeter, the daughter of Capt. John and Martha (Tibbits) Reynolds. His second marriage was to ELIZABETH -----, who survived him.

In his will dated 28 December 1795, William Gardiner stated that he was weak in body. He left to his wife Elizabeth, besides "what she brought to me," an old black mare and a red cow; to son Nicholas R. Gardiner one dollar, "for he has received considerable"; to daughter Martha Tillinghast, curtains, she having received considerable; to son William, one dollar and a gun, he having had considerable; to sons John, George and Jesse, his wearing apparel and the residue of the estate. He named his wife Elizabeth executrix (Exeter Probate 6:52).

Nicholas married, second, at Exeter, 9 October 1762, DEBORAH VINCENT, who was born 1740 and died 23 May 1813. She is said to be buried at Exeter with her husband. The Gardiner Genealogy claims that he married, third, RUTH TILLINGHAST.

Alice was born 14 June 1755 in East Greenwich and died probably at North Kingstown 20 March 1826. He and his step-sister, HANNAH GREENE, daughter of Jeremiah and Mary (Goddard) Greene, were married by Elder Phillip Jenkins at North Kingstown 13 or 30 September 1779. (VR say 30, but in her application for a pension, Hannah apparently gave the date as 13 September; perhaps this was a clerical error, transcribed as heard.) Hannah was born in December 1760 and died at Wales, N.Y., near Buffalo, in November 1839, in her 79th year. She is buried with her husband in North Kingstown.

Jabez served in the Revolution in Sullivan's Expedition at Newport, R.I., and in guarding the coastline. His widow was granted a pension of $50. per year (NYGBR 32:71; see also Greenes of Rhode Island and NYGBR 32:70, 71, 156, and 217). In a deposition made 30 May 1837 at Wales, N.Y., where she had lived for five years, Hannah stated that her husband "had the reputation of being able at all times to tell the time of day or night without the aid of watch ... sun, moon, or stars." She stated also that before their marriage he had served in the militia as a private for 14 months and 15 days in New York (Rev. Pension Application W16898).

She married GEORGE TENNANT, according to Beaman 5:338, and had eleven children. In his will dated 31 January 1799 and proved 12 January 1819 at North Kingstown, George Tennant named his children, George Jr., Nor[lost], Elizabeth, and Honour, and mentioned Jabez Chadsey (NK Probate 21:400).

He married on 25 July 1781 PHEBE NORTHUP, daughter of Samuel and Naomi (Chadsey) Northup, who survived him. They are said to have settled "on the Van Rensselaer Manor" in New York, probably referring to Rensselaer County in this case, east of the Hudson River; Van Rensselaer lands extended also throughout Albany County on the west side.

She was married, first, probably about 1792, by Elder Philip Jenkins, to JONATHAN SLOCUM, who died before 13 January 1794, when guardianship for their daughter Martha was given to William Slocum (the date of the recording of the marriage, 30 January 1794, has sometimes been given erroneously as the date it took place, but this was after Jonathan's death). Elizabeth was given administration on his estate 10 August 1795 (North Kingstown Probate 12:231, 316).

Elizabeth married, second, Jonathan's brother, WILLIAM SLOCUM, who died 30 November 1853, aged 84, and was buried at North Kingstown (Harris 1:316). In 1850 they were living at North Kingstown, he 81, she 89, and their household included Martha 57, Archibald 51, farmer, Elizabeth 46, and Emeline, 22.

William Slocum, yeoman, of North Kingstown, in his will dated August 18[?4]3 (date burned) and proved 9 January 1853, named his wife Elizabeth, and Archibald Slocum executor (ibid., 31:265).

He married, first, at North Kingstown, 22 June 1803, MARY PEARCE, called "Patty," daughter of John and Eunice (Briggs) Pearce. He married, second, MARY TOURGEE, who died 24 February 1841, aged 77 years, 30 days, and is buried with him.

His name was sometimes spelled Circuit, but most records spell it Sirket; he was probably named for a Sirkett family in early Rhode Island.

He was married at North Kingstown, 17 March 1803, by Elder William Northrup, to his second cousin once removed, RACHEL AYLESWORTH [45-iv], q.v., daughter of Jeremiah and Phebe (Allen) Aylesworth. She may be the Widow Stevenson listed in Saratoga County, N.Y. in the 1810 census. Her birthdate and other information were given to Ray Greene Huling by her granddaughter, Mrs. George Washington Eddy.

Honnour Hulon [sic] on 19, 5th month, 1784 was received by the Nine Partners Monthly Meeting of Friends (Men's Minutes, Nine Partners Monthly Meeting, Haviland Records Room, N.Y.C.). On 14, 12th month, 1784, called Honnour Hulin, she was given clearance to go to Creek Meeting, since she was "removed to Live within the Virge of your meeting ... she is a member of this meeting in a good Degree of an orderly Life and Conversation she being Clear of marriage Ingagements as far as appears and as such we Recommend her to your Christian Care Desiring her Groath in the Truth" (Nine Partners Monthly Meeting Register of Removal Certificates, Haviland Records Room). She signed as witness to the marriage of Zeno Carpenter and Lydia Clark of Oswego [Beekman] Dutchess County, on 29, 3rd month 1786 at Nine Partners (Friends Records, Frost transcripts at NYG&B).

"Honour Huling daughter of John Huling Deceased and Susannah his wife of the Clove" was married in Friends' Meeting at Hudson, N.Y., 4 December 1788, to REED FERRIS, son of Zebulon Ferris, deceased, and his wife Ruth of the Oblong (Creek Monthly Meeting, Register of Marriages and Removals 1787-1802, Haviland Records Room). Reed Ferris was a schoolteacher; for his ancestry, see Harriet Schofield, A Genealogy of the Ferris Family, Descendants of Zachariah Ferris, p. 16. His father's will, made in 1773, names him (Fernow, pp. 148-149). He died probably at Hudson, Columbia County, N.Y., on 20 July 1793.

Honour married, second, probably in New York City, 4 October 1795, DANIEL STEPHENSON of New York City. She was disowned by the Friends in 4th month 1796, following consideration at a Monthly Meeting of Women held at Coeymans Patent 26, 11th month 1795 on a complaint against her: "Honour Stevenson formerly Ferris for marrying out of the Unity of Friends after being precautioned" (Hudson M.M., Women's Minutes, Haviland MS H 11/C7 1165).

Reed Ferriss [sic] of Hudson made his will 24 June 1793 and it was probated 7 October 1793. He left to his wife Honour all his wearing apparel and the household furniture except his desk, which he left to his son Benjamin. He gave his wife and son the unfinished dwelling house fronting on Main Street between 3rd and 4th Streets. He gave to his "aged Mother" the use of the chamber in the rear of the house, and left instructions about the disposition of the property, which his executors sold 25 November 1793. Executors were his wife and his friend Joseph Shove. The will was witnessed by Shubael Hopkins, Marcia Jenkins, and Sophia Bowman (Columbia Co., N.Y. Wills 1 or A:238-240; Columbia Co. Deeds A — City of Hudson: 152, 153).

Records of the Chancery Court, Province and State of New York, Guardianships 1691-1815, abstracted by Dr. Kenneth Scott, give the following information. In a petition dated at Hudson 22 September 1798, Honour Ferriss, widow of Reed Ferris, late of Hudson, Columbia County, requested that she be appointed guardian of her son Benjamin, aged 8 years, 10 months and 27 days, to whom his father had left a bequest. A report dated 1 October 1798 states that the child was born in October 1789 and that Reed Ferris died on 20 July 1793. It goes on to declare that on 4 October 1795 Honour married Daniel Stephenson of New York City, and bore him two children, of whom one, a daughter aged about 2, was living with her mother. It was rumored in Queens County that at the time Daniel married Honour, he was legally married to a certain widow named Tredwell at Hempstead, and when Honour discovered that her husband was already married to another woman, she left him. Honour was appointed guardian of her son Benjamin, with George Huland of Saratoga County, carpenter, as surety.

Daniel Stephenson may have been the man of that name living in the town of South Hempstead, Queens County, N.Y. in 1790.

He invented the Eddy valve and was awarded a medal in 1893 at the Columbian Exposition (Sydney Ernest Hammersley, History of Waterford, N.Y., [1957], pp. 220, 341). Pension application), and died 2 January 1837, in his 75th year. He is buried in the Boyce, also known as North Milton, Cemetery, Town of Milton, Saratoga County, N.Y.

He married, first, in the Town of Beekman, 17 April 1783, THEODOSIA RANDALL, who died in childbirth 13 November 1785, according to a sheet in the Mormon Archives.

He married, second, in the Town of Beekman, 17 December 1786, CHARITY EIGHMY, daughter of Peter[3] Emigh (Philip[2], Nicholas[1]) and his wife Gertruyt[3] Kuhns (George Nickel[2] Kuntz, Matthias[1] Kuntz). (See Koon and Coons Families of Eastern New York: A History of the Descendants of Matthias Kuntz and Samuel Kuhn, 1937, by William Solyman Coons, Kate Koon Bovey, Leon C. Hill and C. Carroll Koon.) Charity was born 13 January 1769 and baptized in the New Hackensack Dutch Reformed Church, Dutchess County, 5 February 1769, as Geertruy, daughter of Pieter Emigh and Geertruy Coens. Sponsors were Johann Philip Emigh and Geertruy Lassen, his wife (Collections of the Dutchess Co. Historical Society, 5:14). Charity died 11 November 1817, aged 48; she is buried next to her husband in the Boyce Cemetery.

John Huling was a pensioned Revolutionary soldier. In his application for a pension, he stated that in June 1776 he went into service at Beekmantown as a substitute for John Goosling. He served three months under Col. Benjamin Birdsal and Capt. Israel Vail, mostly at Fishkill Barracks, then at West Point. About a month later he went into service as a substitute for Daniel Cross, drafted eight days on an alarm under Capt. Roger Morey and Lieut. Tillinghast Bentley. He served in the same year as a volunteer at Fort Constitution under Col. Hays and Capt. Francis West. In 1779 he enlisted in nine months' service at Beekmantown, served under Col. Cortland and Capt. Thomas Lee at West Point and assisted in strengthening the outworks of Fort Putnam. He served only three months and was verbally discharged till further called for, but was not called for during that nine months. There was no fighting. He was called out on alarms to fight tories and robbers more time than he can remember. He served several days at a time under Capt. Gideon Hall, Roger Morey and Lieut. Tillinghast Bentley. His whole service was ten or twelve months. He swore to this affidavit 11 September 1832 and was given a pension of $34.21 to commence 4 March 1831 with arrears to 23 September amounting to $85.52.

The Saratoga County Pension Roll lists him as a private in the New York militia, aged 71 in 1833, with the service as given above. He had bounty rights in the 5th Regiment, according to Philip H. Smith's History of Dutchess County from 1609 to 1876 (1877), page 246. See also James A. Roberts, New York in the Revolution (Albany, 1898).

John "removed with his wife and children from Dutchess County to Malta (then part of the town of Stillwater), Saratoga County, in 1797, and in 1807 removed to Milton, in the same county, where he settled on a farm and built a house" (Edmund James Huling, His Ancestors and Descendants, p.2). He was listed in the 1810 and 1820 censuses of Saratoga County, in 1820 at Milton. The 1810 census indicates five of their children living with them.

She married, first, ——— PEASE. Her second marriage, at Hudson, N.Y., to Captain JESSE MATTHEWS, was noted in the Balance & Columbian Repository of 18 December 1804 (Deaths and Marriages from Hudson, N.Y. Newspapers, transcribed by Arthur C. M. Kelly, typescript, 2:71).

Information is from Edmund James Huling's Genealogy; efforts to learn more have been unsuccessful.

Child, surname PEASE or MATTHEWS:

i. MELLISSA[6]; m. ——— Strang. There was an Ira Strang, b. 1811 at Stillwater, N.Y., whose father was b. there 1785; the family is said to have come from Dutchess County at the close of the Revolution. It is not known if this was the family into which Mellissa married, however.

She was married at Newport, 22 May 1785, by Rev. Gardiner Thurston, to WILLIAM BRITTON, who, according to the Clarke Genealogy, was a captain from Bristol, England.

The 1800 census of Newport County lists them with two males and three females.

He married, first, EUNICE AYLESWORTH, daughter of Dyer and Mary (Spencer) Aylesworth, who died before 26 April 1798, when he married, second, at North Kingstown, ELIZABETH AYLESWORTH [45-ii], q.v., daughter of Jeremiah and Phebe (Allen) Aylesworth. Elizabeth was born 27 January 1771 and died in 1852 or 1853; she married, second, 15 March 1804, John Fowler, son of Deloway, of East Greenwich, who died in 1842.

According to the 1887 Aylesworth Genealogy, from which much of the above information is taken, John Dimond in partnership with Jonathan Slocum was engaged in a coasting trade to the upper Hudson; they were crossing the bay between Wickford and Bristol, with a skiff load of onions to complete a cargo, when they capsized and both drowned.

107. JOHN[5] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [37] and his first wife, Susannah Brown, was born at North Kingstown, R.I. in October 1764 and died 26 October 1834 in his 71st year. He is buried at Shaftsbury Center, Vermont.

In 1790 or earlier John married his stepsister, also a Huling descendant, LYDIA ALLEN[6] [43-ii], q.v., daughter of John Allen [5] (Elizabeth[4] Huling, James[3], Alexander[2], James) and Mary Havens, his wife. Lydia was born about 1769; her death or burial record has not been found.

The application for a pension for John's service in the American Revolution was made by his brother Daniel, aged 52 years, of Shaftsbury, on 7 November 1833, who stated that he was a brother of John and that in 1776 they resided in North Kingstown, R.I., now called Wickford, and that at age 13 John went on board an armed vessel and was out 9 months, about 6 months of which was on board a publick vessel. In 1777 they moved from Rhode Island to Vermont; he enlisted in 1779. John became insane in 1805 and had remained that way. Hiram Huling, son of John, was his guardian (Pension S46637).

Family tradition claims that he arrived in Bennington, Vt., with his father 16 August 1777, the day of the battle, and participated as a volunteer. State of Vermont Revolutionary War Rolls show that he served in Capt. Thos. Sawyer's Co. of militia from June 20 to August 20, 1779, in Capt. Wm. Dyre's Co. in 1780, and for 142 days in Capt. John Stark's Co. in 1781 (pp. 131, 254, 393, 578).

John Huling bought land in Shaftsbury 9 March 1789 and another tract 4 November 1804 (Shaftsbury Deeds 4:275; 5:136). He was listed at Shaftsbury in the 1790 census with his wife; in Bennington in 1800 with a son under 10 years; and at Shaftsbury in 1810 with two sons, one born between 1794 and 1800 and the other after 1800.

Children, surname HULING,
(both probably born at Shaftsbury):

151. i. ALEXANDER[6], b. ca. 1800; m. Fanny Matteson.

152. ii. HIRAM, b. 18 May 1802; m. Catharine Olin.

108. RHODES[5] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [37] and his second wife, Mary Havens, was born 8 September 1777, probably at Shaftsbury, Vt., and died 21 November 1803 at Williamstown, Vt. of a malignant fever. (Birthdate from RIGR 2:88; death information from Bible record and letter.) He was probably named for his mother's brother, Rhodes Havens, who died 8 October 1767 aged 36 (Rev. Ezra Stiles' Record, Arnold 8:433). See No. 32.

Rhodes (as Rodes) and HANNAH MYERS (as Hannah Myars) were married at Shaftsbury 4 June 1801 (Shaftsbury TR 1:16). Hannah married, second, 10 March 1806 at Shaftsbury, Morris Hoag of Cambridge, N.Y. She is called Hannah in both marriage records, but the family called her Mary.

Rhodes was given 80 acres of land in the town of Williamstown, Vt. by his father. His son George M. Huling inherited it and sold it after he was of age. This and other information is included in a letter he wrote to Ray Greene Huling in 1878.

Children, surname HULING, (born Williamstown, Vt.):

i. SUSANNA[6], b. 1800, d. spring 1810, according to a letter written by her brother.

153. ii. GEORGE M., b. 2 April 1803; m. Harriet Dixon.

109. DANIEL[5] HULING, son of Alexander Huling [37] and his second wife, Mary Havens, was born 18 August 1782, probably in Vermont (Bible record), and died 21 November 1863, "aged 82 years, 3 months and 3 days," at Bennington, of apopolexy. He is buried in Shaftsbury Center Cemetery, Shaftsbury, Vt., with his wife (Bennington TR 2:Deaths 31 and 91). Daniel's autograph is on display at the Shaftsbury Historical Society Museum.

He married 28 July 1818 HENRIETTA VAUGHAN, born 3 October 1794 in Connecticut, who died at Bennington of pneumonia, a widow, 8 April 1875 aged 80 years, 6 months and 5 days. The date of her birth and marriage are from a Bible record; town records state only that the marriage took place between 28 June and 9 November 1818. Her death record states that she was the daughter of Curnel and Ann (Matteson) Vaughan. Henrietta Huling was named as a daughter in the probate of Curnel Vaughn, of Shaftsbury (Bennington Probate 23:197).

Daniel bought the homestead from his father in 1804 and in return leased it for life at six cents a year to his father and mother (Shaftsbury Deeds 5:100,101). He was a farmer and was given a cattle or hog mark of "sawtooth upper side right ear" on 15 March 1825 (Shaftsbury TR 1:59). He acquired many tracts of land and became a large landowner in Shaftsbury. In a deed of 1825 he was called "gentleman". In 1837 he was listed with valuable property, including ten carriages, 150 acres in School District 15, and five acres in District 17.

In 1840 he sold his son Daniel, Jr. property, and on 11 December 1846 he gave for "natural love and affection" about 96 acres to his son Columbus. For "love and affection received to my full satisfaction" he gave 58 acres to his son George V. Huling of Bennington. On 25 September 1846 he sold land to Alexander M. Huling of Bennington (Shaftsbury Deeds 12:379; 14:344; 15:135,213). In 1847 he was proprietor of the Old Meeting House.

By 1850 the family had moved to Bennington. Daniel and Henrietta Huling of Bennington on 23 March 1855 deeded land to Milo C. Huling, who deeded it back. Daniel and Daniel Huling, Jr. quitclaimed land to Alexander M. Huling 10 November 1857, and Daniel deeded land to Alexander M. Huling (ibid., 17:189,190,193; 18:144,145; 20:386).

Mrs. Sara Hawks Huling wrote, "He was one of the largest cattle owners of that time. His farm was the stopping place for drovers from Montreal to Albany, N.Y. and New York. They drove large herds, sometimes numbering 10,000 head, or more. It is a tradition in the family that he often bought several hundred, paying in gold coin. In 1838 he invested in 6,000 acres in Illinois."

A large stone in Shaftsbury Center Cemetery has inscriptions for Alexander and Mary, Daniel and Henrietta (grandparents and parents), Daniel and Sophronia, Milo, who died young, Sophronia, who died young, and Katie. Gravestones were checked in 1979 by this compiler.

Children, surname HULING, (all born Shaftsbury, Vt; dates from Bible record, except Alexander and Milo, which are from gravestones):

154. i. DANIEL[6], b. 10 April 1819; m. Sophronia Chase.

ii. ALEXANDER M., b. 30 August 1820, d. 4 Sept. 1886 at Bennington, aged 66 years; buried in Huling-Blackmer lot of First Congregational Church, Old Bennington; m. at Bennington 26 Aug. 1885 Mary S. Read, b. Oct. 1866 in New York State, daughter of Durfee and Jane Read. In 1900 Mary was living with her brother, Rev. F. H. Read, at Broadalbin, Fulton County, N.Y.

Alexander was a lawyer; he had a house on Main Street in Bennington Center. His estate was administered by Edward Rice, who filed a bond 13 Sept. 1886. An account of 27 April 1889 shows that half went to Mary S. Huling, widow, and 1/14 each to Alexander's brothers and sisters: Truman Huling of Kankakee, George V. Huling, of Kankakee, Illinois, George D. Huling (son of Alonzo), of Kansas City, Annie Blackmer of Bennington, Milo C. Huling of Bennington, and Columbus Huling of Bennington, and 1/42 each to a nephew and nieces, children of his brother Daniel: Edward C. She d. between 24 July 1902 and 9 July 1904 when her will was proved. George Vaughn Huling is buried in Mound Grove Cemetery, Kankakee, Ill., and there is a small stone there for Helen but it has no date.

On 28 March 1849 he received 58 acres from his father for love and affection. On 1 Nov. 1850, called George V. Huling of Bennington, he sold for $1800. to his brother Daniel Huling Jr. 50 acres at Shaftsbury (Shaftsbury Deeds 15:135, 407). The 1850 census listed him as a farmer. He went to Illinois in September 1850 and settled in Bourbonnais, Kankakee County, in 1853. He bought and sold land and carried on a brokerage business; the History of Kankakee called him a capitalist.

George V. Huling, of the City of Kankakee, made his will 18 May 1887 and it was probated 27 Dec. 1894. To his wife Helen he left a house and lot, household effects including the library, and $180,000. in cash or notes. He gave $5,000. to the Ladies' Library Association, $5,000. to the wardens and vestry of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and $2,000. to the Kankakee Cemetery Association. Bequests were made to her nephew Harry Lee Knight, son of Camden Knight; Gertrude L. Knight, son of late nephew Solon Frederick Knight; and grand nieces and nephew; Harry L. 110. HANNAH HULING ABBIE CHASE[5], daughter of Catherine Huling [39] and reputed daughter of Daniel Chase, was born 14 December 1769 at North Kingstown, R.I., where her birth was recorded as Henrietta Huling. She died in Exeter 27 May 1849 (Wightman Genealogy, p. 104; Wait Genealogy, p. 39).

Hannah and GEORGE WHITMAN, both of Exeter, were married there 3 October 1790 by Daniel Sunderland, Justice. He was the son of Daniel and Damarius (Wait) Wightman, born in Exeter 24 October 1765. On 7 April 1823 Asaph Vaughan, yeoman, of East Greenwich, was appointed her guardian and an inventory of her property was made 2 August 1824. 111. VIRTUE[5] HULIN, daughter of Walton[4] Hulin(g) [40] and his wife, Abiah Mosher, was born about 1768, probably in Beekman, Dutchess County, N.Y., and died after 31 January 1842, probably in Montgomery County, N.Y.

She married ca. 1784 PETER KOONS (sometimes spelled Coon, Coons, Kuntz), who was born in 1760 in Beekman, N.Y. and died after November 1842, possibly in Mohawk, Mongtomery County, N.Y. He was the son of Nicholas[3] Koons (George Nicholas[3], Matthias[1] Kuntz) and his first wife, whose name is unknown.

Peter was a Revolutionary soldier. He made several applications for a pension between 1834 and 1842, but they were rejected (R6055). He was then residing in Half Moon, Saratoga County, later in Glen, Mongtomery County, and then in Mohawk, Montgomery County. He was probably the Peter Kuntz listed at Beekman Town in 1790 with one male over 16 years, two males under 16 and two females, and probably the Peter Coonse listed in Montgomery County in 1810 and at Glen in 1840.

On 8 October 1813, persons admitted to full communion by examination at the Dutch Reformed Church, Glen, N.Y., included Virtue Hulin, wife of Peter Coons (Acts and Proceedings of the Consistory 1804-1865, p. 25); members in good standing 4 August 1838 included Mrs. Koonts, and that same day Peter Koontz "appeared and was examined on experimental religion and Doctrinal Knowledge which Was Sustained and he was admitted to the Communion" (ibid., 31, 32).

Virtue, daughter of Walton Huling, was named in the North Kingstown will of her father's sister, Virtue (Huling) Chase, dated 1 January 1816.

The following appears in the Consistory records (page 42) under date of 31 January 1842:

> Consistory Met and Was opend With prayer Peter Coons and his Wife Virtue Appeared to answer to Charges preferred against them (by Common fame) for haveing separated from each other as Man and Wife after through investigation, It Was found that Mrs. Coons had Conducted hurself towards hur Husband in an extreemly Violant and unbecoming Manner and that threated to take his life allidging Crimes against him Which She Could Not prove, and Which the Consistory had full evidence Ware untrue- And al tho She was faithfully and affectionately admonished She Still persisted and Was Verry obstinate and Malicious -- Resolved therefore that Virtue Coons be and is Suspended from the Communion and fellowship of the Church, until She gives Sufficient evidance of her repentance and reformation -- Closed with prayer
> C. Jukes modr

Records of the Dutch Reformed Church at Fonda show that Mrs. Virtue Coons was "received into the church on confession July 3, 1847." She is probably the "Bertue Coons," age 83, listed in the 1850 census living alone in the town of Mohawk, which includes Fonda, Montgomery County, N.Y. She died probably in June 1851.

In 1850 the census listed him as Walter Coons, 57, laborer, at Glen, Montgomery Co., N.Y., with Elleanor, 56, Elizabeth V., 20, Phoebe J., 30, and George, 22.

The following are likely grandchildren of Peter and Virtue (Hulin) Coons):

112. WALTON[5] HULIN, son of Walton Hulin(g) [40] and his wife, Abiah Mosher, was born probably at Beekman, Dutchess County, N.Y., about 1770, and died in Washington County, N.Y. in 1832 (Moses H. Hulin, p. 1).

He married, first, ESTHER HUTCHINGS (ibid.) and, second, ANNA DEWELL (RGH Records), who was born about 1801 and died 15 January 1833 in her 33rd year. She is buried in the Malta Cemetery, Malta, N.Y. (Information from Frank T. Barber, Ballston Spa, before 1930; compiler could not locate her stone in 1979.)

Walton Hulin is said by Ray Greene Huling to have lived in Schaghticoke, Rensselaer County, N.Y., and to have died in Washington County. No probate records have been found.

Betsey married JOHN McDONALD. Her father named her in his will as Elizabeth McDonald. No probate was found for either of them in Berrien County.

Child, surname McDONALD,

i. MARY[6], b. probably in New York State, possibly ca. 1792; m. Samuel Hunter, son of George and Mary (Andrews) Hunter, b. 15 Feb. 1789, possibly at Malta, Saratoga Co., N.Y., d. probably at Niles, Berrien Co., Mich. 27 Dec. 1851, aged 62. They moved in 1836 to Berrien Co., where the 1850 census lists a Samuel Hunter, 61, surveyor, b. N.Y., in the 10th Division and with him Sarah Hunter, 33, b. N.Y. Elsewhere in the same Division were listed Moses Hunter, 20, laborer, and Andrew Hunter, 18, laborer, b. N.Y. No probates were found there.

3. Andrew, b. ca. 1832.

114. ALEXANDER[5] HULING, son of Walton Hulin(g) [40] and his wife Abiah Mosher, was born 9 October 1776 in the town of Beekman, Dutchess County, N.Y. and died 22 September 1828 in Big Prairie, Wayne County (now Ashland County), Ohio. He is buried next to his wife in the Tryon section of Fairview Cemetery, Clinton Township, Wayne County, near Wooster, Ohio.

He was called Alexander, 2nd, and of Shaftsbury, Vt. when he married there on 21 December 1800 LYDIA LANE, the daughter of Hezekiah and Deborah (Thurston) Lane and sister of Mary Lane who married Alexander's brother David Hulin. Lydia was born 30 June 1778 and died at Big Prairie 2 October 1823 (Ref. Mrs. Francis S. Huling) or 21 October 1829 (Fairview Cemetery burial records).

Alexander, 2nd, bought half an acre of land in Shaftsbury 10 December 1800. He made an agreement that day, which was recorded 2 March 1807, for the use of a stream of water, and another agreement 27 July 1807, also concerning the use of water. He bought a tract of land 2 June 1807 and on 14 April 1808 sold one acre and a building to Daniel Huling (Shaftsbury Deeds 4:245; 5:257, 314, 315, 355).

On 28 May 1803 the earmark of Alexander Huling, 2nd, was recorded in Shaftsbury: a hole through the right ear (Town Records 1:59).

A letter of 25 February 1897 from Ed Huling states: "Alexander and family removed from Vermont to Dutchess County, N.Y., when Nathan Lane was quite small and a few years later to Wayne County, Ohio." According to a letter from Bruce Huling to Ray Greene Huling, dated 2 April 1879, later owned by Cyrus Huling Woodbury, this family afterwards lived near Wooster, Ohio, on a farm in Clinton Township, where Alexander had a factory called the "Triphammer," run by water power, for manufacturing scythes, axes, and other agricultural tools. He was listed there in 1826 with 80 acres.

His first wife was MARTHA HOOPER, called "Patty," according to Ray Greene Huling. He married, second, about 1810, ESTHER ROCKWELL, who was a sister of Betsey Rockwell who married Edmund Philip Huling [149]. Esther was born about 28 April 1786 and died 3 February 1864, aged 77 years, 9 months, and 5 or 6 days, and was buried in Malta Ridge Cemetery. In 1979 the stones of James and Esther and their son Peter were in good condition; the only other stone was that of their son George W., which was still legible.

James Hulin bought property in Saratoga County 18 April 1812 from Walton Hulin and Abiah his wife, all of Malta. On the same day, James and Esther Hewlin sold property to Henry Hewlin and Peter Hewlin, all of Malta; this was recorded 16 October 1813 (Saratoga Co. Deeds G:349; F:355). James Hulin and his wife Esther, of Malta, on 2 March 1816 sold to Lawrence Hooper of Malta 200 acres on Lot 40, Ulysses, on the Military Tract, for $3000. On 27 December 1817 they sold 100 acres of Lot 44, Ulysses, for $625. to Henry Hulin and wife Olive of Ulysses (Early Tompkins Co. Deeds, Onondaga County Library, Syracuse, p. 64).

In 1810 James was listed in the census in Saratoga County as head of a household which included two males under 10 years, one 26 to 45, and one over 45, two females under 10 and two other females. He is not listed in the 1820 or 1830 censuses.

The family moved to Saratoga Springs about 1837, where at one time they lived on Matilda Street, near Church Street. Esther was living with her son John in 1850 and with her daughter Phoebe in 1860. The State census of 1855 shows her living in a frame house worth $1000. in Saratoga Springs with daughter Jane, aged 47, born in Saratoga County, both having lived in the town of Saratoga Springs for 18 years.

He married MARY LANE, who was born either in New York or Vermont and died at Half Moon, N.Y.; she was daughter of Hezekiah and Deborah (Thurston) Lane, and sister of Lydia Lane, who married David's brother Alexander.

Jonathan took as a third wife, 20 December 1827, RUTH BEARDSLEY, who died in Milton, Michigan 2 June 1862. Moses H. Hulin wrote that she was born in Connecticut 9 May 1785; Isaac Haight Beardsley in Genealogical History of the Beardsley-Lee Family in America (1902), stated that she was born 1772, the daughter of Jabez and Martha (Payne) Beardsley.

Hannah Hulen and her brother Moses Hunter were invited 18 May 1815 by Dea. Thomas Morey to become members of the church at Canaan, Connecticut, and were admitted that day (Canaan CR:83). Jacob on 20 June 1818 bought from Jonathan and Hannah Hulin a sawmill and millseat on the same stream as Jacob's gristmill in Malta, Saratoga County, N.Y. (Saratoga Co. Deeds H:216). Land records indicate that he probably resided there as late as 1836, but by 1840 was probably at Salina, Syracuse, where he was in salt manufacturing.

In his will, Jacob left one-half of his estate to his wife Lovina and the other half to his children, Jane, Abram and Mark, all of the town of Salina except Abraham who was living in Cincinnati, Ohio. Mark was the only minor, and Joseph W. Loomis was appointed his guardian (Onondaga Co. Wills G:316,478). Petition was made 2 August and probate dated 18 September 1841.

Levina [sic] Hulin left her property to her grandchild Kitte Shuart and to her son Zachariah Shuart (ibid., V:376).

HENRY[5] HULIN, son of Walton Hulin(g) [40] and his wife, Abiah Mosher, was born about February 1789 in New York State, probably at Malta, Saratoga County, and died 25 November 1863, aged 74 years, 9 months. He is buried in Center Cemetery, Braceville Township, Trumbull County, Ohio (dates from gravestone). He was a farmer.

According to his widow's application for a pension, he was married at Malta, N.Y., 6 February 1810 by the Rev. Mr. Gleason, to OLIVE JACOBS. She was born in New York State about September 1792 and died in Braceville Township 22 March 1872 of lung fever, aged 79 years and 6 months (Mahoning Co. Deaths). She is buried with her husband in Center Cemetery there. Olive was the sister of Moses Jacobs, born 17 April 1800, and a cousin of Barney C. Allen, born ca. 1798.

Henry Hulin served in the War of 1812 in October and November 1814 as a private in Capt. Thomas Collamer's company of Detached Militia in a regiment of infantry commanded by Lieutenant Colonel David Rogers (New York Adjutant General's Office, file no. 14033). In 1855 he applied for a land bounty of 40 acres. On 14 June 1871, his widow, Olive Hulin, applied for Henry's land warrants of 40 and 120 acres. After her death, her brother Moses Jacobs, on 6 January 1873, made an affidavit that he was present at her marriage to Henry Hulin at Malta on the 6th day of February 1810, when he was ten years old and that he remembered the birth of their oldest child, John, probably in December 1810, and that John was then, in 1873, living in Jackson, Michigan. Olive's cousin Barney C. Allen made an affidavit that Henry and Olive moved to Braceville Township in February 1818 and brought their four children with them (File 5513).

Henry and Olive lived in the town of Ulysses, Tompkins County, N.Y., where on 27 December 1817 they bought 100 acres on Lot 44, Ulysses, from James Hulin and his wife Esther, of Malta, for $625., and sold this property for $1500. on 7 February 1818 (Early Tompkins Co. Deeds, pp. 66, 85). On 26 August 1818 Henry Hulin, of Braceville, bought 45 acres and later that year 30 acres more in Trumbull County, Ohio (Trumbull Co. Deeds P:451, 453).

Henry and Olive were among the original members in 1820 of The Disciples Church, Newton Falls (History of Trumbull and Mahoning Counties (1882), 2:464). They were living in Braceville Township in 1818, 1841, and 1871, according to deeds and pension application, and were listed in the Newton District in the censuses of 1840, 1850, and 1860, living in Newton Township. In 1860 their son Edwin S. and his two daughters were living with them.

Some of the heirs of Harmon Harmonson, late of the County of Sussex, Delaware, on 9 August 1781 quitclaimed to George Walton, son of George, yeoman, and Mary his wife, about 30 acres situated in Rehoboth Neck, Sussex County. It was stated that after the death of Harmon Harmonson, the property had descended to his daughter Mary Harmonson, who later became the wife of Hamilton Craige, both now deceased, and then to her children, Edward Craige, John Craige, Ruth, wife of Thomas Walker, Elizabeth alias Betty, wife of William Prettyman, Mary, wife of George Walton, Robert Craige and Esther Craige. This may be the George Walton who served in the Revolution and received £71:6s for his services.

Called George Walton, Jr., on 1 March 1782 he bought 30 acres in Cedar Creek Hundred from George and Sarah Black; his father bought land from the Blacks at the same time (Sussex Co. POLLOCK, who was perhaps the son of William Willson and Sarah (Pate) Pollock, who were married 12 May 1761 by Rev. Gardiner Thurston (Arnold 7:360). They may be the Jeremiah Pollock family listed in the 1800 census in Washington County and in 1810 in Exeter.

Nancy Huling's earmark was given to Caleb Clark at a meeting of the town council at East Greenwich 24 November 1791 (Bates Collection, 5:124). Nancy Huling, singlewoman, transferred property to her mother Lydia on 1 January 1794, and on 5 June 1797 Lydia and Mary Huling transferred property to Jeremiah W. Pollock and wife Nancy. Jeremiah Wilson Pollock, yeoman, and Nancy Pollock, his wife, deeded property in North Kingstown to Oliver Spink in 1797 (NK Deeds 15B:5, 248, 285, 286, 287). On 8 May 1797 the North Kingstown Town Council noted that Jeremiah W. Pollock and his family "abide in this town [but] are not inhabitants thereof and never having produced any certificate ... are likely to become chargeable to the town" and ordered said Jeremiah, his wife Nancy and children, namely, Lydia, William, and his infant son, be removed to South Kingstown, which was their place of last legal settlement (NK Prob. & TC 14:146). Jeremiah W. Pollock was ordered in October 1810 and April 1812, by the Supreme Court of Washington County, to give quit-claim deeds to Andrew Huling (Court Books D:538 and E:46-50).

Lydia was born 20 August 1798 at North New Berlin, N.Y. and died at Geneva, Nebraska, 20 March 1889, aged 90 years and 7 months. She was married, second, in LaSalle County, Illinois, four years after Daniel's death, to Robert Smith, who died 11 November 1881 aged 81 years (A. H. Huling typescript).

In 1830 Daniel was listed at Willet, Cortland County, N.Y. and in 1850 in Harmony Township, Chautauqua County, N.Y. with three children. Lydia was living at French Creek, Chautauqua County, in 1855, when she deeded land.

On 15 November 1852 Daniel Huling of the town of French Creek bought 120 acres, the east part of lot 27, of Holland Land Co. survey, from Lewis and Harriet Canfield (Chautauqua Co. Deeds 63:384). On 15 November 1853 Charles G. Huling and Lucinda, his wife, of the town of Clymer, Chautauqua County, and Lewis Canfield and Harriet, his wife, of the town of French Creek, sold to Hiram G. Huling of French Creek part of lot 27; Charles G. Huling and Harriet Canfield being heirs of the late Daniel Huling (ibid. 63:508). Hiram Huling, and Cornelia his wife, and Lydia Huling, of French Creek, sold to James Bemis an undivided portion of a lot of 120 acres on 12 April 1855 (ibid. 95:63). Ansel H. Huling, of the town of French Creek, sold his portion of lot 27 to James Bemis 31 March 1860 (ibid. 95:62).

128. ALEXANDER[6] HULING, son of Andrew Huling [53] and his second wife, Ruth Greene, was born 4 March 1793 at North Kingstown, R.I. and died 8 May 1848 (Smith Almanacs).

Alexander and SUSAN CLARKE, daughter of Gardiner and Ruth (Slocum) Clarke, were married in the autumn of 1813 and divorced in April 1835 (Washington Co. Supreme Court G:376). Susan was born in North Kingstown 31 May 1797 and died there 14 May 1887, aged 90 years, 11 months and 14 days. She was a sister of the Elizabeth Clarke who married Alexander's brother James, and a descendant of William White of the Mayflower through her mother, Ruth Slocum[7] (Esther Corey[6], Elizabeth Drake[5], Esther[4] White, Jonathan[3], Peregrine[2], William[1]).

In 1815 Alexander Huling, tanner, bought a house and half acre of land from John A. and Sarah Ann Sweet. In 1830 the census listed Alexander and Susan in North Kingstown with a household indicating four sons and two daughters. About 1835, Ray G. Huling, son of Alexander, chose as his guardian his mother Mrs. Susan Huling, who was also appointed guardian for Christopher D. Huling and George J. Huling, sons of Alexander, under the age of 14 (NK Probate 27:155).

In 1850 Susan was living with her son George in Providence, and in 1865 with her daughter Elizabeth Allen.

129. RAY GREENE[6] HULING, son of Andrew Huling [53] and his second wife, Ruth Greene, was born at North Kingstown, R.I. 1 December 1794 and died in Providence 29 March 1846, aged 51 years, as Green Huling. He is buried in the Old Huling Cemetery, near Wickford Junction.

Ray Greene married his cousin MARY DONNISON[6], daughter of Jonathan Donnison and his wife Avis Frances[5] Huling. He was of Exeter and she of Providence when their banns were published 21 and 28 November and 5 December 1824; they were married 21 December 1824 by Elder James Wilson. Mary was born 26 February 1786 in Providence and died at East Greenwich, of paralysis, 23 June 1868, aged 82. She was buried in the Old Huling Cemetery.

Evidently named for the Honorable Ray Greene, who had been attorney-general of Rhode Island during the Revolution, United States Senator and District Attorney, he was the first of many named Ray Greene Huling. He was of Exeter as early as 26 March 1821 when his father gave him land and one quarter of a house (Exeter Deeds 9:95).

In 1830 the census listed this family at East Greenwich and in 1840 at West Greenwich. In 1850 Mary lived in East Greenwich in a household which included Avis Fenner, Hannah Johnson, her sister-in-law, and her nephew Jonathan D. Huling.

In his will dated 29 March 1846 and proved 23 May following, Ray Greene Huling, of East Greenwich, left "to wife Mary Huling all and singular my property and estate," naming her executrix. He signed by mark "by reason of Great bodily infirmity" (EG Probate 7:582).

Mary D. Huling, of East Greenwich, in her will dated 14 October 1858 and probated 25 July 1868, appointed John G. Huling executor and Avis Eliza Fenner executrix. She bequeathed to her husband's brother, John G. Huling, the Thomas Tillinghast farm in Frenchtown "where he now resides." To Ray Green Huling, John J. Huling, Thomas D. Huling, Andrew Huling, and Jonathan D. Huling, sons of the late Jonathan D. Huling, she gave half of a farm in Exeter, called the Pollock farm, 105 acres, owned by her husband and Jonathan D. Huling as tenants in common. She gave to her husband's brother, Christopher C. Huling, half of the farm in North Kingstown "on the ten rod road, called the Huling corner and known as the Huling homestead farm." To her niece Avis Eliza Fenner she left the Job Tillinghast farm in Frenchtown "being the farm whereon my said husband resided at the time of his decease and the same whereon I now reside," and all the livestock and residue. She also named Avis' son Thomas James Fenner. The inventory indicated a comfortably furnished home (EG Probate 8: 485, 486, 495, 496).

Child, surname HULING:

i. JONATHAN DONNISON[7]; d. in infancy 1 Feb. 1826 and was buried in the Old Huling Cemetery (Arnold's North Kingstown Cemetery 8; date from RGH).

130. TOLLERATION HARRIS[6] HULING, son of Andrew Huling [53] and his second wife, Ruth Greene, was born in North Kingstown, R.I. 18 April 1797 (VR) or 22 April (g.s.) and died 22 October 1861. He is buried in the Episcopal Cemetery, Stockport, Columbia County, N.Y., where his gravestone reads "T. Harris Huling."

His first wife was MARTHA M. FORBES, who was born in New York State about 17 January 1805 and died 28 May 1849, aged 44 years, 4 months and 11 days. She is buried in Association Cemetery, Sylvania, Lucas County, Ohio, as wife of T. H. Huling. She was probably the daughter of Hannah and George Forbes, who died in 1835 and 1837, respectively, and are buried in the Huling lot with the same style of headstone.

His second wife was JANE KENNEDY, born 13 July 1811, who died 9 January 1892 and is buried with her husband. She was possibly the daughter of Charles Kennedy, M.D. and his wife Samantha, who are buried in the Association Cemetery, or of Robert Kennedy, who died 3 April 1847 and who conveyed land to T. H. Huling (Columbia Co. Deeds 80:292, 293). Jane K. Huling, of the town of Stockport, N.Y., made her will 11 October 1886 leaving several bequests and the residue to sons of her brothers William and David Kennedy (ibid., 92:251-256).

He may have been the "Horace" Huling who joined the Baptist Church at Exeter 22 August 1816 (Arnold 10:413).

On 4 March 1821 he was of Lenox, Madison County, N.Y., when he bought property on the east side of Main Street, part of the Canastota Reservation. He sold half the lot 5 March 1825 and the other half two days later. The deed was signed by Tolleration H. Huling and Martha M. Huling (Madison Co. Deeds S:78; W:24,25).

Some information is from Patricia J. Huling.

He is buried in the Old Huling Cemetery, North Kingstown. Ray Greene Huling, in giving his date of death as 1 October, was probably referring to the funeral.

Jonathan married SARAH MARIAH STRAIGHT, called Sally, the daughter of Daniel and Mary (Moon) Straight, of West Greenwich. Sarah was born about 21 November 1801 and died a widow, of old age, at East Greenwich, 18 November 1889, aged 87 years, 11 months and 27 days. The will of her grandfather, Oliver Moon, dated 20 March 1845, names her as Sarah Huling (WG Probate 9:226-7).

This was probably the Jonathan Hulen listed in the 1820 census at Exeter, where he was living 18 March 1825 when his father deeded to him and his brothers John and Christopher a farm for the privilege of erecting a gristmill (Exeter Deeds 9:434). Between 1834 and 1837 they moved to East Greenwich, where Jonathan D. Huling made his will 4 May 1846, leaving all to his beloved wife Sarah Huling ... "and the said Sarah shall use the property in bringing up and supporting the Children in a mother manner." "His father, John Bentley, came to this place in 1778 or '79, and settled on the present family homestead. At that time there was only one house at Saratoga Springs. He took up one hundred and fifty acres lease lands ... there was no house at the present village of Ballston Spa, but the springs were known and visited to some extent....

147. BEEKMAN[6] HULING, son of John Huling [103] and his second wife, Charity Eighmy, was born in Dutchess County, N.Y., probably in Beekman Town, 20 November 1794 (date from gravestone), and died 20 August 1864 at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. of consumption. He is buried in Greenridge Cemetery there. His monument is inscribed: "A just man who believed."

Beekman and MARIA SMITH were married in the town of Milton, Saratoga County, 5 March 1820 at 7 p.m. by Rev. Charles McCabe (Bible record). Maria was the daughter of Jacob Smith and his wife Rebecca Lodowick; she was born 8 December 1799 in Rensselaer County, N.Y. and died 22 December 1886 in Saratoga Springs, where she is buried in Greenridge Cemetery. She was baptized 25 February 1800 at the Reformed Dutch Church of Schodack at Muitzeskill, Rensselaer County. Her father, Jacob Smith, was son of Tunis Smith, (son of John Niclaus Schmid and his wife Eva, born in Holland), a Revolutionary soldier, and his wife Tabitha Ham, daughter of Conrad and Rachel (Rohrbaugh) Ham. Maria's mother, Rebecca, was the daughter of John[3] Lodowick (Casperus[2], Peter[1]) and his wife Elizabeth[4] Muller (Isaac[3], Johannes[2], Cornelis Stephense[1]).

Beekman Huling on 28 March 1817 bought for $405. the property that was to become his homestead in the northern part of Milton, a half mile north of the Stone Church. This land was sold to settle a suit brought 1 January 1816 by Samuel Cook against John Huling [probably Beekman's father], for $363.95 plus interest. The 50 acres was bounded on the east by the highway, north by Stephen Filkins, west by Isaac Webb, and south by Jacob Emigh. On 2 February 1827, Beekman bought almost 11 more acres, in the town of Greenfield, Saratoga County (both original deeds in possession of this compiler). Altogether he acquired 100 acres before moving to Saratoga Springs in 1831.

His grandson, Alden S. Huling, wrote of him:

Beekman Huling probably had very little school education, certainly none but that afforded by the meagrely supported country schools of his youth. He was however possessed of unusual mental powers, was an eager reader and an earnest student, and was no doubt from early manhood better equipped intellectually than the generality of those about him. In the first years of independent activity he combined the pursuits of a carpenter and farmer, in which respect he followed his father. Before marrying he became the owner of the homestead farm in Milton, and in time increased it by the acquisition of adjoining parcels of land to nearly one hundred acres. In 1831 he removed to the village of Saratoga Springs, retaining title to the farm however for nearly twenty years thereafter. [Granddaughter Caroline A. Huling added, "After he moved into town, he took lessons of a tutor and employed one for his wife."]

He had worked in the village as a carpenter before removing to the place as a residence, erecting there several houses, and was a well-known citizen probably somewhat influential, having been one of the original members of the Universalist Church, organized in 1826. In 1839 he joined with others in the establishment of a newspaper in Saratoga Springs, believed to be demanded by the interests of the then whig party, and was for a time one of its publishers. About this time also he opened a bookstore, which was continued for over twenty years. He was of sturdy independence, and never hesitated when led by his convictions to take a position against the current of sluggish conformity to popular views, which is evidenced by his early association with the Universalists, beginning at a time when controversies between the varying religious sects were marked with a degree of bitterness less common in recent times. He finally became a Spiritualist, adopting this phase of belief also at a time when it attracted almost unlimited ridicule and obloquy.

At one period of his life he became convinced that his health was injuriously affected by the eating of meat food, and he determined to refrain from its use. He recovered his health to a considerable degree, and ascribed the improvement to his abstention. He was of course familiar with the doctrines of the vegetarians, but did not take up the advocacy of their general adoption, only acting on the belief that the disuse of meat would probably tend to improvement in his own health. He also used Graham bread from the time of its introduction. He was a vegetarian for the last twenty years of his life.

At another time he determined to let his beard grow for the protection of his throat, which gave rise to a great deal of ridicule, full beards being infrequently seen at that time. The hair on his chin never attained remarkable length, but was longer than commonly worn, and it was his practice to confine the ends of it within his shirt collar which made effectual the desired protection of the throat.

Beekman Huling was an ardent abolitionist, and in fact, according to his light he was radical on most subjects, being always connected with the coming political party rather than the passing. He was not a practiced writer, but occasionally took up the pen for controversial purposes, and conducted a discussion with vigor. He rarely if ever attempted speaking in public.

He was always much opposed to the use of intoxicating liquors, and was active in movements to correct the evils arising from their use. The closely economical habits of his whole life were, perhaps, also largely due to the poverty and traits of his youth. From the beginning of his residence in the village he was the owner of houses and lots therein. He accumulated property very slowly by the most careful management, in which he had the earnest cooperation of his wife, never speculating in any sense. In his later years he was possessed of real estate then of the value of twenty thousand dollars or thereabouts. He was eminently a just man, exacting his full dues in dealing with others but equally solicitous in rendering what was due from him, as in insisting upon his own. In charity he was never ostentatious, but willingly aided those deemed worthy and was devoted in all friendships.

In 1850 Beekman Huling was listed as a bookseller and in 1860 as a merchant. In 1860 and 1865, grandson Alden S. Huling was living in their household. In 1870 Maria was living alone, and in 1880 also, the latter census listing her next door to her son-in-law, William M. Searing.

Beekman was elected a trustee of the school commission 1 October 1833 (Sylvester, p. 220). In 1876 the Huling Estate owned property on Federal Street between Congress and Washington.

In his will, written at the age of sixty-five years, dated 28 April 1860, Beekman Huling left all to his wife Maria Smith Huling (carbon copy or original in possession of this compiler).

Maria S. Huling made her will 2 December 1868 and it was probated 29 December 1886. She bequeathed the brick two-story double house on the north side of Caroline Street in the village of Saratoga Springs to her son and his wife for their natural lives, they to live in the west half and the east half to be rented, the proceeds used to keep the building in good repair; at their deaths the proceeds of the sale of the house were to go to their children. The residue of the property was to be divided between her son Edmund James Huling and her daughter Caroline M.H. Searing (Saratoga Co. Wills 29:602; original will in possession of this compiler).

She was born 30 November 1803 in New York State, daughter of Stephen and Charity Filkins, and died 26 June 1876. She is buried with her husband. The will of Stephen Filkins, dated 4 April 1844, named his daughter Fanny Huling, wife of Barzillai (Saratoga Co. Will Book 13:303).

Barzillai lived most of his life in the towns of Milton and Greenfield in Saratoga County. He was of Rochester, N.Y. in 1830 and of Gates, Monroe County, in 1832, when he and Fanny bought and sold a lot there (Monroe Co. Deeds 24:119; 25:372). In 1840 they were in Wilton, Saratoga County. In 1848 he owned 47 acres in Milton, assessed at $300., on which he paid $1.80 in taxes (1848 Tax Work Book for the Town of Milton — Treasurer Abraham Wood). In 1859 he took a farm in the town of Vermillion, LaSalle County, Illinois, two miles from Tonica, where the family was listed in the 1860 census.

He wrote the following letter to his brother Beekman Huling, here quoted verbatim with original spelling:

He was of Shaftsbury 4 December 1826 when he bought 120 acres in Genesee County, N.Y. for $2500. from Peter and Polley Sprague, and of Genesee County when he bought an additional 20 acres from Wilhem Villink, 12 December 1835. He married at Bennington, 12 November 1855, AMELIA EMILY PHILLIPS, who was born at Stamford, Vt. 13 October 1834 and died of bronchial pneumonia at Bennington, 25 April 1917, aged 82 years, 6 months and 12 days, as Emily Amelia Phillips Huling, widow. Her death record states that she was the daughter of Aaron Burr and Caroline (Ball) Phillips, both born Deerfield, Mass. Milo and Amelia are buried in Grandview Cemetery, North Bennington.

Milo C. Huling acquired property in Shaftsbury from his parents, who were then of Bennington, 23 March 1855, and made a reverse deed the same day (Shaftsbury Deeds 17:189, 190, 193). In 1900 he and his wife lived in New York City at 208 West 113th Street.

161. STEPHEN[6] HULIN, possible son of Walton Hulin [112] and his first wife, Esther Hutchings, was born in 1804 in New York State and died after 1880. In 1850 he was listed as a farmer in the town of Port Huron, St. Clair County, Michigan, and in 1860 as a hotelkeeper. His wife, CATHARINE ——, was born about 1800 in Michigan.

According to a 1912 history of St. Clair County by William Lee Jenks, Stephen Huling, an early resident of Port Huron Township, taught a singing school. He was already of St. Clair County on 16 December 1833 when he bought 40 acres in Clyde Township and another 40 acres 7 July 1845 (Hilda A. Taylor, First Land Owners of St. Clair Co., Michigan, [1978], p. 87).

He was of St. Clair County, Michigan, when he obtained, by patent dated 21 May 1835, 240 acres in Lynn Township (Taylor, First Land Owners of St. Clair Co., Michigan, p. 19). In 1850 and 1860 he was listed as a farmer in Woodstock Township, Lenawee County, Michigan.

In 1826 he was on the Wayne County Tax List in Clinton Township for chattel tax, and was listed there in the 1830 census.

Family tradition claims that Ira and Amanda had at least three sons and then she eloped; that the two oldest went overland to California in 1849 and were probably killed by Indians; and that the youngest son was Alexander.

Ira Huling of Jefferson County, Iowa, in his will dated 14 October 1867 and filed at Fairfield, Iowa 4 November 1867, left all his real and personal property to his daughter Jeanett Massengale.

He is buried with his wife in Big Lick Cemetery, Hancock County, Ohio, which is three miles south of West Independence and northeast of Findlay.

Nathan and ELIZA WYCKOFF were married in her brother's house in what was then McZena, Clinton Township, Wayne County, [now Ashland County], Ohio, on 14 November 1833 by Chester Spafford, J.P. (Wayne Co. Marriages 4A:70). Eliza was the daughter of Peter Wicoff and his wife Elizabeth Jane Bruce (Wyckoff Family in America [1950], p. 86). She was born near Erie, Pa. 10 May 1809 and died in Big Spring Township 21 March 1853, from erysipelas caused indirectly by a fall from a horse.

Nathan was issued a license in Seneca County, Ohio, 24 August 1854, to marry SENATE (?BROUSE) STEVENS, but the marriage was not recorded there (Wayne Co. Marriages 4:303). She is said to have been a widow, and the daughter of James and Elizabeth (Robinson) Brouse.

Huling bought for $800. from Giles and Mary Aylsworth, all of Wayne County, 173 acres in Seneca County with one boundary on the county line between Seneca and Hancock Counties (Seneca Co. He was a farmer. After living for about two years on the farm owned by his father at Big Prairie, Clinton Township, Wayne County, Ohio, he went in the spring of 1836 to Big Springs, Seneca County, on the line of Seneca and Hancock Counties on the Findlay and New Haven Road, about eight miles south of Fostoria. He was a trustee of the township in 1841, 1842, and 1843 (History of Seneca County, Ohio, [1886], Warner, Beers & Co., p. 418).

According to a letter written by Cyrus Huling 1 June 1931, the children lived on the farm until the outbreak of the Civil War, when the three older sons enlisted and the farm was sold "at partition."

Nathan L. Huling's estate was granted to Isaac Dewitt, administrator, 2 July 1856; letters were granted 15 June 1857 to Ned Huling, administrator de bonis non [goods not previously appraised]. A public auction of all household and farm goods was held. Several items were bought by Sinnet Huling (Seneca Co. Probate Adm. 2:99). Peter Brayton was given guardianship of Ned, William, Bruce, Elizabeth, and Cyrus (papers all missing from files 1148 through 1152) and later David Hays was given guardianship of Elizabeth (file 1528). Peter and Mary A. Brayton quitclaimed 173 acres to Ed Huling and William Huling on 24 September 1859, and at a sheriff's sale 2 November 1863 Ed bought the property for $2500. (Seneca Co. In a letter dated 2 April 1879 addressed to Ray Greene Huling, Bruce Huling wrote, "Mary Hulin, daughter of Alexander Huling, was a great invalid as well as a very peculiar one, being afflicted with some nervous disease on account of which she could not bear even ordinary noises, and any unusual sound would throw her into violent spasms. After several years of suffering, when her friends thought she could not live much longer, she became the wife of James Childs and became the mother of twenty-two children, most if not all twins or triplets and I am not sure but one quartette. Three of her children are alive."

Reuben was Captain of Company F, 77th Regiment, New York Volunteer Militia, in which he enlisted 3 November 1861; he was discharged 25 December 1863 (Durkee; Sylvester, p. 222). (NSDAR No. 100,201). Permelia was a sister of Cordelia, wife of Julius F. Howard, with whom she, as Amelia, 42, born Ohio, and her mother Nancy, 75, born Connecticut, were listed in 1860. Permelia went to Kansas before 1869, was there in 1882, and moved to Trenton, Missouri in 1891 or earlier. Her granddaughter Della Cann visited her in 1902. (Some data is from A. Clyde Young.)

Edwin married, second, SARAH A. (BROWN) CANNON, born 9 November 1832 in Tennessee, who died 4 July 1921 and is buried in Jobe Cemetery, Erwin, Tennessee.

He was a farmer of Braceville, Ohio at the time of his first marriage and again in 1860. In 1850 he was a shoemaker in Saratoga County, N.Y. With him then were his sister Lydia and his daughter "Hima"; Abanna was living with his parents. In 1860 he and his two daughters were with his parents in Newton Township, Trumbull County, Ohio. Before 1876 he went to Erwin, Tennessee, and bought property there. To fulfill a prenuptial promise, he transferred 107 acres to Sarah on 1 November 1879. They were involved in several real estate transactions, some having to do with water and mineral rights; some of the property was on Hulin Street, and there was a Hulin Ravine in that area.

In 1880 Edwin, his wife Sarah A., and son Greely, age 5, were living in District 5, Unicoi County, Tennessee, and were still there in 1900.

In her will dated 17 April 1918 with codicil 21 February 1919, which was probated 12 July 1921, Sarah Hulin made cash bequests to some of her relatives and ordered her real estate sold with the proceeds going half to Banie Palmer "as one of the heirs of my husband E. S. Hulin" and half to be "equally divided to Dick Cann, Della Young, and Phoebe Owens, the three children of Zimesne Can [sic], the dec'd daughter of E. S. Hulin" (Unicoi Co., Tenn. When Lester was in his teens he attended the academy of Professor Peck, afterward Bishop Jessie T. Peck, at Schenectady, N.Y. (letter of 7 April 1930 from L. G. Hulin to CAH.)

Alden S. Huling in his "An Account of Beekman Huling and His Descendants," (1896), which is in the possession of this compiler, wrote:

> Lester Hulin was educated in Saratoga County, and remained with his parents until twenty-one years of age. He then started westward, traveling by the Erie canal and the lakes to Chicago, and thence by stage and river boat to Henry county, Iowa, and in the spring of 1845 to St. Louis. Here he met Col. Fremont and Lieut. Abert, who were organizing an expedition to explore the west, and Mr. Hulin engaged with them. The company numbered about sixty-four men, well equipped with rifles, ammunition, horses, mules, saddles, etc., and wagons to carry the baggage. They crossed Kansas to Fort Bent, Colo., and there the company divided, about forty-two men going with Lieut. Abert; young Hulin being of the number. Continuing their journey, they passed through New Mexico, northwest Texas, the Indian Territory, and back to St. Louis. They had surveyed rivers and watercourses, and had many adventures and hair-breadth escapes.
>
> Hulin returned to Iowa, and spent the year 1846. He then decided to go to Oregon, and with two horses, one to ride the other to pack, he started for St. Joseph, Missouri. Here in the spring of 1847, he joined an emigrant party conducted by Capt. David Davis. The train was increased to about eighty wagons on account of Indian hostilities. Having had some previous experience, Mr. Hulin was appointed camp-master, and upon him devolved the task of locating the camp with feed and water facilities, and with a view to defense. The duty was ably performed, and the company progressed without serious difficulty. They crossed by the south route through Utah and Nevada, through Rogue river valley, by the Goose and Klamath lakes and through the Umpqua canyon, arriving at the head of the Willamette valley November 1, 1847, after five months of weary travel.

Mr. Hulin went on to Benton county, and soon after the Whitman massacre he volunteered in a company under Capt. John Owen, and spent six months in the Walla Walla county, engaged in the Cayuse war. He experienced many hardships and exposures from the severe winter weather. He returned to the Willamette valley in July 1848 and selected a donation claim, but hearing of the discovery of gold in California he forsook all in pursuit of the golden nuggets. Crossing the Siskiyou mountains, he began mining on Feather river. From there he went to Sutter's fort for supplies, then on to the middle fork of American river. Here he passed the winter at "dry diggings." Although the weather was stormy and the snow deep, he averaged from twenty-five to thirty dollars a day for every day he worked, and in all took out about $1,000.

In the spring of 1849 he went to Sacramento, and entered into a partnership with Capt. Smith. They freighted to Coloma, making several trips, and each trip netted about $400. profit. In July 1849 Hulin went to San Francisco and took passage on the schooner Hackstaff, with Capt. White in command, and started for Oregon. All went merrily for the first seventeen days, but the vessel stranded at the mouth of Rogue river. Mr. Hulin with the other passengers and crew, thirty-one in number, then started overland, through the woods, mountains, and hostile Indian tribes, for the Willamette valley. After twenty-four days of painful traveling they reached their destination, having experienced numerous dangers and difficulties, and nearly starving to death.

Nothing daunted by previous experiences, Mr. Hulin started back in a short time to California, and resumed mining. This he did not follow very long, but went again to San Francisco, and embarked in the Ann Smith, with George B. Flanders in Command. This time the journey was made in safety, and Mr. Hulin arrived in Portland after quite a long trip. In fact the vessel made such slow progresss that he and three or four others hired a small boat and paddled themselves up the Columbia river, to Portland. From there he went back to Lane county, and located a claim of 320 acres ten miles north of Eugene at Riverview . Here he farmed and raised stock until 1881, when he removed to Eugene ... he increased by purchase to 420 acres. He has also 320 acres of land in Linn county, near Harrisburg, besides improved property in Eugene ... is a devout member of the Methodist Episcopal Church ....

Anna Rebecca Spooner's father, Alden Spooner, was prominent in the early life of Brooklyn, where he was editor of The Long Island Star, one of the founders of the Apprentices' Library, a forerunner of the Brooklyn Institute, Museum and Botanical Garden. For more detail, see Ralph Foster Weld's Brooklyn Village 1816-1834, (1938), Columbia University Press.

Alden's father, Judah Paddock Spooner, was a veteran of the Revolution and the first printer in the State of Vermont; he was a descendant of John Alden, Richard Warren, and Francis Cooke, all of the Mayflower, through his mother Rebecca Paddock[4] (Alice[3] Alden, David[2], John[1]) and his father Thomas Spooner[6] (Rosamond Hammond[5], Mary Hathaway[4], Sarah[3] Cooke, John[2] and Francis[1]; and John Cooke's wife Sarah[2] Warren, Richard[1]). Alden Spooner's mother was Deborah Douglas, whose early Connecticut ancestors included William Douglas, Robert Hempstead, Richard Sperry, John Post, Rev. Nehemiah Smith, and Richard Ely. Rebecca Jermain, the wife of Alden Spooner, was the daughter of Major John Jermain (the son of Mary Ann Daniels of Huguenot ancestry) and Margaret Pierson, a descendant of Abraham Pierson, Edward Howell and David Lupton.

Edmund James Huling was born on the family homestead in Milton and on 31 March 1831 moved to Saratoga Springs, where he resided the remainder of his life. He attended common and select schools in Saratoga Springs to prepare himself for college. His schooling was interrupted for three years in February 1835 when he became a clerk in a store and later a clerk in the Union Hall. He taught school for two months before helping to establish The Saratoga Whig newspaper in February 1839. In 1841 he became a correspondent for the New York Tribune. In February 1842 he purchased the drugstore of Henry V. Allen, which he sold in February 1851 and at once started a job printing office; in September of that year he started a weekly paper which was merged in The Saratoga Whig, of which he became sole proprietor in November 1851. In 1855 he changed the name to The Saratoga County Press, which he continued until January 1863, when he sold it and it was merged with The Saratogian. In September 1863 he edited the Newark, N.J. Daily Mercury for a few weeks. In June 1864 he was appointed acting assistant paymaster in the United States Navy, and ordered to service in the Mississippi squadron under Admiral Porter. He served until the close of the war on the steamer Huntress, cruising from the mouth of the Ohio River to Memphis. He was honorably discharged in November 1865. From June 1866 to 1

October 1870 he was local editor of The Saratogian. In 1871 he was elected coroner of the county, and the following February, 1872, became one of the proprietors and manager of The Saratoga Sentinel. (Condensed from History of Saratoga County, N.Y., with Illustrations, 1609-1878, pp. 103 and 104). He was recording secretary of the Saratoga County Agricultural Society from 1855 to 1859 (ibid., p. 95).

In 1881 he published "Reminiscences of Gunboat Life in the Mississippi Squadron," and in 1889 a small genealogy entitled "Edmund James Huling, His Ancestors and Descendants."

For years he was Associated Press agent and later for the News Press Association. He was well known as a special correspondent and during his career contributed to the New York Express, New York Star, Newark Mercury, Chicago Times, Troy Times, Troy Press, and other papers (The Saratoga Sun of 12 Feb. 1891).

Although he was a Universalist, he had a pew in Bethesda Episcopal Church and was invariably present at the morning service. In his last years he was a Spiritualist. While serving on the gunboat he conducted services as a lay reader with his Book of Common Prayer (biography by his daughter Caroline Alden Huling).

At his death the following editorial was published in the Troy Daily Press and other papers:

> Saratoga lost a good citizen when Edmund James Huling passed on. He was an honest, hard-working, lifelong journalist, and although he died poor in purse he was rich in those deathless qualities that give lustre to the soul. Unfortunate as he was toward the last in newspaper enterprise, he was never so poor as to wrong another that he might profit thereby; never so engrossed in his own losses and disappointments that he was not ready to perform a friendly office for any who needed his ministration. He was a man who suffered sorely but uncomplainingly from the treachery and ingratitude of men whom he had befriended. The soul of honor himself, he was loath to look for guile in others. His pathway through life was long and rugged; but he was a patient toiler who did not halt to repine. He never faltered in loyalty to his convictions, for which he was ever ready to make any sacrifice. Mr. Huling was not notably popular, because he was ever a man of principle and never a creature that catered to public prejudices. Gifted in mind and free of utterance, he lived a consistent, manly life, and had nothing to conceal from the world. Those who knew him best will say a purer, truer man is seldom found in any calling or community.

When he re-enlisted in 1864, he was described as being 5 feet 10 inches tall, with dark complexion, hazel eyes and dark hair, a farmer. Although his health was poor, he was not mustered out until 31 July 1865 at Cairo, Illinois, after having taken part in the battles of Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. In 1866 they started for Missouri in a covered wagon train. They settled at Florida, near Hannibal, where he organized and taught a school in his home. After eight or ten years of frustration trying to overcome the illiteracy of the region, they moved on to Nebraska, where he built a house on his homestead near Harvard, Clay County. They were in their newly built house when the blizzard of 1876 struck. After surviving that terrible winter, he prospered in farming and contributed to agricultural papers. He

He was appointed a colonel and with a staff of one Chinese who spoke English and 10 native tenders with stock animals was able to keep the supply line stocked with two vital materials. This whetted his appetite to see more of the world; he resigned his professorship and became a consulting geologist abroad. For more of his career see Who's Who on the Pacific Coast, (1951), p. 308. No children. (Biographical material and some vital statistics from Gordon Huling Smith.)

The History of Lafayette, R.I., page 31, states that "from an accident in early childhood, he was crippled by the resulting physical handicap, but was of powerful frame otherwise ... [he] was employed in the Lafayette mill, at a sitting job for some years. Later he was a correspondent for Providence and local newspapers. He lived many years in the Captain Jimmy house, next to the then newer schoolhouse, and occupied it during the time it

Sarah was the daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth Ann (Pierce) Tourgee, born at North Kingstown 18 February 1848; she died at Wickford, R.I. 22 April 1926, and is buried with her husband in Elm Grove Cemetery.

Erie was listed as a spinner in 1865, a blacksmith in 1869, and a mason in 1882. He was a stonemason and helped to build many buildings in the State. He worked on the Lafayette Mill, the Courthouse at Kingston, Plumbeach Lighthouse, stonework on the Wickford Branch Railroad and at State Camp Ground, and had contracted to build all mason work for the millhouses.

351. JOHN BEEKMAN[8] HULING, son of Edmund James Huling [238] and his wife Anna Rebecca Spooner, was born 21 March 1852 at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. and died 24 September 1917 at Downers Grove, Illinois. He and his wife are buried in the Westside (now Oak Hill) Cemetery at Downers Grove.

He was married to MARY ELIZA EBERWINE, called Molly, at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, 3 June 1882, at the home of her parents in Vincennes, Indiana. She was born 13 December 1859, at Olney, Illinois, daughter of Frederick George and Eliza Jane (Daniel) Eberwine, and died 4 July 1951 at Downers Grove. The ancestry of her grandfather Johann Christoph Philipp Eberwein can be traced in the male line to 1515, all in Goettingen, Germany. Her maternal great-grandparents were William and Jincey (----) Daniel, from Georgia, and George and Catherine (Plough) Miner, of Knox County, Indiana.

Mary E. was a student for one year at St. Mary's of the Woods. Her mother had a lace store in Vincennes, Indiana, which also sold school satchels and sheet music, and for which she was a saleswoman traveling to nearby small towns. Her success as a saleswoman caused J. B. Huling to visit Vincennes. He fell in love and lost his best salesperson; this ended her pursuit of a musical career, although she did give music lessons for a time.

They lived in Chicago at 461 Belden Avenue and then 276 Fremont Street before moving about 1892 to Downers Grove, where they lived on Forest Avenue for a year or two before moving to the corner of Maple Avenue and Washington, where they lived until his death. Afterwards she lived in Los Angeles.

J. B. learned the trade of printer. He worked his way to England on a cattle boat. The Printers' Circular of August 1871 carried a letter from him, written in Liverpool, England, concerning the printing trade. From 1874 to 1877 he worked for the University Press and other fine firms in Boston. For a few years he had a very successful lace business, doing business as J. B. Huling and Co., selling laces, underwear trimmings, bedspreads and linens. In 1882 his office was at 108 Madison Street and in 1883 at 46-48 Madison, Chicago, with agents in Olney, Illinois, Princeton and Vincennes, Indiana. He published The Lace Gazette from 1881 to 1886 with offices at 46-48 Madison Street and later at 177 Monroe Street, Chicago. At one time he was editor of the Inland Printer and for a while was an excellent proof-reader on a Chicago paper. In 1888 he established the Commercial Printing Company, an early address being 196 South Clark Street, and by 1905 at 178 Monroe. He published a guide to correct capitalization and punctuation. Under the name of The Commercial Novelties Company, 178 Monroe Street, he sold the Vest Pocket Secretary, a small pencil, pen, ruler, compass, eraser, and paper knife.

He was active in Universalist churches, although he never joined. Nelson was a farmer in Nebraska before moving in the fall of 1891 to the Chehalis Valley of Washington. His sister Hattie and her husband Elmer Case moved with them by shipping their household goods and livestock in two freight cars in which the men rode; the women and children followed by passenger train, travelling from Overton, Nebraska, to the little town of Elma. They set up a dairy and cheesemaking business, which lasted only two years due to the lack of markets. In the spring of 1893 they built their first shingle mill on Cloquallam Creek. In 1898, having exhausted the supply of wood near the mill, they moved to nearby Wildcat Creek. In 1900 they built a mill at Sand Creek near McCleary, which they operated for about five years. Nelson sold his share in the mill to Elmer Case about 1904 and moved to Wenatchee, Washington, where he bought an apple orchard. Over the years, his various places of residence were Grand Island, N.Y., Florida, Mo., Harvard, Neb., Council Bluffs, Iowa, Holdrege, Neb., and Elma, Wenatchee, Raymond, Fairfax and Forks, Washington.

Elmer and Harriet moved in 1891 from a farm near Holdrege, Nebraska to the Chehalis Valley of Washington with her brother Nelson and his family. In 1900 the census listed them at Elma, Washington, with their seven surviving children. After the failure of their dairy and cheesemaking venture, they went into the shingle business with Nelson Huling. Elmer Case bought out his brother-in-law, about 1904 or 1905, but soon sold out, and about 1907 he built the Case No. 1 shingle mill in Raymond, which was soon followed by three more mills. 492. FRANCIS ALDEN[9] HULING, son of Alden Spooner Huling [349] and his first wife, Ianthe Marion Fenn, was born 10 April 1881 at Greenbush, N.Y., and died 22 November 1954, probably in California. He was known as Frank.

He married at Topeka, Kansas, 3 September 1900, CLARA MATTISON. In 1945 they were living in LaCanada, California, and in 1957 his widow lived with their daughter in Monrovia, California.

He was a member of the Twentieth Regiment of Volunteers, Kansas, 1898-1899, and served in the Phillipines under General Funston. He wrote the following letter, dated Christmas Day, 1898 at Manila:

Dear Father:

It kind of makes a fellow homesick not to get a letter but once a month, but I have to stand it. There is only one thing that the army has taught me, and that is to be contented with anything.

There are so many interesting things about this town that I could not begin to tell all. The town looks like it was built in the time when Christ was on earth. There are some of the most wonderful buildings here. They are all built of stone (the outside); the inside is one solid mass of mahogany and rosewood, ---something wonderful. There is a canal that runs through the new Manila, and the bridges that cross it are mahogany. There is an old Manila, or what the people call the walled city. It has a wall around it 25 feet thick, and I don't know how high, with a moat 15 feet deep.

We are not allowed to go beyond the city limits, because of being taken in by the insurgents. Our guard lines are only 150 yards apart. You would be surprised if I told you that Christmas eve I was working on the trenches between lines. The regiment has been called but two or three times, with 300 rounds of ammunition and rations, since we have been here. Spanish prisoners walk along the streets the same was we do. The natives salute a soldier, no matter what the rank is. The insurgents firing from trenches hold their guns above their heads, showing only three inches of their hands.

We have a beautiful place, a Spanish barracks in the center of the city; mahogany floor and doors. We were just forty-four days on the water. We left San Francisco on the 27th day of October, reached Manila the 1st day of December, and stayed on board until the eleventh.

If the Americans had this island they could have kept the world out. The bay has a narrow entrance, and the town is thirty miles from the mouth. After leaving San Francisco we sailed southwest all the way until we came in sight of land, then turned south and went along the coast around the end of the island, and then went straight north. The first troops that come here waded ashore between Manila and Cavite, where there is a forest. Dewey's fleet is at Cavite, and you can see the remainder of the Spanish fleet sticking out of the water, quite near the shore. I am going to get a piece of every one of them. I have seen Dewey's fleet, and hope to go onboard of everyone of them.

Money lasts us a long time. Our dollar is worth two of theirs. Tell Edwin if he wants some silk shirts I can get them for two dollars. I am going to bring four or five home. Ladies' silk handkerchiefs I can get seven or eight for a dollar. Diamonds are cheap, too, but gold is high. Watches are high here, and revolvers costing about twelve dollars there sell for thirty or forty here. I wish I could get a gun sent here. The other night I was on guard in an alley back of a customhouse, not over two feet wide; in such a place as that no one could use a gun with a long barrel. I couldn't see my hand in front of my face. Every one expects trouble here. There was an old blockhouse in the insurgents' hands that has been fixed up, and troops put in, and our colonel got orders to get it by force or otherwise, and he has not come back yet. We drill an hour a day; half an hour in the morning from half past five to six, and at night seven to half past. The bill of fare for Christmas dinner was boiled chicken, dumplings, soup, tea and pie. Kind of high, isn't it?

From your son,
Frank A. Huling

At the time of his parents' divorce, Alden S. Huling disclaimed having fathered Francis as well as his younger sister, but their mother told the grandmother of this compiler that he was Francis' father. She is buried beside her husband in the Cass Cemetery, Downers Grove Township, DuPage County, Illinois.

Grace was married to FRANK JASON LITTLEFORD at the home of her parents on Maple Avenue, Downers Grove, 12 August 1908. Jason was born on the old Joliet Road, Downers Grove Township, 29 December 1883, and died 29 July 1945 at his home in the village of Downers Grove. He was buried next to his parents in the Cass Cemetery near his birthplace. His father was Francis Augustine Littleford, whose father was born in Buckinghamshire, England, and mother in Monmouthshire, Wales. Jason's mother, Ida Deidamia (Havens) Littleford, was of pre-Revolutionary American ancestry, with seven-eighths from New England, including the families of Ashley, Austin, Bidwell, Blakeman, Borden, Brainerd, Callender, Aaron Cooke, Dewey, Gillette, Hale, Havens, Kellogg, Kingsbury, Leffingwell, Pitkin, Ranney, Sage, Spencer, and Terrill, and the other eighth of German descent, including the names Alsdorf, Bahr, Bellis, Remagen, and Rockefeller. Jason was a nurseryman.

Grace attended Lombard College for a year and summer schools at the University of Chicago and DeKalb Normal. Her first year of teaching was in a one-room school in the Tenney District, Downers Grove Township; the following two years were teaching second grade at the northside school in Downers Grove. She was the first president of the Arcadian Club, a social club interested in the fine arts, which was organized in 1902 and flourished for more than 70 years. In the 1920s she was on the board of the local Girl Scouts for several years and was interested in women's voting rights and helped elect the first woman to the Illinois State Legislature; she served in the 1930s on the county law enforcement committee and later was active in the Women's Temperance Union. She served ca. 1933 on the first jury upon which women served in the Circuit Court of DuPage County. interest in the A. B. Austin Nursery, which had belonged to his late great-uncle, Asahel B. Austin. In 1910 he bought the other half and changed the name to Littleford Nurseries. The property was located on Elm Street, between Chicago Avenue and Grant Street in Downers Grove. In 1917, by inheritance, trade, and purchase, he became the owner of 33 acres on the northwest corner of Highland Avenue and the Plank Road (now Ogden Avenue). in 1925 he subdivided this property and purchased 80 acres on Madison Street, south of Hinsdale, and leased more acreage. In 1935 he sold this operation and went into the wholesale nursery and cut-flower peony business near Vincennes, Indiana, the latter supplying markets from coast to coast.

Jason Littleford had a great civic consciousness, honesty, and integrity, and began his service to the community as a young man by serving on the Village Board of Downers Grove. Later he served as president of the PTA, member of the school boards, and on the county Board of Supervisors and Forest Preserve Board. His foresight resulted in buying larger tracts of land for the high school and Forest Preserve which were used for community activities and allowed for expansion. He was interested in the concept of neighborhood playgrounds for small children and gave three lots for such use. He was president of the Illinois Association of Nurserymen.

From their marriage until 1916 they lived at 149 Elm Street, Downers Grove. From 1917 to 1926 they lived on the nursery and in 1926 moved into a house at 4208 Highland Avenue in the new subdivision. Arms of William Hulyn or Hulin, Lord Mayor of London, 1459

Shield: Argent [silver], a chevron azure, a bordure engraved sable

Crest: A demi-lion couped or [gold], cap of maintenance azure

WILLIAM HULYN, LORD MAYOR OF LONDON

Sir William Hulyn, or Hulin, was High Sheriff of London in 1449 and Lord Mayor of London in 1459. He was a member of the Fishmongers' Guild, and was the son of Nicholas Hulyn of Fulham, a parish on the Thames just west of London and now a part of it.

Two centuries later, the name Hewling was again prominent in London, borne by Benjamin Hewling, "a Turkey merchant," a dealer in goods imported from Turkey, whose wife was daughter of William Kiffin, a London alderman. Two of his sons, Benjamin and William, were executed for joining with the (Duke of) Monmouth in his Protestant rebellion against the Catholic (King) James, and his daughter Hannah married Henry Cromwell, grandson of Oliver, the Protector.

There is, of course, a delightful possibility that we may sometime find proof that the Lord Mayor with his pretty crest and coat of arms is really ours. Meanwhile I read every English book on the antiquities of London with special zest.

OTHER EARLY HULINGS IN AMERICA

1: EARLY HULINGS IN NEW JERSEY AND PENNSYLVANIA

1. Markus Lorens alias Hulling or Halling may possibly have been related to Lars Markusson who came on the Swedish ship Charitas, which left Europe 19 August 1641 and arrived at Fort Christine 7 November 1641, to work as a servant on the tobacco plantations. (By Swedish tradition, the eldest son bears the father's name in reverse.)

An article in The Genealogical Magazine of New Jersey 13:27-29, by Lewis D. Cook of Princeton, N.J., identifies Markus Lorens alias Halling as from Holstein, Denmark.

Marcus Lawrence had 200 acres laid out for him on the Delaware River 4 April 1684 (Revel's Book of Surveys, NJA 21:356) He died in 1689 and left a non-cupative will made 4 May 1689, he being of Putschack, Gloucester County, N.J. The inventory taken 7 May showed a farm of 200 acres. On 1 June 1689 administration was granted to Samuel Spicer, Henry Wood, and John Taylor, the last of whom became the active administrator. An agreement between John Taylor, guardian of Marcus Hullings and Lawrence Hullings, at a rental of five shillings per year, was dated 30 March 1700. Lawrence Hullings on the same date gave a receipt to John Taylor, trustee appointed by his father Markas Hullings, deceased (Gloucester Co. Deeds 3:374). From this we learn that Marcus Lawrence and Markas Hullings were the same person, and father of the following two sons:

i. Lawrence Hulings. He signed his will dated 21 Aug. 1700 as "Lorens Hollins." He appears in New Jersey records as Lars Hulings, Haling, Hullings, and Lawrence Hullings. He was listed as "Lars Halling -1" in the 1693 census of Swedish families on the Delaware, and in a 1697 census of Wiccaco Church he and his wife were listed with a son, Lawrence. His wife was a daughter of Michael Laican of Gloucester County, whose will was dated 17 August 1703 (GMNJ 13:28). In his will dated 21 August 1700 and probated 1 May 1700/01 he named his wife Katherine sole heiress and executrix.

Children of Lawrence and Katherine:

1. Laurens; d. 1748. In his will he named his brother Michael and his son Abraham, executors, and children Laurens, Michael, Abraham, Israel (or Isaac), Joseph, Marcus, and Dinah.

2. Michael; m. Mary Robeson, b. ca. 1705. They had children: Peter, Mary, Sarah, Michael, Elenor, Samuel, and Peter again (Andrew Robeson, Robeson Genealogy, [1916], pp. 45, 46).

ii. Marcus Hulings, b. 1687, d. 2 April 1757; m. Marguerite Jones, daughter of Mountze and Ingeborg (——) Jones, who d. possibly 19 April 1747. His will names son Marcus, daughters Bridget and Maudlin, and sons John and Andrew. Wife Margaret and son John were executors. They lived at Nolatton (Douglasville), Berks County, Pa. In the Archivum Americanium — the record of the Swedish Church on the Delaware — he was listed in 1754 as a peasant; with him were his wife Margaretta, their son Anders, and their daughter (probably daughter-in-law) Catharine, all of whom understood, spoke and read Swedish. His wife understood English and the other three were able to read it.

Children of Marcus and Marguerite:

1. Andrew, b. 1712, m. Catherine, and had James b. ca. 1737.

2. Mouns, d. before his father; m. Elina and had John, 1743, and Mary or Margretta, 1747.

3. Marcus, d. 1788; m. 25 Jan. 1741, Rebecca Godfrey and had: Marcus, Mary, Samuel, James, and Thomas.

4. Bridget (or Brigitta), m. 25 Oct. 1735, William Bird, b. 1706, d. 1761; had son William.

5. Maudlin (Magdalena), b. 1717, d. 4 Dec. 1799; m. 1744, Mathias Holstein, 3rd, b. 2 Dec. 1717, d. 12 Dec. 1768, son of Mathias Holstein 2nd and Brita Rambo. They had six children.

6. John; m. (1) Ann ——, (2) Sarah Seeley, 23 June 1767. She was b. 6 July 1736. One child, Dinah, by first marriage; five children by second marriage.

2: EARLY NEW JERSEY HULINGS

Mr. Brian Frith, F.S.G., of Gloucester, England, has found, in Gloucestershire probates and in the Quakers Registers of Nailsworth Monthly Meeting, the following first two generations. Relevant information from Joseph Besse, A Collection of the Sufferings of the People called Quakers for the Testimony of a good Conscience, (1713), commonly known as "Besse's Sufferings," has been added.

1. ——— Hulings, probably of Gloucestershire, was the father of at least three sons, Jacob, Ely, and Walter. His wife may have been the Elizabeth Hewlings who was taken with other Friends from a Meeting at Cirencester, 6 November 1662, by soldiers. She may have been the "ancient Widow, named Hewlings," who on the 10th of July 1670 with other Friends was thrown down stairs, "by the Violence of the Fall was lamentably bruised, and had her Shoulder dislocated, of which she soon after died. She was a useful Woman in the Neighbourhood, a skilful Midwife, and ready to do Good to all. The Coroner was sent for, a Jury called, and Jenkins apprehended: But the Justice having an Influence over the Jury, who were most of them his Tenants, and the Coroner willing to favour the Persecutors, smothered the Blood of the Innocent: And the Jury, notwithstanding the clearest Evidence of Eye Witnesses, and the Sight of the bruised Body, grievous to behold, gave their Verdict, that she died of God's Visitation" (Besse 1:216-217).

Children:

i. Jacob. He was one of those signing a report about violence towards Friends at a meeting 13 Jan. 1660, at which they were assaulted by an attorney of Cirencester and a constable. Quakers were fined for being absent from public worship, and Jacob Hewlings was so fined 16 may 1675 "for the like pretended offence." In 1685 corn, hay, and goods were taken from Friends, including Jacob Hewlings, for refusing to pay tithes (Besse, 1:211, 218, 226).

Jacob Hewlings of Harnhill, Glos., in his will of 8 July 1702, proved at Gloucester 12 Oct. 1702, named Ely Huling, "son of my brother Ely Hulings," Ely Hulings, woolcomber of the city of Norwich, "Abraham Hulings, son of my brother Walter," William Hulings, and his kinsman, Isaac Huling, the latter to be executor.

ii. Ely, of Cirencester, who was buried at Siddenton, 26th of the 4th month 1668, and had married Ann Pesty, of Cirencester, the 16th of the 12th month 1664. She married, second, the 18th of the 4th month 1674, John Stephens. They had a child, surname Hulings: Ely, b. 11th of the 4th month 1668, who in 1702 was called in his uncle's will a woolcomber of Norwich.

2. iii. Walter.

2. Walter Hewlings, of Cirencester, was buried there the 26th of the 5th month, 1677. His first wife, Judith, was buried at Siddenton the 6th of the 6th month, 1661. He had a second wife named Rosamond, who was buried at Cirencester 9th of 2nd month 1684.

In Besse's Sufferings, it is related that Walter Hewlings, with others, was taken from the Friends Meeting at Cirencester 6 Nov. 1662 and carried to prison charged "with being at a mute meeting" (ibid., 1:215).

Children, surname HEWLINGS (by first wife, Judith):

3. i. William, b. 24th of 4th month 1657.

4. ii. Abraham, b. 1st of 11th month 1660.

(by second wife, Rosamond):

iii. Isaac, b. 6th of 8th month 1666; m. Hannah —— and had: Jacob, b. 18th of 8th month 1707.

iv. Jacob, b. 18th of 3rd month 1668; buried 28th of 12th month 1668 at Siddenton.

v. Sarah, b. 30th of 2d month 1670.

3. William Hewlings, b. 24th, 4th month 1657, in Gloucestershire, England, died in New Jersey in 1713, between 5 June and 9 July. His first wife was Dorothy Eves, born the 1st day of the 9th month 1661, daughter of John and Dorothy Eves of Flower, Northamptonshire (Walter Lee Sheppard, Jr., F.A.S.G., in NEHGR 111 [1957]: 273-4). William was second married, 23 July 1695, at the house of Thomas Kendall of Burlington, N.J., to Mary (Stokes) Lovett, widow of Samuel Lovett (Stillwell, Historical and Genealogical Miscellany 2:42; John P. Dorman).

William and Abraham came in 1678 on a ship from London to West Jersey, [Burlington County], where (Proud, 1:150) they became members of the Burlington Monthly Meeting of Friends. It is said that they may have come on the ship Kent, settling first in Marcus Hook (Mrs. Paul W. Mannen).

William Hulines of Cirencester, Co. of Gloucester, woolcomber, on 30 July 1678 purchased from William Kent of Bishoppsgate Street, London, cheesemonger, 1/4 of 1/8 share of the Province [of West Jersey]. He deeded 1/2 of 1/32 share of this to Abraham Hewlings of Rancokus Creek, yeoman, 31 July 1686 (West Jersey Records, Liber B, NJA 21:408, 442). On 26 July 1682 William Hulin bought 76 acres on the Delaware River, adjoining his own land and that of Wm. Biddle. He later sold this to Anna Salter (Revel's Book of Surveys, NJA 21:353). In March 1684, 120 acres were laid out for him along the river, and that December 240 more, at the Vale of Easham (ibid., 359,361). In November 1688 he purchased 465 acres on Pennsawkin Creek (ibid., 371).

William Heulings of Evesham Township, Burlington County, made his will 5 June 1713, and it was probated 8 August the same year. He named his wife Mary and children Jacob, Dorothy, wife of Daniel Jones, Elizabeth, Hannah, wife of Felix Leeds, and Mary; grandchildren Sarah, William, and Daniel Jones . The inventory was taken 9 July 1713, and an account of 1720 showed payments to Mary Lee, Felix Leeds, Daniel Jones and his three children, his mother-in-law Mary Hullings, sister Mary Heulings, and others ((NJA 23:225, 252).

Children, surname HEWLINGS or HEULINGS:

i. Jacob.

ii. Dorothy; m. Daniel Jones and had: Sarah, William and Daniel.

iii. Hannah; m. Felix Leeds.

iv. Mary.

4. Abraham Heulings, born 1st of 11th month, 1660, in Gloucestershire, England, died in New Jersey between 18 June 1722 and 5 June 1725. Abraham was given permission on 7, 4th month 1680 to marry Hester English (Dorman). His second wife was Diana Griffith, who married, second, —— Heed, before 13 December 1739, when her daughter Abigail Heulings was given license to marry Rich'd Johnson of Bucks County [Pa.] (GMNJ 18:94).

He was called yeoman on 31 July 1686 when his brother William deeded to him 1/2 of 1/32 share in West Jersey previously purchased of William Kent of London, cheesemonger (West Jersey Deeds, Liber B, NJA 23:442). On 19 June 1688 Abraham bought 1/32 share, less 150 acres reserved by the grantor, from Benjamin Scott of Burlington (ibid.). In 1698 he purchased a "plantation of 356 acres at Oneanickon alias Carmell, Springfield Township" (ibid., 510).

Abraham Heulings, of Willingborough Township, Burlington County, yeoman, made his will 18 June 1722 and it was probated 21 September 1725. The inventory was taken 5 June 1725. He named his wife Diana and children Joseph, Jacob, William, Mary Reefs, Elizabeth Brian, Rebecca, Hanna, and Sarah (NJA 23:225). He evidently had also a son Abraham and the daughter Abigail who m. Richard Johnson in 1739.

Margaret (Hulings) Bliss, wife of Thomas Bliss of Hartford, Connecticut, was born about 1595, daughter of John Hulings and his wife Margaret, of the parish of Rodborough, Gloucestershire, England. Margaret's ancestry was discovered by Mrs. Myrtle Stevens Hyde; for more information see The American Genealogist 52 [1976]:195-197.

5: EARLY NEW YORK HULINGS

Ffrancis Hulin m. Susanna Nicholas, 12 June 1696 (Marriage Licenses of New York City, NYGBR 3:93). This was evidently a second marriage, for Francis had an earlier wife Susanna, living 4 September 1682 when he made his will which was proved 16 September 1702. "I Francis Hulling of New York, being sick in body ... leave to the Poor people of the French Congregation in the city of New York, the sum of £10 to be paid to the Elders. I leave all the rest of my estate to my wife Susanna Hullin & make her executor." The inventory of the estate, taken at his home in New York 9 November 1702 by Susanna Hullin, widow, totalled £188, and included £64 in money, one dozen silver spoons, one dozen salad forks, and one old billiard table. Funeral charges amounted to £3-5-0 (Abstracts of Wills of New York, 1665-1707, New York Historical Society Collections, vol. 25, pp. 337, 320).

6: EARLY HULINGS IN NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA

1716-1717: Elias Hulien was one of the petitioners to the Crown against the Proprietors (South Carolina Historical Magazine, 62 [1961], p. 92).

1784: William Hulin received two grants: one of 500 acres on Hunting Creek and later one of 150 acres on Pipe Creek Branch. In 1795, 116 of the 500 on Hunting Creek were sold by John Hulin to Ambrose Hulin, who sold it in 1803. In 1796 John sold the property on Pipe Creek Branch (Wilkes Co.)

NOTES ON THE INDEX

All persons in this book who are descendants of James and Margaret Huling have been included in the Index. While some genealogists believe that it is not necessary to index children who died young, it is the feeling of both this compiler and the editor that it would be a serious omission not to include them.

For the sake of compactness, an attempt has been made to "interpret" some names. For instance, when the name of a man known to be Christopher Columbus Huling appears in the text as Christopher C. Huling, he has been indexed each time under his full name. This is true also of archaic or unusual spellings; for instance, "Prude" Case is indexed as Prudence. In cases where it is not clear that two such references belong to the same person, both have been indexed.

All married women are indexed both by married name and maiden name, if known.

The term "(Elder)" following a name indicates that the man concerned is in the text as an elder who performed a marriage ceremony. In most cases where "Rev." follows a name, it denotes the same situation. These titles have been omitted when the name is that of a Huling descendant or spouse.

Names of authors have been included, because the ability to quickly locate a source used in the text often helps the reader to pinpoint a particular locality. The names of individuals who contributed material have not, however, been indexed each time they occur. These people are identified in the Acknowledgements, and we believe that repeated mentions of them as references would make it difficult to locate the correct pages for them in genealogical context.
